POLITICAL-CRIME HOOKUP IS CHIEF BAY STATE ISSUE

Boss Curley Trying Comeback Again.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The hookup between the underworld and officialdom—known locally as "Curleyism"—dwarfs all other issues in the Bay state compaign. The veteran political boss, James Michael Curley, is running for governor with the backing and blessing of the Roosevelt administration.

Curley, former Boston mayor and ex-governor, is attempting a comeback. The voters, revolting at his unsavory record, repudiated him in 1936, when young Henry Cabot Lodge beat him for the senate despite the Roosevelt landslide. They did so again last fall when Maurice Tobin whipped him in the mayoralty race.

Primary Victory a Surprise.

Then in the gubernatorial primary several weeks ago Curley gained the nomination by a surprising victory over the incumbent Democratic governor, Charles F. Hurley. Curley, who has handled multitudinous favors, contracts, pardons, and appointments during his two score years in public life, enjoys a tremendous personal following, especially here in the city of the bean and the cod.

Coolness between Curley and the Roosevelt forces appears to have been completely dispelled by the mutual objective of vote getting.

National Democratic Chairman James A. Farley sent Curley a laudatory telegram and promised to be on hand for the $100 a plate Democratic feast here Oct. 23. James Roosevelt, the President's son and secretary, also sent a congratulatory message. Son Jimmy, who keeps his residence in Massachusetts and has political aspirations, has always been a crony of Curley.

Democratic Leaders Absent.

There were many eloquent vacant seats at the Democratic state "victory" convention which followed the primary, however. Among the conspicuous absentees were Gov. Hurley, Senator David I. Walsh, Lieut. Gov. Francis Kelly, Mayor Tobin, and former Gov. Joseph B. Ely. The Democratic leaders had little stomach for the party's standard bearer in the November election.

The Republican nominee for governor is the antithesis of Curley. He is Leverett Saltonstall, descendant of the early founders of the Massachusetts Bay colony, world war veteran, and speaker of the state house of representatives from 1929 to 1936.

Saltonstall is an unromantic public speaker. Curley is a whiz. As a microphone necromancer, Curley is without an equal with the one exception of President Roosevelt. Nevertheless, the Republicans recall that the illustrious Massachusetts governor and President, Calvin Coolidge, was a man of few words.

Centers on Curley's Record.

The Saltonstall campaign is centering fire on Curley's record and the misrule of his associates in office.

Only one conviction stands against Curley and that was early in his career. Thirty years ago he took a letter carrier's civil service examination under the name of a friend who was too dumb to pass it. This was a federal offense. Apprehended, Curley served a two months' sentence in the Suffolk county house of correction.

Curley reputedly is worth between five and ten million dollars, although his only visible income source has been salary in public offices.

The most graphic evidence of the underworld hookup of the Curley machine was the use of executive clemency for criminals.

Lavish with Paroles.

During 1935 and 1936, when Curley was governor, he distributed pardons and paroles with a lavish hand. Within one month in his first year at the state house, Curley opened the prison gates to seven murderers who were serving life sentences, to five who were serving up to twenty years for manslaughter, and to five gunmen serving long terms for armed robbery. Not one of them had completed half of the minimum sentence imposed by the courts.

In one instance a lifer was pardoned in order that he might be deported. In two cases, one involving larceny and the other arson, full and complete pardons were granted to avoid deportation.

On the same day that seven of the

WPA OPERATES LIKE A RACKET, WHEELER SAYS

Insists Farmers in West Revolt.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Senator B. K. Wheeler.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Back in the capital after four months spent observing conditions in the west, Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Montana Democrat, today voiced a prophecy of woe for the Roosevelt administration.

The man who has come to be known as President Roosevelt's nemesis intimated that a scandal of large proportions was looming on the political horizon. In blunt, pithy phrases he denounced the Works Progress administration as "little less than a racketeering organization in some places."

Other government departments are playing politics of the type that was popular in the days of Harding and Daugherty, Wheeler declared. Worsted at the polls in its attempt to drive out of the Democratic party all but 100 per cent New Dealers, the administration is carrying on the purge against government jobholders sponsored by or friendly to congressmen who dared oppose the President on any of his proposals, Wheeler declared.

Farm Policies Assailed.

The farmers of the west are in revolt as a result of the complete breakdown of the administration's farm policies, Wheeler added.

In his home state the farmers are disgusted at the conflicting advice of agriculture department experts, Wheeler asserted.

They had been led to believe that the most recent farm bill would be a panacea for all their ills, he remarked, and the failure of the act has aroused intense resentment in them.

These opinions had heightened significance because they came from a liberal Democrat of the type dear to the heart of the President in the first years of his administration. Wheeler couldn't stomach the Supreme court packing bill and subsequent measures as the President swung more to the leftward. He fought with great effect against such proposals and now is perhaps the most bitterly hated of the group of independent Democrats singled out by the White House for slaughter.

Says Politicians Use WPA.

"The WPA has become little less than a racketeering organization and is used to promote the candidacies of those favored by the administration," Wheeler said. "Its officers, dominated by Washington, appoint politicians and white-collar men who will help play party politics rather than look after the needy. These men are forced to line up for the candidates of those who appoint them.

"The administration is continuing its purge against men who differed with the President on the Supreme court and other questions. For instance, if an acquaintance of mine is found anywhere on the pay rolls, he is immediately cut off. This is true whether he is an employé in the department of justice, the interior department, or the agriculture department and goes as low as the WPA job.

"Such tactics as these in the end hurt only those who are doing them. It is regrettable that the tactics of Harding and Daugherty should be followed by a liberal government. The tendency is to cause the electorate to lose faith in the promises and the policies of the New Deal.

Punishment for Independents.

"All over the country, the administration is punishing senators and members of the house who are independent. Scores of my friends have been dismissed. As a result, they are now strongly for me and most active politically. Jerry O'Connell, who says he is favored by the President to succeed me, has been going around the state proudly boasting that no one friendly to Wheeler can get a government job or stay on one."

O'Connell is the Montana congressman noted for his radical views who has been anointed by the Corcoran-

Gent on Relief Tells Sadly of a Torn Sleeve

Otto Freitag, 58 years old, and his wife, Adelia, 31, have been receiving a $28.95 relief check every month for the last two years. They live in a one room apartment at 1338 Madison street.

Last Saturday afternoon Freitag suffered an epileptic seizure at Madison street and Racine avenue. A crowd gathered around him as he lay on the pavement. Policemen Reginald Smith and Charles Mousle of the Desplaines street station arrived shortly in the station wagon.

They took Freitag to the vestibule of his home and left him there as he had regained consciousness. On the way up to his third floor apartment Freitag apparently had another seizure. When he recovered he was lying on the floor of his room.

Coat Lining Torn.

Hastily he felt in the lining of his left coat sleeve below the armpit. Only the lining was there and it was torn. For several days Freitag conducted a frantic search of his room and on the streets near his home.

Yesterday he went to the Desplaines street police station. First he identified himself by his relief credentials and then told his story:

"For six years I've carried $11,100 in currency in a tobacco sack sewed into the lining of my sleeve," he said. "I don't trust banks since the bank holiday and I didn't want to put my money into government bonds. I don't believe in them. After I recovered Saturday afternoon, I discovered my money was gone."

Most of It Gold Notes.

The currency was in the following denominations: Six $1,000 gold notes, seven $500 gold notes, fifteen $100 bills, of which nine were gold certificates, and two $50 gold notes. Freitag said the money represented his life's savings. He had been employed by the Chicago Cardboard company, 666 West Washington boulevard, until 1932.

All gold certificates were called in by the government in 1933. Although Freitag, by his own statement, has violated the federal hoarding law and has accepted relief while able to support himself and his wife, police said they would not arrest him unless ordered to do so by federal or relief authorities.

EATS HAMBURGERS, 22, ICE CREAM (2 QUARTS) FOR A HURRIED SNACK

Louis Stein, 50 years old, sat down last night at a table in the Napoli restaurant, 1056 Lawrence avenue, and ordered a hamburger—a large one.

He ate it and ordered another, then another. A crowd gathered as Louis chewed past the dozen mark; there were cheers as he gulped down No. 20. After the 22d, Stein stopped.

"Now for dessert," he said. "Bring me a couple of quart bricks of ice cream." They went the way of the hamburgers.

Stein's fea[s]t took 25 minutes. Sam Roth of 1020 Lawrence avenue had bet him $40 he couldn't do it in two hours. Sam paid up, and Louis, who weighed 150 pounds before the test, started for his home at 3433 Roosevelt road.

"I hope there's something good in the icebox," he said, as he waddled away.

Luther's Throwing Inkwell at Satan Blamed on Nerves

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 13.—(AP)—A cure for severe dizziness of a type that caused Martin Luther to hurl an inkwell at the devil was described today by Dr. Walter E. Dandy, eminent Baltimore nerve specialist.

The Johns Hopkins hospital brain surgeon told the United States chapter of the International College of Surgeons of an operation for relief of Meniere's disease, an affliction producing such violent dizziness that sufferers occasionally lose their balance and break an arm or leg.

"Luther had it," Dr. Dandy said.

The Great I Am Runs Afoul of a Cynical Mystic

Guy W. Ballard, high priest of the "Great I Am" movement, stood last evening in the lobby of the Civic Opera house signing autographs for his followers in the mystic philosophy. He was a conspicuous figure, a tall, sharp featured, white haired man, garbed in a white business suit.

Through the crowd came one Anton Cichowicz. Mr. Cichowicz is chief bailif of the civil branch of the sherif's office and he hadn't come to hear any speech. Rather he was prepared to make one. He took Ballard's arm and tried to draw him away from the disciples.

His Followers Intervene.

Ballard's followers intervened, tried to push the bailif from the lobby. Cichowicz persisted. Then he read a summons. It notified Ballard that he was defendant in a suit for $10,906 filed in behalf of Miss Mary Ingham of 8029 Kilbourne avenue, Niles Center. The summons mentioned that from 1924 to 1926 Miss Ingham and Ballard had been drawn together by their mutual interest in "mysticism and the occult arts and sciences."

Cichowicz finished his reading and told Ballard he had been served. One of Ballards' secretaries accepted the summons. Ballard then entered the hall and addressed a crowd of 2,500.

The burden of his teaching is that a mystical "ray of light" gives the right direction to the individual life. There is also a doctrin somewhat similar to reincarnation embodied in the philosophy. Ballard tells of having met St. Germain, an "ascended being." St. Germain has lived many lives, last having taken residence on earth in the person of Francis Bacon.

Refers to His Enemies.

In his speech last night, Ballard referred to his experience in the lobby with the statement that many persons sought to intimidate him. There was no admission charge to the meeting but boxes for voluntary offerings were available.

Miss Ingham's suit was filed yesterday in the Superior court. In it she alleged that from 1924 to 1926 she gave Ballard $6,755 for his private business ventures. The money was never returned and with interest the sum due is now $10,906, according to the bill. Miss Ingham's attorneys said she gave the money to Ballard and one Herbert N. Parkhurst for a gold mine venture at Inyo City, Cal.

Assistant State's Attorney C. Vernon Thompson said that Ballard and Parkhurst were indicted twice in 1929 on complaints of two other women who said they lost a total of $4,500 in a gold mine scheme. The indictments were nol prossed last July.

Admits Killing Girl Student in Rape Attempt

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 14 [Friday].—[Special.]—The brutal sex murder of Alice May Girton, 18 years old, pretty brunette student, was solved with amazing suddenness early today.

At 12:30 a. m. police led by Detective Captain John Taylor went to the rooming house where the girl's nude body was found early yesterday and routed Adrian H. Miller from his bed not far from the victim's room. At 1 a. m., in police headquarters, Miller was blurting out his confession.

"I must have killed her, but I don't know why," he said.

Clears Girl's Escort of Crime.

In the next breath, however, he admitted his motive was rape. By his confession Miller cleared Howard Zimmerman, 18, a hitch-hiker from Riga, Mich., who had been held as the principal suspect.

Miller, 31, a bald, sickly looking man wearing rimmed spectacles, fainted after telling his story. From the brief account he was able to give of his history, police described him as something of a "world roustabout." He has worked on the west coast, in Wisconsin, and in South America. He has been in Fort Wayne since June and recently has been a student at the Indiana Technical college here.

Once Psychopathic.

Police said he once was incarcerated in a psychopathic hospital in San Diego, Cal., for threatening a man, and that he also served a federal sentence for violation of the Mann act in San Diego. He was arrested as a casual in San Francisco and a vagrant in Mobile, Ala. In Philadelphia he was seized following a suicide attempt. In the same city he shot a Negro who had slashed him.

Miller confessed nervously and with but a minimum of prompting from police. He knew Miss Girton only casually, he said, and he knew that young Zimmerman was visiting her early yesterday. Miller was in his room near by, smoking, he said. He waited for Zimmerman to leave.

"After he left I went to her room," he told Capt. Taylor. "I first knocked on the door, then walked in. She had a robe on her shoulders. She said something about it being too late. I sat on the edge of her bed and put a pillow over her head. She struggled out and I put the pillow back on. I think she fainted then. I tried to attack her. Then I don't remember what happened."

Escort Tells His Story.

Miss Girton's body was found at 8:30 a. m. yesterday by her landlady, Mrs. Lillian Kelly. The girl's body was on the floor nude. The room was in great disarray, indicating the girl had fought her assailant. She had been strangled. Zimmerman, who has been in Fort Wayne only a week, was promptly seized as the principal suspect. He admitted having been with Miss Girton until early morning.

While Zimmerman appeared on the surface to be the chief suspect, Miller actually was being shadowed and investigated. He had impressed Capt. Taylor as knowing a little too much about the case without being involved. Thus Capt. Taylor decided on a bold

EUROPE FIGHTS REVOLTS; 18 DIE IN POLISH RIOTS

Thousands Jailed by Bulgarian Army.

Seething Europe

1 In Vienna Joseph Buerckel, Hitler's commissioner for Austria, made a vicious verbal attack on Cardinal Innitzer, the Roman Catholic church, the Czechs, and the Jews, and announced new measures of repression.

2 In Poland eighteen were killed and hundreds wounded in battles between Poles and Ukrainians when the latter protested against taking Ruthenia from Czechoslovakia. Martial law was proclaimed in Polish Galicia.

3 Hungary appealed to the big four powers of Europe to deal with the new war crisis resulting from Czechoslovakia's refusal to meet Hungary's territorial demands. The Czech-Hungarian negotiations were discontinued and troops of both nations were massed along the border.

4 Bulgarian troops and police arrested thousands of persons in Sofia, the capital, in a house to house search for alleged plotters against the government.

5 Discontent mounted in Russia, suffering from a growing food shortage. Travelers from Moscow reported that workers there were discussing openly an uprising which they said will begin if Russia becomes involved in war and arms the people.

VIENNA, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Joseph Buerckel, Nazi commissioner for Austria, tonight announced three measures against the Austrian Catholic hierarchy as a result of what he said were "church attacks against the National Socialist party and Adolf Hitler."

One of these was to turn a deaf ear to Catholic proposals for the release of Kurt Schuschnigg, deposed chancellor of Austria. Schuschnigg is in custody in the Hotel Metropole, headquarters of the GSP—German secret police. He has been in detention since March 13, when the Germans annexed Austria.

Discussed Schuschnigg's Case.

"Clerical politicians who proposed the release of Schuschnigg can now submit this proposal to Innitzer," Buerckel shouted in Heroes' square. One hundred thousand Nazis and other spectators had gathered there for a mass demonstration against Cardinal Theodore Innitzer specifically, and "political clergy" in general. Cardinal Innitzer is Roman Catholic archbishop of Vienna.

Buerckel said the matter of Schuschnigg's detention had been discussed Oct. 2, but "these discussions had to be broken off."

The other two measures the commissioner announced were:

FIRST—"We have decided definitly not to permit any more preparatory schools for the priesthood." These schools already had been forbidden, but negotiations were under way for a compromise. It was announced on Sept. 1 that all religious and other private schools of Austria would be closed and that the Nazi party would take over the education of youth.

SECOND—"The amnesty for 'religious politicians' which we had planned in connection with the Sudetenland victory must be postponed."

Blames Jews for Riot.

Thousands howled or cheered intermittently during the commissioner's speech. Speaking with full authority of Reichsfuehrer Hitler, he blamed "Czechs and Jews" for the St. Stephen's square demonstration in favor of Cardinal Innitzer last Friday night. It was that demonstration which touched off Nazi mob violence the following night in which windows of the archiepiscopal palace were shattered with stones. The cardinal, at prayer in his private chapel, suffered a forehead wound.

Buerckel said the National Socialist [Nazi] party had no responsibility for starting the disorder, and that responsible persons would be punished.

Makes Attack on Innitzer.

"It is self-understood that the National Socialist state condemns this, and will call those responsible to account," he said.

Buerckel, in his speech, accused a part of the Catholic clergy of seeking to "instigate people against the state." Much of the speech was a direct attack on Cardinal Innitzer.

Each mention of the cardinal's name was met with shouts of "Pfui, pfui!" [the German equivalent of "boo"]. Buerckel read letters which he said the cardinal had written to Jews—one signed "Your Innitzer" and another, addressed to a rabbi, beginning "Herr Colleague." The throng shouted, "Innitzer, the Jews' friend!"

Buerckel asserted that Cardinal Innitzer was attempting to make Austria choose between "Christ and Adolf Hitler."

Says Church, Nazis Could Coöperate.

"Hitler or Christ is not the question," he shouted. "Hitler never took a position against Christ.

"It does not concern us whether one goes into the Protestant or Catholic church. What does concern us is that our Lord has given us the Fuehrer.

"We [the church and the Nazi party] could work together if you [the church] wanted it, but you do not. Gentlemen, do what you like, but you confound too often the Lord with the devil."

Buerckel then referred to the former régimes in Austria. He said that "the highest clergy, among them Cardinal Innitzer, favored the Dollfuss and Schuschnigg régimes, and demanded from the lower clergy obedience for Dollfuss and Schuschnigg.

[Former Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss of Austria was assassinated in an attempted Nazi putsch July 24, 1934.]

Claims Marriage for State.

"The speeches of these gentlemen [the high clergy] have not been forgotten. The blood guilt which has fallen upon Dollfuss and Schuschnigg rests equally heavily upon you [the high clergy]."

Regarding future relations between the Nazi party and the church, Buerckel laid down these rules:

FIRST—"Religious matters are the affair of each individual. What one believes or does not believe does not concern others. Terror in religious matters is always a sign of stupidity."

SECOND—"If they pray against us in church, then I demand of every individual National Socialist that we have nothing more to do with such a church. [At this point the crowd shouted: "We will leave the church."] I have no intention to attack our Lord. Either the church is a house of prayer, or we have nothing to gain in it."

THIRD—"Marriage and schools belong exclusively to the state. They are guarantees for our nation."

FOURTH—"The public streets belong to the state. Nobody is permitted to demonstrate on them except ourselves. In the future we shall answer every attempt to demonstrate in the streets in a way which those who do it deserve. Politics is our exclusive right. Their's [the clergy's] is exclusively religion.

"We shall not tolerate that agitators attempt to pray Christian Austria away from the German reich. Austria is a part of Germany and not even the devil could take it away."

Three new incidents of disorder were reported before the massmeeting. Windows of two convents—one of the Sisters of the Holy Heart and the other of the Oblatinen Sisters—were stoned, and a priest was knocked down in the street.

SOFIA JAILS THOUSANDS

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Troops and police enforced a strict blockade on the Bulgarian capital tonight while wholesale raids netted thousands of persons suspected of plotting to overthrow the government of King Boris III.

Government quarters declared a "very widely organized conspiracy had been uncovered and that an uprising would have occurred if King Boris had not ordered such drastic measures."

Seizure of large stores of arms was reported by the Bulgarian chief of staf. Many of those taken into custody were released later, but it was expected there would be a mass trial soon for those implicated in the plot.

Assassination First Step.

All street trafic was suspended and no one was allowed to leave his home all day during the police drive. Telephone communication with other countries was suspended for sixteen hours.

Authorities believed that the assassination Monday of Maj. Gen. Yordan Peyeff, chief of the Bulgarian army's general staf, was the signal for the revolution to start.

One source said the plot was engineered by Macedonians hostile to Bulgarian-Jugo-Slav friendship and fighting for an independent Macedonia.

The death yesterday of Stoil Kiroff, Peyeff's assassin, was announced belatedly tonight. It was reported Kiroff, who shot himself after killing Peyeff, confessed that he used pistols supplied by the revolutionary organization IMRO and that he had been instructed to shoot the king, the premier, or some one at the war ministry.

Group of Officers Seized.

A reliable source said the assassination was a protest against restriction of IMRO members in refusing to allow them to revive activities aimed at establishment of an independent Macedonia under Bulgarian sovereignty as proposed by Macedonians after the Munich conference.

Among those arrested were Col. Tancheff, former Bulgarian military attaché in Paris, and Maj. Nekarksky. A group of officers, who were arrested two years ago for alleged connections with a plot against the king, were re-arrested.

The editor of the newspaper Nova Compana and two directors of the same organ, known for its sympathies with France and Jugo-Slavia, also were taken into custody.

Among those rounded up were many members of the Zvenari party led by former Premier Kimon Georgieff and two Left Agrarian party deputies, Dmitri Madzankieff and Nikolai Petkoff.

Though a clear picture of the alleged plot could not be obtained it was reported the government believed Republicans and Macedonians had planned to strike at the Bulgarian army after Peyeff's slaying.

Turmoil Spreads in Eastern Europe

Grave developments were reported in eastern Europe yesterday. At Lwow (1) Polish police fired on Ukrainians. Martial law was placed over Polish Galicia. At Vienna (2) Nazis opened war on Catholic clergymen for attacking Hitler. Hungarian and Czechoslovak troops were massed along the border (3) after conference on Hungarian territorial demands broke up. Thousands of Bulgarians were jailed at Sofia (4) in alleged plot to overthrow the government. Moscow (5) faced revolt among soviet workers because of growing food shortage. Shaded portion shows former Czechoslovak territory now occupied by Germany.

Many Boys and Girls Pick Mates at Marriage Fair

MEAUX, France, Oct. 13.—The annual marriage fair in this village near Paris was unusually successful this year, judging by the number of young people being wed. Each year the boys and girls of marriageable age in the village attend the fair to pick their mates in the presence of the townsfolk.

JEWS' PATH BLOCKED BY CZECHS AND NAZIS AT SUDETEN BORDER

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Hundreds of Jews in Czechoslovakia found themselves without a country tonight. They were unable to remain in Bohemia, which told them to return to Sudetenland, now part of Germany, and they in turn found the doors closed to them in those German areas.

Prague authorities remained firm in their attitude toward fugitives, among whom they said were many undesirables who brought the danger of forming a new minority problem. There were some exceptional cases, those proving positively that it would be dangerous to return to their homes in German areas being permitted to remain.

The attitude in Prague was that Jews faced no special danger in Germany. One trainload of fugitives was started from the capital with a German crew and was not scheduled to make a halt before reaching German territory.

GREEK ISLANDS SEEK TO THROW OFF ITALIAN YOKE

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 13.—It is reliably learned that urgent petitions have been made to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of England and Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy on behalf of the Dodecanese Islands, which though entirely Greek, are under Italian sovereignty. The petitioners describe "their yoke is intolerable."

The islands were acquired by Italy after the war with Turkey in 1912. The Dodecanesian league authorized the petition. It is learned it was suppressed in Athens, the government fearing embarrassment with Italy.

The Dodecanesian Greeks have been heartened by the grant of self-determination to the Sudeten Germans. They point out that all their customs are repressed and the Orthodox religion discouraged. In recent months teaching of the Greek language in the schools has been forbidden.

HUNGARY URGES BIG 4 TO ACT IN NEW WAR CRISIS

Parley with Czechs Breaks Up; Troops Gather.

KOMAROM, Hungary [On the Czechoslovak border], Oct. 13.—(AP)—Hungary called upon the signatories of the four-power Munich accord tonight to meet again immediately to settle her balked territorial demands against Czechoslovakia.

The appeal went out to the government heads of Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy at the close of a day of mounting tension in this border area, marked by the break up of negotiations between Hungary and Czechoslovakia.

Premier Bela Imredi's press chief stressed that a quick reply was desired from the four major western powers, who agreed at Munich on Sept. 30 to meet again within three months to settle Hungary's claims if they were not disposed of in the meantime.

Hungary Makes a Threat.

Persecution of Hungarians in Czechoslovakia became serious today, this official said. He added that a further change for the worse in the situation might force Hungary to act forthwith.

A favorable reply from the four powers, whose Munich accord for the partition of Cechoslovakia dispelled Europe's war crisis, would delay Hungary's planned mobilization, he added.

Although Germany's attitude was unknown when Hungary broke off the negotiations with a Slovak delegation representing the Prague government, it was reported she had the support of Premier Mussolini of Italy.

Troops of the two nations already are separated only by a narrow strip on the frontier, and Czechoslovakia rushed additional reinforcements tonight to the international bridge across the Danube river.

Cheer Hungarian Delegates.

The move was taken as a precaution against any attempt to take the Czechoslovak half of this town which straddles the Danube. This hurried action was accompanied by loud demonstrations by thousands of persons on the Czech side in a predominantly Hungarian district, demanding immediate cession to Hungary.

Crowds of men, women, and children cheered the automobiles bearing the Hungarian negotiators. Czechoslovak troops with bayonets blocked passage of marching demonstrators who came within a block of the meeting where the negotiations were going on.

[In Budapest an angry and unruly crowd demonstrated against Czechoslovakia in the capital's Liberty square upon receipt of news that the Komarom conference had broken down.]

On the Hungarian side of the Danube there also was increased military activity. An estimated 12,000 soldiers already were in the area ready for action.

Move Up Artillery.

The Czechoslovaks moved artillery pieces into positions at the entrance of the international bridge. Barbed wire entanglements were set up and troops with bayonets barred passage to travelers.

The troop movements started shortly after Koloman von Kanya, Hungary's foreign minister, read the declaration to the final session of the Hungarian-Czechoslovak conference that Hungary's claims would be given to the four power conferees for decision.

His action came an hour after expiration of a Hungarian ultimatum calling on Czechoslovakia to accept his country's demands by 6 p. m.

"I must point out," the statement said, "that Czechoslovak counterproposals concerning a new frontier which were given us this morning are so different from our conception, and that a basis for a new settlement presented by the two delegations is separated by such an abyss, that according to our convictions it is impossible to bridge it over by the present negotiations."

Dr. Joseph Tiso, minister for Slovakia in the Prague government and a member of the negotiation commission, said: "It is not our fault that Hungary has broken off negotiations. We went to the limit of our concessions, severely endangering our national independence."

Just before the final conference came to an end, Dr. Ferdinand Durciansky, a Slovak minister, said Czechoslovakia intended to offer Hungary territory covering 2,152 square miles with a population of 378,000, compared with Hungary's demands for 4,349 square miles embracing a population of 1,120,000. Durciansky said the territory demanded by Hungary included a Slovak population of 343,000.

Seize Hungarian Terrorists.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The government of autonomous Ruthenia [sub-Carpathian Russia] tonight reported that order had been restored in Czechoslovakia's eastern reaches after martial law was declared in three districts and several hundred alleged Hungarian terrorists were arrested.

The Ruthenian government, which is located at Uzhorod, announced that arrested leaders of Hungarian bands confessed they tried to create disorders in Ruthenia which would lead to Hungarian and Polish military intervention.

Martial law first was declared in the Mukacevo region and extended to Berehovo and Sevujus with the warning that it applied especially to acts of terrorism and destruction of public property. Authorities said bands had sabotaged railway, telegraph and telephone communications, and at least one bridge was dynamited.

POLES EXILE CZECHS FROM TESCHEN AREA; SKILLED WORKERS HIT

TESCHEN, Poland, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Orders were posted throughout the Teschen district today for all Czechs who have settled since November, 1918, in this area, newly acquired by Poland from Czechoslovakia, to leave by Nov. 1. Most of those affected by the orders are government employés, school teachers, engineers, and factory supervisors.

[Havas, French news agency, in a dispatch from Maehrisch Ostrau said Czech teachers already had been forcibly ejected from their schools and from the Teschen district.]

Polish authorities are trying to facilitate the enforced exodus by issuing special departure permits to those falling under the orders.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

GERMAN-CZECH FRONTIER FIXED; DROP PLEBISCITE

Prague Foreign Chief Will See Hitler Today.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Oct. 13.—While Frantisek Chvalkovsky, Czechoslovak foreign minister, sped for Berchtesgaden tonight to place the dismembered republic's case before Adolf Hitler, the international commission ruled there was no need of a plebiscite to determine the new German-Czechoslovak frontier.

The commission, which was appointed by the four-power Munich conference, decided that the line to which German troops advanced in the first ten days of October should be the definite border between Germany and Czechoslovakia. This includes "Zone 5" which was established on Oct. 5. Final details of the new borderline will be worked out by Czechoslovakia and Germany.

The commission also agreed to the formation of German-Czechoslovak committee for regulating the details of the right of option for Germans and Czechoslovaks who find themselves on the wrong side of the border. The people may exercise this right until April 1.

Plan Reichstag Election.

The Germans will conduct an "election" in Sudeten territory for members of the Reichstag, but this will be carried out under Nazi direction without foreign supervision as would have been the case if a plebiscite had been enforced.

A few hours before the international commission met Foreign minister Chvalkovsky of the Prague government called on Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister. They conferred for two hours. The result of the conversation was kept secret.

Diplomats assumed Chvalkovsky declared that Czechoslovakia was willing to accept Germany's demands that Prague denounce its treaty with soviet Russia which the Germans feel is directed against them. The Germans also insist that Czechoslovakia adopt some of their anti-Jewish measures as the price for a compromise which they said would enable Czechoslovakia to survive.

Find Villages Cut in Two.

A map twelve feet square, showing the new Czechoslovak-German frontier was nearby when the Berlin and Prague foreign ministers met. It is a surprising document because in quite a number of cases the new border shows some of the features which Germany branded as unbearable in the frontier drawn by the Versailles treaty.

These include villages cut in two, or factories, power plants and railroad stations in the territory allotted to the victor, with villages placed on the side of the loser.

The British and French ambassadors who helped draw up the new Czechoslovak-German border said that these cases were not numerous enough to endanger what is left of Czechoslovakia's economic life. The Germans described it as a satisfactory "ethnographical [racial] line."

A semi-official German communique said that a number of German groups remain within Czechoslovak territory, but that Nazi authorities will see to it "that their existence is safeguarded within the Czech state."

To Visit Warsaw and Budapest.

It was stressed that Chvalkovsky was the first Czech foreign minister to come to Berlin in an official capacity. After his conference here he left for Berchtesgaden by train. As soon as he has conferred with Hitler, probably tomorrow, Chvalkovsky plans to visit Warsaw and Budapest, the Polish and Hungarian capitals.

The Essener National Zeitung, mouthpiece of Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, said that Germany cannot guarantee Czechoslovakia's territorial integrity until all minorities in the republic are satisfied.

Officials said Prague desires to obtain Germany's guarantee as quickly as possible. Therefore, Chvalkovsky intends to confer with Polish and Hungarian officials in an effort to reach an understanding with those nations.

Some Nazi circles predicted that Hitler would tell the Czechoslovak foreign minister that the Prague government must cede to Hungary those portions of the republic where Hungarians predominate.

C. I. O. WINS VOTE TO BARGAIN FOR ARMOURWORKERS

Nearly 3,000 employés of the production and maintenance department of Armour & Co. have voted to make the United Packinghouse workers, local 47, an affiliate of the Committee for Industrial Organization, sole bargaining agent for all employés. The vote, cast Tuesday and Wednesday, was announced last night by L. C. Bajork, regional director for the National Labor Relations board.

The vote was 2,840 for the C. I. O. union, and 237 against it. More than 6,000 workers were eligible to vote. Immediately after the results were announced, Harry S. Eldred, vice president in charge of operations at the Armour plant, issued a statement asserting in effect that the results of the vote were not truly representative.

"The total number of votes cast [2,840] for the C. I. O.," he said, "was considerably less than a majority of our workers, which was one of the reasons why we could not consent to let the C. I. O. represent our workers. Some of those who voted had not been in our employ for upwards of six months."

UKRAINIANS SHOT IN POLISH RIOTS; FEAR CIVIL WAR

Galicia Under Army Rule; Disorders Spread.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Oct. 13.—Poland today took extraordinary measures to prevent an outbreak of civil war. All of Polish Galicia was placed under martial law.

Military rule was established in the city of Lwow following riots in which eighteen persons were killed. Several hundred were reported wounded.

Many Ukrainian political leaders disappeared. Their families feared they were under arrest. Ukrainian newspapers have been confiscated for attempting to publish details of the disorders. The newspaper Dilo was suppressed again today for attempting to print a list of death notices of persons killed when police fired on rioters. The newspaper claimed there were about fifty fatalities.

Rioting Lasts Two Days.

The Lwow rioting lasted two days. Disorders also were reported at Stanislawow and other cities.

Polish Ukrainians are infuriated over demands of the Polish government that Hungary be granted sovereignty over the Ruthenians [sub-Carpathian Russians] of Czechoslovakia. The Ruthenians, who live in the eastern corner of Czechoslovakia, are regarded as racial brothers by the Ukrainians.

On Monday the Ukrainians sent a delegation to Warsaw where it was received by Premier Gen. Felicjan Slawoj-Skladkowski. The delegation asked the government to abandon its demands. It also requested that the 3,222,000 Ukrainians in Poland be granted cultural autonomous privileges.

Attacked by Police.

On Tuesday, when the Ukrainians heard that Ruthenians had pledged allegiance to Czechoslovakia in return for political independence, they arranged special Te Deum service of thanksgiving in the Greek Catholic Ukrainian cathedral at Lwow.

Following the services a crowd led by priests marched toward the center of the city singing Ukrainian songs and shouting: "Long Live Free Ukraine!" and "Down with Poles and Magyars!" The marchers were ambushed by heavily armed police and dispersed with rifle shots. A few hours later the Poles stormed the cathedral. Street fighting was resumed yesterday. Order was restored last night.

RUSSIA NEARING NEW REVOLUTION, LATVIANS REPORT

Assert Workers Will Rise if War Comes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Oct. 13.—Russia is approaching another revolution, it was reported by a group of Latvian engineers and skilled workers who arrived in Riga today. They have been employed for many years on Moscow undertakings.

The Latvians said that workers in Moscow are discussing openly an uprising which they claim will follow if soviet Russia becomes involved in a war.

The soviet government, the Latvians related, did not dare to mention in its newspapers during the recent Czechoslovak crisis the fact that Russia was committed to joint military action with France. Such information would have intensified the hopes of the population that the present regime would be overthrown upon the outbreak of hostilities, the Latvians asserted.

Says Workers Would Revolt.

Jan Osolinsch, for ten years an aviation engineer in a Russian airplane factory, said he believes that, should the Russian government mobilize and arm workers, they would use the weapons against the communists rather than obey orders to go to the front.

Dissatisfaction of the inhabitants has been intensified by a growing shortage of foodstuffs with prices far beyond the capacity of the average worker's pocketbook, Osolinsch said. He asserted that when he left Moscow yesterday butter was selling for 20 rubles [$4] a pound and lard for 18 rubles [$3.60] per pound. Meat, he said, was almost unobtainable for 25 rubles [$5] per pound.

[Russia revalued its ruble, making it worth 20 cents, late in 1935. The revaluation became effective Jan. 1, 1936.]

Can't Get Shoes—Even at $40.

Osolinsch reported a disastrous crop failure in central and northern Russia, and said soviet authorities were having trouble collecting grain in the Ukraine and Siberia, where crops were reported to be better. Since 1934, he asserted, conditions have been getting worse, and Moscow authorities are worried about the food and fuel supply for the coming winter.

The engineer, being a highly paid specialist, saved several thousand rubles which he attempted to convert into clothing before his departure. He said he and his wife searched Moscow shops unsuccessfully for a week attempting to purchase shoes which are generally sold for 200 rubles [$40] a pair.

Although workers in the aviation industry are specially privileged and get higher pay than many other workers, the amount of wasted and spoiled materials is just as large as in other industries, Osolinsch said. Frequent arrests and the disappearance of engineers and workers have not improved conditions, he added.

HITLER INVADES BRITISH SPHERES; SEIZES MARKETS

London Alarmed by Trade War Similar to 1914.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Anglo-German trade rivalry, one of the most important factors leading up to the world war, suddenly has become more dangerous than at any time since 1914, and is becoming more intense every day.

In the Balkans, and—more important—in the near east, middle east and far east, Germans are pressing the British. It is one more pot of trouble that has begun to bubble ominously.

Dismay would be a mild word for the way British businessmen and politicians feel about it. Market after market is slipping from their grasp, even in the British colonies. They know that, sooner or later, political influence accompanies economic and trade domination.

British Losing Turkey.

Germany has made no secret of its intentions to dominate the Balkans. The conquest seems to be almost completed. Turkey, which the British thought was safely in their camp, seems to be slipping away.

Greece, Rumania, and Jugo-Slavia are responding to the German wooing, whether from inclination or from fear of violence later if they resist.

The Germans have said they intend to dominate from the Baltic sea on the north, to the Black sea on the southeast. Worse than that, from the British point of view, they are making serious inroads into British markets in India, South Africa and Australia.

Iran, Afghanistan and Albania all are included in the Nazi program for economic conquest, British reports say. Iran and Afghanistan are two areas about which the British always have been especially touchy.

Throughout the Arab world, the Germans are gaining ground as foes of Jews, while the British are losing prestige through protecting the Jews in Palestine. The British report a distinct increase in Arab defiance since the Munich settlement, in which Britain, France, and Italy approved Hitler's annexation of the Sudetenland in Czechoslovakia.

British Hoped for Time.

Until the Munich agreement, and even afterward, the British optimistically hoped that once Reichsfuehrer Hitler had gobbled up a large part of Czechoslovak industry and had achieved a large share of domination in central Europe, he would sit back for a while and digest his gains. They hoped for time to block his eastward advance somehow.

On the contrary, the settlement whetted Hitler's appetite, the British now believe. He is convinced apparently, it is said, that now is the time to push ahead while the British, by their own admission, are too weak to bar his path.

For five years the trade battle has gone on, and the British barely held their own despite huge money resources and greater prestige. Totalitarian methods and German determination have enabled the Germans to undersell and keep going.

British Prestige Slumps.

Now British prestige has taken a bad slump. That has been the signal for a renewed and redoubled campaign under the direction of Dr. Walther Funk, German minister of economic affairs, which has given the British one of the nastiest shocks in years.

Previously only politicians, businessmen and journalists paid much attention to the rivalry. Now it is viewed as proof of the growing difficulty of getting a real settlement with Germany. Wide publicity has been given to it, and the public is beginning to take notice. The analogy with pre-war conditions is striking.

The rivalry which then was centered around the Berlin-Bagdad railway as a sort of symbol has not been forgotten, but the British public long believed it was a thing of the past. It thought that British dominance in the east was assumed as long as Japan could be kept down.

Fear Empire's Decline.

A working arrangement on colonial demands might yet be made. The Germans, however, are showing such vast ambitions for trade dominance that the British fear it will mean the final decline of the British empire unless a way to limit the Germans can be found.

Again, as before the world war, the Germans have raised the cry of "encirclement."

Early this summer Turkey raised an 80 million dollar loan in London under a British government guarantee. A large part was to go for armaments and the British managed to arrange that much of it should come back to Britain through contracts to Britons for erection of factories and other works. That was considered a sort of finger in the Turkish pie, which both the British and Germans wanted.

The Germans accused the British then of attempting "economic encirclement" and of attempting to divert trade from "normal channels." They took the view that Turkey's pre-war subjection to German influence should be revived as natural.

Germany Also Lends to Turkey.

On Oct. 7 Dr. Funk announced a 60 million dollar loan to Turkey which the Germans emphasized had "no political significance." Again the German press took occasion to charge that there was no excuse for the British loan.

Little more than 4 per cent of Turkish exports go to Great Britain, the Germans said, against Germany's 25 per cent. Germany also sells 42 per cent of the Turkish imports. Inability to repay the British loans through exports, the Germans maintained, can put Turkey permanently under Britain's thumb as a debtor unable to pay.

Feel Competition Even at Home.

In the Balkans, where Jugo-Slavia, Greece, Rumania, and Bulgaria are on the German list, the Nazi drive continues to gain. Last year Germany handled approximately 35 per cent of the total foreign trade of the Balkan and "succession" states. Including Austria, that figure was almost 50 per cent, and British economists estimate that the Czechoslovak settlement will raise it to 70 per cent.

"The blow will fall most heavily on France," said one writer. "Fortunately, Britain has her empire."

Many wonder, however, how long the empire markets will support Britain's position. There have been complaints of German competition from all sides, even in England itself.

Commercial vassalage is the British description of Germany's aims for other states.

Another German attack on the British came with announcement of a huge purchase of Rumanian wheat, which the German economic paper, Der Wirtschafts-Ring, called an attempt to throttle German trade. On Aug. 31 the British announced this purchase—a $10,000,000 order "by an important firm"—for 400,000 tons of Rumanian wheat. That is one-third of Rumania's exportable surplus. Reports that the British government was behind the transaction were denied officially.

Britain long has been mentor to Rumania in naval affairs, and is reported to be dickering for the right to build a Black sea seaplane base—for commercial use. Germany now has made a move in Rumania, with the arrival there of Robert Ley, chief of the German Labor Front, to confer with King Carol of Rumania. Domination there is believed to be next on the Nazi program, with Greece close behind.

On the same day that the Rumanian wheat purchase was announced it was learned that the British snared a $12,000,000 contract to reclaim 4,000,000 acres of swampland in Greece. So German domination there would not please them.

The outlook, on the whole, is dismal for the British and getting darker rapidly.

JUDGE TO DECIDE TODAY ON FAKE ARSON WARANTS

All Legal Steps Observed, Says Victims' Lawyer.

Judge John J. Rooney in Felony court will decide today whether to issue warants for the arrest of Sherman V. Coultas, state fire marshal; two of his assistants, and three other persons in connection with the now notorious fake arson trial.

The warants are sought by Attorney Joseph T. Harrington in behalf of Frank Kolesiak and Emil Guerrieri. They were persuaded by Coultas and a group of amateur sleuths to make false confessions admitting responsibility for a fire in the Hotel Center, 1422 Madison street, last April 6. Eight men were burned to death in the blaze.

None Appears for Defense.

Although the warant applications have been pending for seven days, no one representing any of the persons involved has appeared in open court to oppose them. First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley was present when the applications were first made and he raised no opposition.

Besides Coultas, warants are sought for Frank Doherty, assistant fire marshal; Roscoe Bonjean, attorney and investigator for the marshal, and James Quinn, Robey Parks, and Frank Marron. The charges are kidnaping, extorting a false confession, and illegal arrest.

Attorney Harrington contends that he has more than complied with the procedure specified by law to obtain the warants. The law requires that after a complaint has been made to a judge he shall question the person making the criminal charge and his witnesses, then have the complaint written out in detail, outlining the charge, naming the accused person, and stating that the complainant has grounds to accuse him of the crime. This statement then shall be sworn to. According to an Appellate court decision, such a statement is sufficient basis for issuing a warant.

Both Testify Under Oath.

Both Kolesiak and Guerrieri have not only made such sworn complaints personally to the judge, but both took the witness stand. Under oath they related to Judge Rooney how they were spirited from their homes by Coultas and his associates and held prisoners in various hotels and there mistreated until they made the fake confessions.

Attorney Harrington also requested warants for Sherif John Toman and Warden Frank Sain, alleging they illegally imprisoned Kolesiak and Guerrieri in the jail. Attorney James Todd appeared yesterday to oppose these warants, contending that the men were held by State's Attorney Courtney. Judge Rooney will hear arguments on this subject today.

Harrington was prepared yesterday to ask for a subpena for the state's attorney's files on the case. Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan, however, turned over the files without a contest when the attorney handed up his petition. The attorney said the files are material for a civil and possibly a criminal prosecution of those involved.

Gov. Horner is also conducting an investigation of Fire Marshal Coultas' part in the case.

MAYOR PRAISED FOR LONG FIGHT TO GET SUBWAY

100 Business Men Call to Express Thanks.

BY WILLIAM BROMAGE.

A large delegation of prominent business men called at the city hall yesterday to congratulate Mayor Kelly on his success in getting subways for Chicago. The group of about 100 represented neighborhood and downtown business organizations.

David Mayer Jr., president of the State street council, who headed the delegation, complimented the mayor on winning his long fight to get federal aid for the project.

"You have shown us the real 'I will' spirit," Mr. Mayer told Kelly. "You went down to Washington and got us a subway."

Great Stimulant for City.

Mayor Kelly told the business men that the subways would be a great stimulant for Chicago. "People are going to feel that things are better," he said.

"I am encouraged to think that business men would take the time to come here in this way. I thank you for your civic assistance and good feeling. This city can't be held back."

Mayor Kelly announced he was discussing with council leaders the matter of creating a special subway commission to handle contract bids and control construction.

He said there is at present no city department set up to handle the subway construction. It is probable that the new body will be appointed by the mayor with the approval of the council.

New Ordinance Is Needed.

Mayor Kelly said that an entire new subway ordinance probably will be required. The council passed such an ordinance last July, but it was concerned with the construction of the original city plan for subways. This plan has been replaced with one drawn by a PWA engineering board.

A new ordinance, it is expected, will include the conditions set up by the PWA in making the grant.

Philip Harrington, city traction engineer, said the first contract plans will be ready in about six weeks and the actual start on the digging will be made by the middle of December. The work must be substantially completed by June 30, 1940, to meet the requirements set up under an 18 million dollar PWA grant. The grant was formally approved by President Roosevelt yesterday.

Funds for Extending Tubes.

"The allotment for the construction of the subway is predicated on the fulfillment of certain assurances given the PWA by the city of Chicago," a PWA announcement in Washington said.

"These assurances include a pledge that the city will lose no time in putting through a unification ordinance which will cover all of the surface, elevated, and bus services of the city.

"The proposed unification ordinance is to contain a clause requiring the company to pay the city a certain share of its gross receipts which are to go into an inviolable trust fund to be used for extension of the subway. After a comprehensive subway system has been built the proceeds are to be used for extension, improvements, and rehabilitation generally of the traction system, including the subway."

Ventilating System for Subway.

City engineers disclosed that the subways, which will be about 35 feet underground, will have a forced ventilating system. The system will include equipment for both normal requirements and emergency use. The emergency equipment would be used in case of fire.

The subway excavations will be made by tunneling through the clay with the street surface disturbed only at quarter mile intervals where shafts will be sunk to take the men and equipment down to the working level and hoist the excavated clay to the surface. The clay taken out probably will be used as fill along the lake front.

Present plans call for dividing the State street subway into nine sections for the purpose of letting contracts. The contractors will be asked to make bids for the complete excavation and building of the tunnels for each section. Each job will go to the lowest responsible bidder.

The PWA issued a detailed estimate of the number of workers who will be employed on the subway project. It showed a total of 7,162 as the average daily number of workers. The PWA estimates there will be 2,016 skilled craftsmen—carpenters, plumbers, electricians, metal workers, iron workers, etc. There will be 3,429 unskilled men, 699 semi-skilled, and 266 technical and clerical employés.

To Give Kisses

Miss Wanda Biancalona, one of girls who will give away candy kisses.

Kisses [sorry, the candy kind] will be given away free on Oct. 22. They will be the candy industry's contribution to Sweetest day, which has been set aside by Mayor Kelly as a special opportunity to make someone happy.

In accordance with the purpose of the day, every orphan in the city will receive a box of candy. Every old lady in the city's institutions will be remembered with a flower. Gifts will be sent to veterans at Edward Hines hospital. Letters will go out to patients in the city's hospitals. None of the aged, the underprivileged, and the unfortunate will be forgotten.

Sweetest day will be observed each autumn. It will be conducted by a group of civic and business leaders in Chicago, under the sponsorship of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

MARYLAND GETS NEARLY 2 MILLION TO BUILD BRIDGE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Public Works administration granted $1,766,700 today for a $3,926,000 bridge across the Potomac river at Morgantown, Md.

This structure, and the project approved on Sept. 22 by PWA for a bridge across the Susquehanna at Havre de Grace, Md., were the two singled out by President Roosevelt during the recent Maryland Democratic senatorial primary as prime objectives of the Public Works program in that state.

Shortly after Representative David J. Lewis, whose candidacy Mr. Roosevelt personally supported, was defeated for the Democratic senatorial nomination by Senator Millard E. Tydings, the President announced the two bridge program would not be carried out immediately because Maryland bankers had failed to finance the state's share of the cost.

Subsequently, however, a PWA grant of $2,167,000 for the $4,815,000 bridge at Havre de Grace, Tydings' home, was approved.

ASSAIL PARKING LOT ADVERTISING BY WPA THEATER

Competitors Lash Free Use of Mails.

The Federal Theater project has sent out 2,000 letters under the free mail privileges of the United States postoffice to advertise free parking in a loop parking lot for patrons of the project's show in the Great Northern theater. G. R. Nutty, president of the Chicago Parking association, last night attacked this use of the free mailing privilege as flagrantly unfair competition.

The free parking advertised is available in the R. G. Lydy company lot at La Salle and Jackson streets. This is only a short distance from the Great Northern theater, where the project is sponsoring "The Mikado." Through an agreement between the federal project and the Lydy company, patrons of the show pay only 35 cents for parking, but get this back as a refund on purchase of a $1.10 ticket. The 35 cent special fee at the Lydy station is said to be 15 cents lower than the average fee at other downtown parking lots.

Advertise Six Stations.

The franked letters include a reproduction of the Lydy insignia and addresses of six Lydy stations, although the free parking offer is good only at the La Salle street lot.

George Nealeans, director of operations for the Federal Theater project, which is a part of the Works Progress administration, said the arrangement was made to promote the show. He added:

"There was no intention to violate postal laws. No more letters will be sent out until we have thoroughly studied postal regulations."

President Nutty of the parking association said: "It doesn't seem right to do such advertising with taxpayers' money, and I think it would be fairer to let theater patrons go to other places as well as Lydy's."

Offers a Better Rate.

Others in his group commented:

Sidney Warshauer, manager of a lot at 502 Plymouth court—"I could give them a better rate. We close at 8 p. m., but for a quarter a car I would be willing to remain open. I'm surprised they didn't ask for bids, since it's a government enterprise. I intend to see them tomorrow."

Joe Cross, manager of a lot at 65 West Van Buren street—"We'd give 25 cent parking for theater patrons. Lydy is a pretty good politician, though, and so are his managers."

Fred Kase, South Loop garage, 318 Federal street—"Price cutting of any kind is very destructive and upsetting to business. This will affect not only us but the Palmer House garage as well."

F. E. Rudhman, Palmer House garage, 20 Quincy street—"You couldn't exactly put it under the heading of fair competition. Lydy has no overhead to speak of, maybe they can do it. We charge 50 cents from 6 o'clock to midnight."

Lydy officials could not be reached for comment.

NEGRO IS LYNCHED AFTER CLUB SLAYING OF LOUISIANA MAN

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

BACKSTAGE

By CALEB

UPON THE DAY when Mrs. Stonehenge emerged from her dark cave home to make a choice between two skins of fur for her apparel that morning, fashion began. Her mate, preoccupied with finding more food or resisting the attacks of a sabre-toothed tiger, may not have noticed the event—but it was significant in his life, and should never have passed without notation and comment.

From that brief and fairly simple choice between a brown grizzly's pelt and the more colorful one of some late timber wolf, the matter has expanded tremendously until today the average woman—armed even with limited resources—has an infinitely wider range from which to choose than did the average mistress of a fortune some years ago. Modern fashion brings a tremendous and varied force of talent into activity. Literally armies of individuals play a part in bringing fashion to life and useful being—and the very heart and center of it all is the modern department store.

Our own force begins to function in the field by placing an advance guard at the great Paris style openings. It continues through the long weeks of conference with those who will adapt and execute the designs best calculated to fit the needs of our customers. Originals must be chosen and bought; fabrics must be anticipated—and often produced by our manufacturing resources specially for the occasion. In the case of fine leathers for shoes and accessories this involves preparation and the start of tanning in colors as much as nine months ahead of their use.

Hundreds of messages are sent by wireless, cable and telegraph; reports and analyses run into thousands of words; conferences and discussions consume days on end; the miles of travel reach astonishing totals. Mountains of detail must be accomplished with speed and accuracy. After goods are chosen and come to us there still remains the assignment of announcing them—for what woman today has the time and energy to canvass every dress or other item of apparel in our department? Naturally she must know quickly and clearly what we have to offer in her particular case. Hence—advertising, comprehensive and detailed.

Regularly all this is done—and done so quietly that the casual visitor to our fashion floors never even thinks of the thousands of minds and hands that have accounted for the simple presence of precisely the dress or hat or shoe she wants at the price she wishes to pay—and promptly at the moment she most desires it.

BAN ON G. O. P. POSTERS WHIM OF UNION CHIEF

Admits Members Have Had No Say in Ruling.

Although Otto Krueger, business agent of local No. 1 of the Bill Posters' union, doesn't like the wording of the proposed Republican sign boards, he admitted yesterday that the union membership has not voted on the matter and could overrule him.

Krueger refused the request of George A. Curran, Republican nominee for county treasurer, to put up signs reading "Smash Nash-Kelly Boss Rule—Vote Republican." He told Curran the union didn't want to "get in bad with the present administration."

Yesterday Krueger was not so positive.

Explains Union's Position.

"I'll tell you how that was," he said, referring to his conversation with Curran. "We've never made a practice of posting political signs where one party uses harsh words.

Krueger's conversation with a reporter followed in substantially these words:

Q.—Did your union endorse anyone in the primary last spring, or at any election? A.—We're non-partisan. We never indorse any one.

Q.—Has the union voted on whether it will post the Republican signs? A.—No.

Q.—Will it? A.—It can. We have a meeting next Thursday.

Don't Like G. O. P. Wording.

Q.—Then the refusal was just on your part? A.—The union can overrule it. It's a matter of policy. We don't like that "Smash Nash-Kelly" wording.

Q.—How many members does your local have? A.—About 240. Well, only about 150 now.

Q.—What are your dues? A.—Three dollars monthly.

Q.—How often do you make an accounting? A.—Every three months. Our books are open to inspection.

Q.—How long have you been business agent? A.—Since last December.

Q.—Where will the union hold its meeting next week. A.—I'll not tell.

Democrats Violate City Statute.

A tour of the west side yesterday disclosed that several Democratic candidates' campaign posters pasted on public service poles—a violation of a city ordinance.

These posters variously advertised the candidacies of Frank Bobrytzke for the county board, Frank Donoghue for Municipal judge, John J. Touhy for trustee of the sanitary district, and Judge N. J. Bonelli for reëlection to the Municipal court.

Posters were noted on poles at the following locations: The alley intersection north of North avenue on both sides of Ashland, on Western avenue south of Division street, and at 21st street and Rockwell avenue.

Placards advertising a dance given by the 31st ward Democratic organization were attached to utility poles near Division street and Western avenue.

Autoist Gets 1 to 14 Years for Killing Pedestrian

Judge William J. Lindsay in Criminal court yesterday sentenced Richard Calhoun, 21 years old, colored, to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary for manslaughter. Calhoun's car struck and killed William Blei, 71 years old, 1818 Washington boulevard, at Warren avenue and Wood street July 28.

Jury Orders Death Driver Held for Manslaughter

A coroner's jury yesterday ordered Thomas O'Reilly, 32 years old, 5545 South Loomis boulevard, held on manslaughter charges as the result of an automobile collision July 17 in which two persons were killed.

Massachusetts Foes

ARVEY DODGES G. O. P. CHARGE OF BIPARTISAN DEALS

Ald. J. M. Arvey, [24th] who assumed direction of the Democratic county campaign yesterday, refused a direct answer on whether Democratic candidates should be named to oppose State Senators Daniel A. Serritella and James B. Leonardo, Republicans, in the 1st and 17th senatorial districts.

Charges by Republicans of bipartisan deals have arisen since it was learned that the Democrats nominated against both Republicans last April have withdrawn. The same thing happened four years ago. Then, as now, Serritella and Leonardo had no names against them on the election ballot.

Arvey was asked if he thought the Democratic senatorial committees in the 1st and 17th districts should fill the vacancies caused by the withdrawal of Michael P. Sheahan and Michael Iarussi.

"I don't know anything about those districts," Arvey countered.

"A a matter of party principle, do you think there should be a Democratic candidate for state senator in those districts?"

"I think," the alderman said, "that there should be Democratic candidates for all posts—that that they can fill." The last phrase appeared to be an afterthought.

LURE FOR ROBBER GANG SENTENCED DESPITE PLEAS

CRIMINAL COURT.

Edward Carlson and Theodore Horn, robbery, 1 to 20 years each in the penitentiary; Emil Wilson and Frank Monbrod Jr., robbery, 1 to 20 years each in the penitentiary by Judge William J. Lindsay.

Two convicted robbers pleaded in vain in Criminal court yesterday for a young woman who acted as the lure for their holdup gang. She is Mrs. Edith Herriott, 23 years old, mother of two small children. Judge Joseph Burke sentenced her to one to twenty years in the women's prison at Dwight.

Her two companions and a third member of the gang received similar sentences in the Joliet penitentiary. They are Dane Parker and John Novak, who said Mrs. Herriott was unaware of their activities, and Charles E. Thompson. A fourth defendant, Richard Parise, was sentenced to five months in the Bridewell.

pardons were granted a prison guard was killed by two convicts while being returned to prison by taxicab after a court appearance.

There never has been an investigation into the pardon racket. Invariably very large fees are paid to lawyers, if not through them, in pardon cases.

Recall Securities Deals.

Echoes are still heard from Curley's conduct of office while serving as mayor of Boston. Edmund Bolan, Curley's intimate friend and one time city treasurer, is in jail on a contempt charge in connection with his refusal to answer questions about the Legal Securities company. This concern was formed by the Curley ring. Through it bonds were purchased in the open market and then sold to the city for a price above the market quotation.

Litigation is still pending on charges that Curley and Dr. Joseph Santosuosso, an attorney, received $30,000 through the settlement of a claim against the city by the General Equipment corporation. Frederick H. Graves, a representative of the company, said in an affidavit he turned over the graft money to Santosuosso to give to Mayor Curley.

City Losses Charged.

It also has been charged that the city was mulcted out of hundreds of thousands of dollars in the settlement of land taken in connection with the building of the East Boston tunnel while Curley was mayor.

Unprecedented political bribery occurred during the Curley régime as governor. The lobbies were filled with former legislators, contractors, and job seekers. One man was told that if he voted as the governor wished his law office would receive a substantial amount of work from the state in looking up real estate titles. Another was told that if he did not vote with the governor state business given his family would be taken away.

Several members found that persons close to the executive office had searched files of the civil service and other departments and found friends and relatives of theirs seeking work. The legislators were then told the jobs would be given if they voted right.

Comic Opera Phase.

Other phases of the Curley administration looked more like a comic opera. Probably not since the days of the colonial governors from England had there been so much gold braid and resplendent uniforms. Curley even appointed admirals to strut about in his entourage.

But the show and pomp also had a tragic note. It was Curley's practice to speed through Boston streets and rural turnpikes with a motorcycle squadron going ahead with sirens screaming a warning. Three of the policemen were killed in these mad dashes. Curley was nicknamed the "hit and run governor."

These and other "Curleyisms" are being reviewed for the voters as the election approaches.

LODGER ADMITS KILLING INDIANA GIRL STUDENT

Prisoner Once Served Penitentiary Term.

move—to seize and accuse Miller. This was accomplished when the police wakened Miller, told him he was suspected, and soon afterward obtained his confession.

Miss Girton was an attractive brunette about four feet six inches tall and weighing about 90 pounds. She came to Fort Wayne six weeks ago from her farm home near Winchester, Ind.

Business college classmates said that she appeared shy and retiring when she first entered school, but that she soon became popular among her fellow students. They described her as friendly and good natured and said she enjoyed going to dances and parties.

Girl Had No Romance.

Classmates said she had dates with several young men in Fort Wayne but that they did not believe she had been carrying on a romance with any of them.

For the first five weeks that she was in Fort Wayne, Miss Girton lived at the W. C. T. U. girls' residence, moving to Mrs. Kelly's rooming house a week ago.

She was graduated last June from the McKinley Consolidated High school at Winchester, where she was known as a good student. Earl Bales, principal of the McKinley school, said that scholastically she ranked among the upper 10 per cent of the graduating class. She was a member of the high school debating team and sang in the school chorus.

The principal said she was of a retiring disposition while in high school and cared little for parties or for boys. He attributed this in part to the fact that her right arm was slightly deformed as a result of an illness. She was a ward of the Indiana state rehabilitation department, which assists crippled persons in obtaining an education.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gail Girton, live three miles from Winchester. Girton is a well-to-do farmer and stock buyer. Two other daughters attend the McKinley school.

CALL FIRE DEATH ACCIDENT.

John Kopczynski's habit of smoking in bed was responsible for his death, a coroner's jury was told yesterday. He died Sept. 21 in a fire in his home at 5247 South Kolmar avenue. He was 50 years old. A verdict of accident was returned.

NAME ALD. ARVEY DEMOCRAT HEAD OF COUNTY GROUP

P. A. Nash Gives Up Reins Temporarily.

BY PERCY WOOD.

P. A. Nash stepped down temporarily from leadership of the Democratic county central committee yesterday in favor of J. M. Arvey, alderman and committeeman of the 24th ward.

Predictions immediately were made that this action meant the veteran politician had abdicated permanently. But, in view of the facts, these remained only conjecture.

Nash wrote the committee—addressing his letter to Joseph L. Gill, secretary—that his health demanded he take a rest. He has been ordered to rest by his physician, he said. Nash is past 70 years old.

Hopes to Return Soon.

Yet the tone of his letter did not imply that Nash was moving out of the Democratic picture.

"I sincerely trust," he wrote, "that after a short vacation and rest I will be able to return, with renewed vigor and energy, to carry on in behalf of our candidates and the principles espoused by our party and our illustrious leader, President Roosevelt."

No one at the committee meeting in the Morrison hotel claimed to have an idea how long the chairman would remain inactive. In his letter he did not suggest that Arvey succeed him, but only that a new post of vice chairman be created and the alderman selected to fill it. His wishes were carried out.

Arvey, the bald and diminutive boss of the principal Jewish ward on the west side, accepted with a short speech in which he praised Nash and promised a whirlwind campaign, with all factions united and working for the entire Democratic ticket.

Names Harmony Committee.

Nash's letter prominently mentioned the harmony angle. He stated that he had appointed a harmony committee consisting of Arvey, Gill, Paul Drymalski of the board of tax appeals, and Ald. Terence F. Moran [16th] to represent the regular organization.

Earlier in the day the group held its first meeting with a Horner-Courtney committee in the Chicagoan hotel, which adjoins the Morrison. The Hornerites were Committeeman Martin J. O'Brien [29th], Charles K. Schwartz of the state tax commission, James M. Slattery, chairman of the Illinois commerce commission, and Ald. Harry E. Perry [18th]. Perry, it is believed, was State's Attorney Courtney's representative. Arvey said no officers were selected, but it is understood he will preside at future meetings.

About the only overt display of harmony at the county committee meeting was the speech of County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, of the Horner-Courtney faction. He assured the body that he would do all in his power to elect the entire slate.

"I'm for them all," the judge asserted.

First County Meeting Monday.

The first big county-wide campaign meeting will be a luncheon in the La Salle hotel Monday, Arvey announced.

"All responsible leaders of the Democratic party in Illinois will be there," he said.

State candidates are still spending most of their time downstate and will continue there, for the most part, for the next ten days. The last two weeks of the campaign they will spend in Cook county, according to custom.

Part of the discussion at the county committee meeting was whether ward organizations should hold individual mass meetings or combine with adjoining wards. Most of the committeemen preferred to hold their own meetings.

LUCAS TURNS HIS DRIVE FOR VOTES TOWARD CHICAGO

Speaks in City Today at Executives' Club.

Scott W. Lucas, Democratic nominee for United States senator, turns his attention today from the farm to the urban vote.

Nearing the end of his downstate campaign, he came to Chicago last night from Joliet. Today he will address a luncheon of the Executives' club in the Hotel Sherman and then will take to the road again until next Wednesday night, when all of the Democratic nominees are due in Cook county for the balance of the campaign.

Lucas spent most of his spare time yesterday working on the details of his Chicago speech. He is said to be anxious to convince the business men that he is no hare brained radical, primed to take a leading part in the New Deal's attacks on business.

Promises Aid for Business.

During the last few days Lucas has said repeatedly that if elected, he will do everything he can to repeal or modify existing national legislation if he can be shown that these laws are hurting business. Although the Supreme court packing bill was killed in the senate without reaching the floor of the house for a vote, Lucas, as a congressman, made a speech from the floor opposing it.

He cites this speech in support of his statements that he is no Roosevelt rubber stamp, but will do what he is convinced is best for the country's welfare.

Lucas has been increasing the strength of his attacks on former President Hoover. The nominee does not explain very explicitly what part Hoover plays in the present campaign.

He said that Hoover comes out of the west every two years to make speeches and then returns to his home in California for another two years of retirement.

"I hope he will keep on making speeches," Lucas shouted. "He is the best asset the Democratic party has."

Visits Staley Plant.

Lucas left Springfield early yesterday to visit the Staley Manufacturing company plant in Decatur. The company makes corn sirup, starch products, and processes corn in other ways.

Lucas' managers said that he had been invited to the plant by a joint invitation of the management and plant employés. This was the first time any political candidate had been invited to the huge and ornate plant for at least a decade, they added.

Lucas then jumped more than a hundred miles to Watseka, county seat of Iroquois county, and from there went on to speak at Kankakee in the evening.

Later he journeyed to Joliet, where he discussed dictatorships before a large crowd. Lucas said that no responsible leader of either major political party wants or will countenance a dictatorship. He added that the nation was much closer to a dictatorship in 1932 than it is now. The Democratic party, he said, prevented that.

LUCAS, 3 OTHER DEMOCRATS, GET LABOR BACKING

Scott W. Lucas and three other candidates on the Democratic state ticket were indorsed for election yesterday by the executive board of the state federation of labor and the joint labor legislative board of Illinois.

Besides Congressman Lucas — the nominee for United States senator — T. V. Smith and John C. Martin, candidates for congressmen at large, and Louie E. Lewis, nominee for state treasurer, were indorsed by the labor groups.

Indorsements were also made of candidates for congress, the state senate, and the state house of representatives. Miss Mary McEnerney, vice president of the state federation and a candidate for reëlection to the Cook county board on the Democratic ticket, was one of the two women mentioned in the list. The other was Representative Lottie Holman O'Neill [R., Downers Grove].

22,016 NEW VOTERS REGISTER FROM COUNTRY TOWNS

Tuesday's final registration day in Cook county country towns brought out 22,016 new registrations, Daniel A. Carey, chief clerk in the election department of County Clerk Michael J. Flynn, reported yesterday. The total in the country town area is now 219,503, compared with 167,000 in 1934, the last off year election. The returns from Maywood and Wilmette are yet to be compiled. The county clerk election office has jurisdiction over the area in Cook county now under the board of election commissioners.

John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the election board, said the totals on board registration will be ready today. Tabulators were compiling the figures on the last 300 precincts last night. It has been estimated that more than 150,000 new voters were registered Monday in the Chicago precinct polling places.

GAMBLERS BET INDIANA WILL LET DOGS RACE

Stake New Track on Machine's Good Will.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Dog racing is running as a campaign issue in Indiana on the heels of the Democratic 2 per cent slush fund club and the legalized political beer racket whereby machine politics puts a shake, estimated at $500,000 a year, on beer from breweries outside this state.

Twenty miles outside Indianapolis, in Hancock county on state road 67, a modern dog race track is almost completed. The track is all ready and steel grand stands have been built—almost everything is there but the electric rabbits and the hot dog stands.

Gambling Is Illegal.

Gambling is illegal in Indiana, but still the promoters, not publicly identified as yet, have invested their money. Word is current in gambling circles that the legislature, to be elected next month, will or may change the law and legalize betting on the dogs. The lawmakers legalized the 2 per cent club and took it out of the corrupt practices act. They legalized the tribute levied by port of entry politicians on beer. If a new law is lacking there is a hope for toleration from county political machines which are tied in the statehouse machine.

The new dog track near McCordsville is close to the Plantation, a supper club and gambling casino which was closed some time ago by state police working under direction of the Hancock county Circuit judge, John B. Hinchman. That judge is a former law partner of Omer Stokes Jackson, Democratic state chairman and attorney general. Under Gov. Paul McNutt's reorganization of state government, the attorney generalship became an appointive office.

Incidentally, Thomas Taggart was generally supposed to have an interest in the Plantation. Whether there is anything in the sequence or not, the closing of the Plantation followed the refusal of Taggart to resign as Democratic national committeeman from Indiana to make way for Frank McHale. Shortly after the Plantation was closed Taggart did resign and McHale became national committeeman.

McHale, a statehouse machine boss, glories in the title of "the Jim Farley of Paul V. McNutt."

Wheels Within Wheels.

Gov. Townsend wanted the place on the national committee to be given to Alex N. Pursley, high political godfather and also a boss at the statehouse. But McHale and Bowman Elder by dominating the 2 per cent club are said to have bluffed him out.

At any rate, McHale became national committeeman, a spot of advantage, what with 1940 coming along and McNutt a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. Townsend, who is liked by Jim Farley, is spoken of for the vice presidential nomination, while Farley has little love for McNutt. Signs of a growing rift between Townsend and his followers and the McNutt lads, who still control the 2 per cent, are said by statehouse frequenters to be growing.

Gov. Clifford Townsend has issued an edict against gambling. Slot machines have gone under the ban. Conjectures are the edict was inspired by the New Albany scandals. There a deputy county treasurer, a patron of the bookies, recently killed himself, leaving a $100,000 shortage. In Michigan City on Sept. 2 deputies led by Constable John Gondek confiscated 60 slot machines, and put them in storage. A few hours later hi-jackers slugged and clubbed the deputies, sending three to the hospital. All but five of the "slots" were recovered by the sluggers.

Repeats Inquiry Demand.

Today Raymond E. Willis, Republican nominee for United States senator, renewed his demand for an investigation of the 2 per cent slush fund by the United States senate committee on campaign expenditures.

"Federal investigators," he said, "are coming to Indiana to uncover instances of the political use of WPA and other federal funds. While federal agents are here, we suggest that they look into charges of improper and illegal activities on the part of the 2 per cent club, charges made by Senator Fredrick Van Nuys. That senator promised to develop those charges himself in September, but we have heard nothing from him."

Construction of the dog track continues.

Some dog tracks have been running. Sunday a dog track opened near Plainfield, west of Indianapolis. The owner said there would be no betting and that the dogs would run two more Sundays before being taken to Florida.

As the campaign moves along Republicans in their speeches are denouncing the alliance between crime and politics in Indiana. William H. Remy, Republican nominee for the Juvenile court here and former county prosecuting attorney, tonight ripped into the local machine and the Democratic McNutt-McHale-Minton-Townsend machine.

"Leading Democrats openly stated last spring," Remy asserted, "that the local Democratic machine was planning by means of padded registration lists and crookedness at the polls to steal votes not favored by the machine.

"A recount showed at least one nomination had been stolen. Crime is on the increase and so is juvenile delinquency. Every day the crime army is recruiting from among the children of Indiana. And every day the vice lords of the machine are serving as recruiting agents by permitting wholesale law violation in return for political aid. That is the reason thousands of Democrats are joining ranks with us to fight a common foe.

"Some day Kansas City will defeat the Pendergast machine. Some day Indiana citizens will beat this Indiana machine, which Senator Van Nuys said is infinitely worse."

MRS. KATHERINE BRUMMITT

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Mrs. Katherine Brummitt, 21, and Robert Bein, 22, were both held by the police today on charges of suspicion of robbery in connection with the holdup of a theater last Saturday night. The captives denied any knowledge of the crime.

AX SQUADS VISIT 10 MORE BET DENS; TOTAL NOW IS 398

Ten more handbooks were smashed yesterday by State's Attorney Courtney's ax squads. This brought to 398 the number of betting parlors destroyed since the anti-gambling crusade was started.

The raids were at 7 West Chicago avenue, 5057 Indiana avenue, 5056 Michigan avenue, 75 West Randolph street, 702 West 59th street, 3148 North Clark street, 1508 Larrabee street, 32 North State street, and 5123 West 25th street, Cicero, and Ogden and Harvey avenues, Western Springs.

In South State street court thirty-eight men arrested in raids on alleged gambling places were freed by Judge Francis Borrelli. Five men seized in policy stations also were released.

Boy Falls Into Harbor; Saved by Grappling Hook

Bruce Young, 4 years old, and three playmates were playing at Waukegan harbor yesterday when Bruce tumbled from the pier into 18 feet of water. Capt. Charles Sothers, aboard the yacht El Baroda, heard the splash. He leaned over the side of the craft and fished out Bruce with a grappling hook, then revived him by artificial respiration. The boy lives at 601 Julian street, Waukegan.

Western Farmers Revolt, Wheeler Says.

Cohen clique in the White House as their candidate against Wheeler when the latter runs for renomination in 1940.

"The farmers of my state are in revolt, I judge, because they are quiet and you can't get them to say much about their troubles or the administration farm policies," Wheeler continued. "They speak loudly against the curtailment of production and the low wheat prices. They condemn the experts in the agriculture department for their inconsistency.

Wheat Farmers Angry.

"Before the farm bill, the experts told the farmers to increase their planting when there was a lot of moisture in the fall. Now they insist that they must curtail all crops. Montana wheat farmers are very sore against the decision of the government to cut the production of high protein wheat.

"They say that there is no surplus of such wheat and that they ought to be allowed to produce more. But these Washington experts answer: 'wheat is wheat.' Western Montana farmers are complaining against the efforts of the government to collect seed loans. They produced less than five bushels to the acre this year as compared to forty or fifty in normal years due to the grasshoppers affecting the wheat in their section. I intend to offer a bill to cancel these loans.

"The administration in 1932 faced two big problems. Unemployment and the plight of the farmer. Neither of these problems has been solved. Our industries to a large extent are on a mass production basis. In order to have mass production, we must have mass consumption and you can't have it when the cotton farmer does not get enough per pound from his cotton to pay for the cotton in his suit. Nor when the farmer is forced to give one bushel of wheat to buy two loaves of bread."

Asked to explain this statement, Senator Wheeler said that he had visited western Montana this summer and found that the farmers there were getting but 30 cents a bushel for their wheat sold at the farm and that when they went to town they had to pay 15 cents for a loaf of bread.

Farm Experiment Fails.

"The farm experiment has proved a failure as I predicted when the farm bill was passed," the senator continued. "The administration, however, had buoyed up the farmers of the country to expect that the present farm bill was going to solve their problems and they were solidly against any legislator who intimated that he doubted its workability.

"Today, from one end of the country to the other, the farmers themselves recognize that the act is a failure and they are insisting that if you are going to have price fixing in industries which supply the farmers' needs, the farmer can't be left on a competitive basis as to prices.

"I believe that we are going to pass at the next congress legislation based on a two price system. The farmer will get the benefit of the home market and his surplus must be sold abroad at world prices or else under such a scheme as recently suggested by Secretary Wallace."

THE TRIBUNE regrets the incorrect statement in yesterday's editions that the funeral of Charles L. McGraw, 7434 Merrill avenue, was to be held at 2 p. m. in the St. Philip Benizi church. LEHMAN OUSTS GEOGHAN FROM GRAFT INQUIRY

To Name New Prosecutor for Brooklyn.

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Gov. Herbert Lehman today announced he will order District Attorney William F. X. Geoghan superseded by a special prosecutor to investigate the district attorney's office, the police, and all other law enforcement agencies in Brooklyn.

The governor said, however, he will not appoint William B. Herlands, city commissioner of investigation, to be that special prosecutor.

Plans Special Grand Jury.

The governor did not name the special prosecutor, but said that the man would be "a lawyer who is able, independent, and nonpolitical and who has heretofore had no connection with the matter."

The prosecutor will be directed, the governor added, "to indict and convict" any public officer guilty of official corruption in Kings county [Brooklyn].

Gov. Lehman announced there would be a special grand jury for the investigation, and that he had appointed Justice Francis D. McCurn of Syracuse to preside over an extroadinary term of the Supreme court.

Gov. Lehman added he would announce the name of the special prosecutor as soon as he has "found a man with the proper qualifications."

Follows Crime Scandals.

The special prosecutor will be appointed under section 62 of the executive law, which empowers the governor to direct the attorney general to appoint a special deputy attorney general to supersede a district attorney. Until this appointment is made the formal order superseding Geoghan will not be issued.

The superseding of Geoghan comes as a result of an investigation conducted for months by the citizens' committee into the control of crime in New York and, at the direction of Mayor La Guardia, by Herlands into crime conditions in Brooklyn, with particular attention to the office of Geoghan.

Geoghan recently tried to investigate Herlands' investigation. After it became public that Herlands had refused to testify before a grand jury when subpenaed by Geoghan, the governor called for information from both parties last Thursday.

Won't Broadcast Charges.

The governor obtained sworn charges from Herlands and the grand jury minutes from Geoghan. As a result of his study of these documents Gov. Lehman decided to supersede the district attorney, who has been superseded twice before and once faced removal charges, which Lehman dismissed.

Asked what agencies the terms of his order cover, the governor named the police department, district attorney's office, courts, commissioner of jurors' office, and department of correction.

The governor said he would not make public the text of Herlands' sworn petition asking that Geoghan be superseded and citing the evidence obtained.

The governor said Herlands could make it public if he desired but added, "I imagine he will not do so, because it might interfere with the investigation."

McCurn, a Democrat, was appointed to the Supreme court by Lehman in 1934 to fill an unexpired term and was named for another unexpired term Nov. 5, 1937. He was born in Westernville, N. Y., attended high school in Rome, N. Y., and was graduated from Syracuse university in 1914.

Grand Jury Hears G-Man in Federal Milk Inquiry

A. H. Johnson, investigator and accountant for the federal bureau of investigation, was the chief witness yesterday before the special federal grand jury investigating an alleged milk monopoly in the Chicago area. It is expected the investigation will be completed by the end of the month.

NEW GENERATION RISES, CONFIDENT AS IT TAKES REINS

Looks to World's Future Without Fear.

[This is the first of a series of articles on American youth in the middle west and mid-south today. This is not an effort to prove anything, but to present, in interesting settings, how the normal young man and woman regards the world which they must shape for the future. There will also be some comparisons by the way between old dreams and new realities in the field of social planning.]

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The older youth of the postwar generation are now stepping into control of the future of the United States. Older men are leaning on them. The younger ones are looking up to them.

The question is what these older youth are thinking about today. The answer, of course, must come from a wide circle of the intangible average, the young business man, farmer, and mechanic, who reflect the coloration of their environment truly, who almost unconsciously mirror the life and the country they are going to make. Delinquents or extremists of any kind need not be sought for this purpose.

This is the story of that search. It begins here in the middle west, the cradle of American democracy, rocked now by the winds of the world.

A Good Place to Start.

The Indiana state fair seems a good place to start. Here is a $4,000,000 plant which draws 400,000 people inside its gates. Nearby the White river flows through concrete banks along an imposing driveway of residences, churches, and educational institutions. One hundred and fifty years ago it was a clearing in the wilderness with a grist mill and about ninety settlers. The emphasis here touching the future is better machinery, scientific feeding, soil conservation.

Youth, it is found, has taken over this fair in the last fifteen years. The exhibitors this year are 2,700 4-H club members and 1,400 adults. The club has grown to 50,000 members in the state. The exhibits are 544 draft horses, 300 saddle and light harness horses, 3,500 hogs, 1,256 beef and dairy cattle, 1,500 sheep, 3,300 fowl, 1,345 jars of canned food. There is a music festival, a home economics show, a big tent of machinery.

It is late afternoon in the big cattle barns. The late editions of the newspapers are just out and hoarse voices are yelling of war and purge and holdup. But strangely enough these shockers are not snapped up. This alien excitement seems to come from Mars. The young farmers, girls as well as boys, are concerned with feeding and bedding the fat, sleek cows, adorning them, loving them. The bulls paw restlessly. The sound of milk swishing into pails has a soothing influence. City visitors get a far away look in their eyes. If you remain close to the land, this scene seems to say, everything will be all right.

Eager, Full of Plans.

A young, red cheeked farmer pours milk through a strainer and turns to talk. He is a hired man, son of a renter who farms near Frankfort, but he carries no attitude of defeat or worry. He is eager, full of plans, unafraid.

"I would stay on the farm if we could afford to buy it," he says, "but it hurts to give six months' work out of the year to the insurance company. They get half the corn and grain and $56 a year for pasturage. We get the other half and the cattle. Sometimes the floods spoil our crops. Sometimes the prices will not pay for the corn fed to the cattle. But at least it is a home. We have a good table to put our feet under.

"I had a job bookkeeping at an elevator at $40 a month, but had to give it up to help at home. I drove over there every day and it was pretty nice. What I would like to do is to study engineering. I could drive a model T when I was 5 and could take it apart and put it together when I was 10. But that sort of school costs too much money. What I would really like is aviation engineering."

As to the problems of war and purge he admits he doesn't have much idea what it is all about. They don't read much about those things in the country, he says. He leans down to another milking, resting his head against the smooth, black flank which lives to serve humanity in elemental peace.

Another Looks to Skies.

George Hoewy, young West Point farmer, who comes of four generations of farmers and who has a herd of Aberdeen Angus, among them the grand champion steer called Shine, also looks up from the earth to the skies. He, too, would like to be an aviator. And here is a young man from another field, a young mechanic in the Monon boiler shops, who also longs to fly.

He is George Shay, a shy young fellow with a sensitive face, the son of a laborer and one of a family of seven. He is ambitious but somewhat confused as to the future. He has taken extension courses at Purdue in engineering. Mixed with that, however, is a love for camera work. He has a candid camera and thinks a press job would be fine. He is reaching up and working. Some of his friends have been laid off and had to go on relief temporarily, but he intends to escape that.

Tom Johnson, who as student adviser in many matters at Purdue has had intimate contact with youth for many years, says that while the young people of today are not greatly concerned about the future they are taking a realistic view of the situation. They know that jobs are hard to get and they are starting out earlier to make themselves useful in special lines. Washington and Europe do not alarm them because there are more important things at hand. Their feet are on the ground in more ways than one.

A Voice from the Past.

The stage across from the grandstand holds an attraction that is competing with the patter of harness horses running and the yells and heaving in a horse pulling contest. There is a voice here from that past that is so dim and yet which in the great time flow is but a second away. It is the voice of the Rev. Manasseh Cutler in the little Congregational church of Ipswich, Mass., sending forth the first caravan of settlers into the Ohio country.

"God guide you and keep you and let your children's children reap the sheaves."

Six states that are as one are the sheaves, and order and justice, and all these churches and schools. Before us is an experiment in time, a prophecy and its fulfilment. Seldom has any lesson in history been taught more clearly or widely than that of "Freedom on the March," the living story of the northwest caravan that has been on the march since last December and performs here today. Thirty Indians in war paint and feathers complete the picture, their cries and drums mingling with the sounds of the fair. The ox cart and the riders arrive in a swirl of dust.

Today's Youth Can Take It.

Youth today, it appears, can take it, too. The thirty-six college graduates who have made up this caravan have walked 653 miles. When they came to the rivers of the Pennsylvania mountains they cut down trees with the implements the pioneers used and built flatboats and a cabin boat to take them down the Ohio. They dragged the oxen and the cart over hills, through snow and mud and rain. One day they walked thirty-five miles.

What do they think of these sheaves to be gathered?

"I think the people of today don't know how lucky they are," said Gene Cowan of Rockhill, S. C., former student at the Citadel, the south's most distinctive military school, at Charleston.

Find Work Easily.

Before he started on this trek Cowan had a job in the postoffice at home at $50 a week. His brother, also a Citadel product, is an accountant for General Motors.

"Citadel men do not have much trouble in going to work," he said. "Employers know that when one has been through the Citadel he has had discipline and he knows how to work. If you don't do a thing right there the first time you keep at it until you do."

"What kind of pioneering is there for you today?" he was asked.

"Well, sir, there are plenty of things to do today. People don't know what they have. The advance now must be in industry and in new crops and uses for old crops. This is what is needed in the south. People in the cities don't seem to understand us. The real Americans, I think, are in the Pennsylvania mountains and in the small towns. They are nearer to us. [All unconsciously he had taken the psychology of the real pioneer come back to life.] In the cities the struggle for existence is too great. That is the cause of their trouble. There are too many crowded into one place for decent houses and food, and their nature is to struggle."

Echoes Another's Thoughts.

He was echoing, perhaps from past reading, perhaps because it is one of the natural truths that men know, the thought of Thomas Huxley, who said in 1894:

"Let us be under no illusions, then. So long as unlimited multiplication goes on, no social organization which has ever been devised, or is likely to be devised, no fiddle-faddling with the distribution of wealth, will deliver society from the tendency to be destroyed by the reproduction within itself, in its intensest form, of that struggle for existence the limitation of which is the object of society."

Cowan's camp mate was Monte Parr of Mingo Junction, O., a graduate three years ago of Muskingum college. This is the Indian name for the river down which the pioneers came. Parr is a tall, rangy young fellow who has roved all over the United States and who cherishes an ambition to become a writer. In the meantime he has a chance to go into the insurance business.

City People Too Worried.

"The people in the cities are too worried and harried to smile at us or with us," he says. "In the small towns they are more understanding, more responsive, nearer to the real American spirit.

"I should like to write about all this that the people have and which they do not appreciate or understand, in so many places. My country is a mill country and foreign elements have come in there and stirred up trouble where there is no need of trouble. There is plenty of room today for pioneering, and one thing to work on is a return to this American spirit of work and hardship. Yes, and honesty. What about pioneering in New York against racketeering, as Mr. Dewey is doing?

"The foundation laid by the settlers of the Northwest territory is realized today in free speech, freedom of religion, in laws that protect human and property rights, in a framework of individual freedom. It has been the reason for all this advance, for all these inventions, for all this education. This was a basic movement in government, probably the most important step ever taken. We should be pioneers today to guard these liberties and to build on them new trails out of the economic forests, out of the problems of mass production."

[The second article of this series, which will appear soon, will describe youth today in the background of the social experiments at New Harmony, Ind., more than a hundred years ago.]

Sues for Divorce

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MRS. HOPE KAUFMAN SMITH.

Charging that her husband slapped her face six weeks after they were married, Mrs. Hope Kaufman Smith filed suit yesterday for divorce from Gordon Raymond Smith. Mrs. Smith, who is 21 years old, is the daughter of Harry Livingston Kaufman, president of the Congress Hotel company. Her husband is employed by a Detroit manufacturing company of which his father is an executive.

The Smiths were married at the Congress hotel last June 21. Mrs. Smith's bill, drawn by Attorney Samuel A. Rinella, says they separated Aug. 21 after Smith had struck her on several more occasions. Mrs. Smith asks alimony and the right to resume her maiden name.

Typical unsolicited statement from one of our customers.

MAYBE this young lady has hit on some of the reasons why we rank as America's biggest loan company. Maybe it's because we LIKE to be pleasant—and courteous and friendly—that over 776,000 people came to our offices last year, to borrow over 117 million dollars!

However, you may find other reasons. Particularly, if you happen to need from $25 to $300, and will let us lend it to you. For one thing, you'll find we don't like red-tape.

Nor do we ask tiring questions. In fact there's no fuss and bother about getting a loan. You just give us a few simple facts, and quickly as your loan is approved, you get the full amount, in cash. Everything is private...you have a year to repay... and you do not need endorsers.

WHAT MOTORISTS MUST DO TO GET DRIVER LICENSES

250,000 File Applications Under New Law.

BY HAL FOUST.

Approximately 250,000 applications for drivers' licenses had been received at the Springfield office of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes last night. Among the other 2,000,000 motorists in Illinois, there were many puzzled by questions, some simple and some involved, regarding provisions of the regulations.

At The Tribune's public service offices, Dearborn and Madison streets and in the Tribune Tower, where 35,000 application blanks have been issued this week, the following questions have been common:

Q.—When must I have my license? A.—It is unlawful to drive without a license after May 1, 1939, but you can enjoy its benefits as a bail bond in the meantime with no additional fee.

All Drivers Must Have License.

Q.—Will all members of my family have to be licensed? A.—Each member who drives must have his own license.

Q.—Is the passport photo required for the application? A.—It isn't compulsory but it is recommended to assure easy identification and to nullify the license card should it be lost by its owner.

Q.—If the legislature next January amends the driver law making the photo compulsory, would I have to make a new application if I apply now without a photo? A.—Yes, although no one can predict what the general assembly is going to do.

Q.—Must I pass an examination to obtain a license? A.—Not unless the secretary of state suspects from your application that you might not be qualified to drive.

Illinois Card Necessary.

Q.—If I have a driver's license from another state, do I have to get one in Illinois? A.—Yes, if you are a resident of Illinois and are going to drive in this state after next May 1.

Q.—Can I get my driver's license at the Chicago office of the secretary of state at 120 North Ashland boulevard? A.—No. You can get the application form there, but all applications must be mailed to Springfield.

Q.—As a car owner who never drives, do I need a license? A.—No.

Q.—As a licensed chauffeur in Illinois, do I need a driver's license also? A.—No.

Q.—Do I need liability insurance to get a driver's license? A.—No. Under a companion law, however, your driver's license would be suspended unless the judgment is paid and an insurance policy posted within 30 days after a final judgment in a civic suit for damages growing out of an automobile accident.

Q.—Do I have to give my exact age or [this from some women] may I merely state that I'm over 21? A.—The law says to state the date of your birth.

Q.—How soon after obtaining a beginner's permit may I get a driver's license? A.—As soon as you pass an examination.

Old License Invalid.

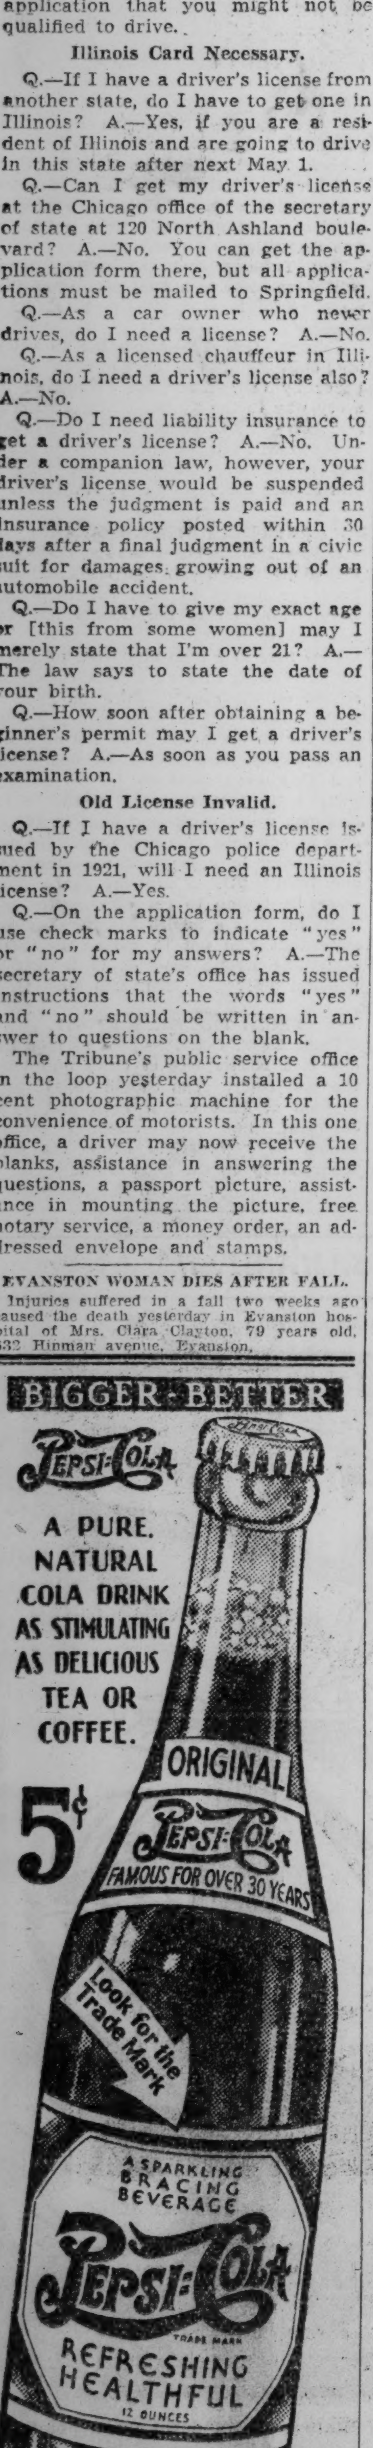
Q.—If I have a driver's license issued by the Chicago police department in 1921, will I need an Illinois license? A.—Yes.

Q.—On the application form, do I use check marks to indicate "yes" or "no" for my answers? A.—The secretary of state's office has issued instructions that the words "yes" and "no" should be written in answer to questions on the blank.

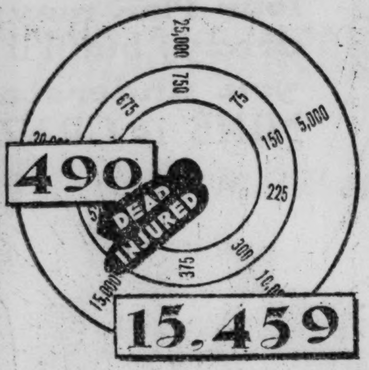
The Tribune's public service office in the loop yesterday installed a 10 cent photographic machine for the convenience of motorists. In this one office, a driver may now receive the blanks, assistance in answering the questions, a passport picture, assistance in mounting the picture, free notary service, a money order, an addressed envelope and stamps.

EVANSTON WOMAN DIES AFTER FALL.

Injuries suffered in a fall two weeks ago caused the death yesterday in Evanston hospital of Mrs. Clara Clayton, 79 years old, 632 Hinman avenue, Evanston.



THE MASSACRE
Chicago's 1938 Trafic Toll



More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

3 Motorists Get Jail Terms in Safety Court

Three motorists were sentenced to jail yesterday by Judge Frank M. Padden in Safety court. They are Joseph Michals, 3244 North Pulaski road, ten days for reckless driving; Joseph Becker, 4226 North Whipple street, ten days for driving while intoxicated; and Fred Liebhaber, 3834 Osceola avenue, five days for reckless driving.

2 PEDESTRIANS, STRUCK BY CARS, DIE OF INJURIES

Miss Amelia Horwitz, 76 years old, 3203 Warren boulevard, died yesterday in St. Anne's hospital. She was injured Wednesday night when she was struck by an automobile at Augusta boulevard and Cicero avenue. John Herberhelz of 3724 Milwaukee avenue, was the driver.

Santo Passarelli, 65 years old, died in the Evangelical hospital of injuries suffered Sept. 22 when he was struck by a truck at 59th street and the Pennsylvania railroad tracks. He lived at 5302 South Winchester avenue.

Judge Jacob M. Braude of the Municipal court was recovering yesterday in Passavant hospital from injuries suffered Wednesday night when his car struck a cement safety post in the center of La Salle street at Schiller street. He said he failed to see the post as its lights were not burning because of a short circuit in the street lighting system.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 633 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 490 were killed in Chicago. In the same period 15,459 were injured in trafic accidents within the city.

RAZE VIADUCT AT MONROE ST. FOR LARGER ONE

Work progressed rapidly yesterday on removal of the old Monroe street viaduct over the Illinois Central railroad tracks between Michigan avenue and Columbus drive. A new viaduct will be built by the Chicago park district at a cost of $439,200.

Lawrence Smith, park engineer, said the new bridge will be completed early next spring. It and the approaches will be sixty feet wide. The old viaduct was thirty-two feet wide.

A temporary pedestrian bridge has been provided over the tracks, but vehicles must use other viaducts. Work was started on the bridge three weeks ago.

"WASHDAY WAS MY GROUCH-DAY

Until I Discovered American Family Soap!"

says MRS. JOHN J. AHERN
10346 S. WOOD ST.

WHAT an amazing difference American Family Soap makes on washday. For, without boiling or hard rubbing—without using strong bleaches—clothes come out sweet smelling, sparkling white.

The reason for this startling difference is this. Laboratory tests have proved that American Family contains as much as ⅓ more suds-making material than other bar laundry soaps tested—including those containing naphtha.

This extra suds-making material gives American Family Soap amazing washing power. Produces rich, creamy, active suds. Even grimiest spots come out without back-breaking rubbing—and with real safety to clothes.

Colored fabrics retain their gay brilliance, even after many washings. White clothes come out snowy white. All washables last unbelievably long. American Family Soap has been used by countless thousands of women for over 90 years. These women have found beyond the slightest doubt that—It's cheaper to buy good soap than new clothes! Made by Procter & Gamble.

THE SUBWAY.

The Public Works administration in Washington has finally approved the Chicago subway project. The approval came three weeks before election day and was timed to achieve the maximum in political results.

According to present estimates the cost will approximate 39 million dollars of which 21 will be provided from the city's own funds and the other 18 million from the federal treasury.

For this 18 million dollars Chicago is supposed to feel under a heavy sense of obligation to the men now in power in Washington. It may be well to view the matter in perspective. In 1937 alone the collector of internal revenue took 105 million dollars out of Chicago in income taxes on corporations and nearly 84 million dollars more in personal income taxes, a total of more than 189 million dollars, or rather more than ten times the amount of the so-called gift. The income tax payments represent, of course, only a part of the total of federal exactions from Chicago.

This relatively small return provides a contrast with the astonishing liberality displayed by the New Dealers in other sections of the nation. The other day some 60 million dollars was assigned to the construction of a highway in Pennsylvania. New York has been given tunnels, bridges, highways. Probably the contribution to the Chicago subway will not be much larger than the additional cost of the Fort Peck dam as a result of the slide of 8 million yards of earth a few weeks ago. Even before the slide took place, the cost of the dam was placed at more than 80 million dollars and from the start engineers who have studied the project have been agreed that the dam, when finished, will be of no present or future value to the nation.

For years, now, Chicago's spokesmen have been humiliated whenever they suggested that subways in Chicago were a proper object for public works expenditures. The plea that the subways would be of immense usefulness was ignored. The jockying back and forth within the last few weeks was calculated to impress the voters of Chicago with the superior intelligence and integrity of Mr. Ickes and his entourage and the inferiority of Chicago's engineers and public officials. There is nothing in Mr. Ickes' reputation, and less in his attainments, to support this claim, but he has made it, and in the terms which he has imposed upon the Chicago community he has virtually required the city's representatives to confess that they are contemptible.

The price was high, particularly as the 18 million dollar "gift" is our own money. There is reason to hope that the subways will offer a considerable improvement in local transportation though it is obvious that many times as much must be spent before the city will possess a modern system. Chicagoans have reason to be pleased that a start is now to be made, but there is no justification for the belief, if any hold it, that the traction problem has been solved. The elevated loop will remain as an eyesore and a nuisance, and little will have been accomplished to reduce congestion on the streets.

THE CZECHS' POLITICAL MISTAKE.

The resignation of Benes brings a presidential election to Czechoslovakia in circumstances disturbed not only by the loss of territory and the pendency of unsettled frontier disputes but also by electoral complications. The Czechoslovakian president is elected by the assembly and, of course, numerous deputies have lost their seats because their constituencies are no longer represented in the republic. Eligibility to vote is the first question to be decided.

It may have been profoundly unfortunate for the Czechoslovakians that they did not relate their chief office a little more directly to popular suffrage. Dr. Masaryk, the first president and chief founder of the new nation, had American experiences and knew the American form of government. Although our own electoral college still theoretically stands between the people and the office, nevertheless it is for the most part so shadowy that the people actually feel that they are voting for the President and they completely ignore the electors.

Not only do the people feel that way but, and this is more important, the politicians feel that way. The vote of the electoral college has, and it conceivably might again, determine an election. But it is not in the feeling of any American that he is voting for men who will choose a President, nor is it the feeling of the politicians that the people are electing electors. The result has been, although this is only one illustration of the causes, that American politics has been extraordinarily sensitive to racial and language values. This holds true throughout political action, from the smallest localities to the largest political unit.

Probably no other influence has had more to do with the rapid Americanization of foreign born or foreign derived elements in the American population. The consideration granted the newcomers has been altogether practical from the politicians' point of view and it is supposed to have led to political maneuvering not without its disadvantages. But preëminently it has tended to integrate rather than disintegrate the nation. Where a community has a large section of population of foreign derivation the political recognition granted that group has indicated to its members that they were part of the American republic and received as such.

The complaint with which the Sudeten German question really began was that the German minority did not share equitably in the public service of the Czechoslovakian republic. The Germans had representation but they didn't get patronage. They didn't get offices.

Nothing else so ties a man to a government as a government job. If the Sudeten Germans had been cultivated politically by the politicians of Prague, the way a different language group would have been cultivated by American politicians, it is possible that Nazi Germany would have had a great deal of trouble in persuading the Sudetens that they should separate from a land in which they were sitting pretty to join a land where their future might not be so rosy.

Every man with a good job would have opposed it, and if American politics had been in operation the men with the good jobs would have been the men who would have had the most influence with other people. Probably there was too short a time in the life of the new republic for such political influences to develop and assert themselves. If the presidency had been more directly related to the popular vote the influence might have developed more rapidly. What we call practical politics has defects so glaring that they obtrude all over the place, but many of the practices admirably fit the processes of democracy, and if they didn't so fit it they would be discarded.

LINDBERGH IN EUROPE.

Lindbergh had been a guest of the Russian air men and later was a guest of the Germans. Between the visit to Moscow and the visit to Berlin, Europe walked up to the edge of war and backed away again. The American flyer in Russia was where he could form an opinion of the condition of Russian aviation, and the Russians, hearing reports that he carried information back to England and spilled it at a party given by the Astors, assumed the truth of statements that he said the soviets could not be relied upon in the air against the Germans. Consequently the Russians denounced him. The communist vocabulary of vituperation is one of the best in the world and no punches were pulled.

It is no secret that the British are afraid of the air. There is every reason why they should be. As between German troops in Sudetenland and German planes over London, Mr. Chamberlain had no hesitancy in choice. London can go about its business peaceably with German troops in the German speaking regions of Czechoslovakia. The British know that they cannot now defend themselves against air attacks and the government did not intend to try the game if it possibly could avoid it.

Lindbergh may have said that he didn't think much of Russian aviation. He gets a great deal of publicity and he is not particularly well equipped to avoid its difficulties. Any man of reputation as a flyer would have been in a delicate position visiting various countries on the verge of war, going from one to another when they were all calculating what would be the consequences to themselves if they could not stop the approach of hostilities. A more prudent or thoughtful man would have remained at home.

Russia has played a destructive part in European and Asiatic affairs of late. It has had certain agreements and alliances upon which a balance of power and an international status were based. It met its obligations to these treaties and understandings by turning loose a terror upon its highest military and naval command which destroyed all the confidence of its allies and emboldened its enemies. No one could have any respect for the military efficiency of a country which persistently and continuously shot its commanders and filled its army and navy with political agents, secret police, and military spies. Russia first gave a vote of no confidence in its military forces; and much of what has happened in Asia and Europe can be attributed to the internal brutalities which have cost Russia the respect even of nations which depended on it to help preserve a peace arrangement.

Russia is not alone in trying to put the responsibility for its actions on somebody else. Great Britain, which is now tightening its censorship until it begins to have a complete Nazi appearance, presumably has in the present situation what it wants. It is therefore unseemly for Englishmen of high position to seek as they do, Lord Hugh Cecil affording one instance, to blame the United States for its actions. The United States has yet to see in anything that is happening in China or in Europe any reason why its young men should be toting rifles on foreign shores. The United States is not the keeper of the British empire and it would be well if more Englishmen would concede the fact.

Editorial of the Day

THE COST OF RELIEF.

[The Bloomington Daily Pantagraph.]

There are still some communities in Illinois which "take care of their own" in these times of general necessity for public relief.

Monroe county, for instance, one of the smaller counties in the southwestern part of the state, has taken care of its needy families with its own property taxes without a cent of help from the state, since November, 1936. This fact is confirmed by John C. Watson, director of taxation of the Illinois Agricultural association.

Throughout these twenty-one months, Monroe county citizens have been paying their retail sales tax, the same as those in other counties. One-third of this tax goes to relief, but Monroe county's share of that relief fund has been apportioned to other counties, while Monroe uses its own property tax for relief.

There are some other counties in the state which, while not making quite as good a showing as Monroe, still have a record of self-support in relief for a shorter term of months. Wabash county has been carrying its own load for twelve months, Richland and Calhoun for eleven months, and other counties have been without state aid for periods varying from one to eight months. These include Ford, Brown, Carroll, Cumberland, Henry, Edwards, Jasper, Johnson, Kendall, McHenry, Menard, Stark, Union, and Woodford.

There are individual townships, some 900 in number, outside of the counties named, which have carried their own relief load.

Mr. Watson is of the opinion that counties which carry their own load are inclined to be more careful to avoid waste in relief, for it is easy to loosen the reins when "state money" is used. Mr. Watson says that in the future an increasingly large proportion of local taxation may be required to rate any state aid.

PARROT HUNTING IN CHICAGO.

The parrot hunters who gallantly went over the top at the Linemaster's word of command [10-11-'38] may fall back in good order, for Smarty has been found, sitting on a 53d street curbstone in the gray dawn. A small boy brought him back soon after the call was issued, and our friends, the Jack McDonalds of Kimbark avenue, are enjoying his psittacine conversation again. Thanks to Ira N. Fass for a quick tipoff on an exotic bird seen consorting with a disreputable crowd of sparrows in the 7900 block of Kimbark avenue. It might have been Smarty, but it's probably a parrakeet from the bird shelter on the wooded island in Jackson park. A colony of such fugitives from bird cages has been observed there.

INDIAN SUMMER.

So secretly they'd leave before the dawn
That no dark face was seen nor hunter's bow;
But they grew careless then and left their traces
When they no longer feared a crowding foe.
The smoke of council fires lingered there
About the woods and in the autumn air,
And gently floating from low hanging branches,
Catching gleams of sun, were strands of hair.
The bushy oaks were tipped and tinged with red
Where a warrior's painted body glided past
Moving farther west to fresher land
And hunting grounds fulfilling dreams at last.

Again their spirits move about the wood,
And still the smoke and silky gleams are seen
And leaves made scarlet by disbanding braves
Moving to lands where forest loving souls convene.

Inclosing a Violet.

Cruller Mystery Thickens.

There is absolutely no resemblance between crullers and French doughnuts, neither in shape, material, nor taste. A cruller is properly what is here called a twisted doughnut.

Thieves' Jargon.

I am out to the county jail when they bring in "Lik's" prisoner [10-10-'38]. This is what I heard him say:

"I'm in a near and far and getting some gay and frisky and feeling pretty high so I start up the fields of wheat looking for some bees and honey. I sees a nice rattle and jar with a big easterkay in it so I snatch it and get to the corner when I sees a bottle and stopper at my hammer and tack; so I takes it on the duffy. He pulls his heat and I stops and to think that in the easterkay 5 grands' worth of supers. I offer the heber coke a 100 line but he's wrong and won't cop, so in the can I go, and there's a kite out for me at Jeff City."

40 and Fat.

[Partial glossary: "Fields of wheat" means "street"; "bottle and stopper" means "copper"; "hammer and tack" means "back"; the word "line" after any numeral means one-half of it. This is a form of thieves' jargon which, the Linemaster believes, originated in Australia.]

CURTAIL SMOKING IN PEPTIC ULCER.

EVERY one with a peptic ulcer [stomach or duodenum] wants to bring about recovery as speedily as possible. In consequence, he is quite willing to follow his physician's instructions as to rest and diet. If his medical adviser discusses with him the nature of the problem [and he should] he will point out that one of the things that must be overcome is too much hydrochloric acid in the stomach, which is likely to hinder healing. Whenever this substance is present persistently in excessive amounts it may keep the area in a state of constant irritation, as though a scratch on the hand were rubbed continually. In such circumstances new cells cannot form, or if they do they will be destroyed or washed away promptly.

For this reason various drugs are given to neutralize the surplus. While the digestive juice is thus rendered less efficient, its erosive power on raw surfaces is also lessened. In fact, the plan is considered essential in the medical treatment of peptic ulcer.

For many years physicians have been inclined to advise these victims not to smoke on the ground that the use of tobacco is inclined to stimulate the secretion of acid. Those who inhale observe enhanced contractions of the stomach wall, which may continue for 15 to 20 minutes. The activity is followed by a period of relaxation, or atony, which may last for a full hour. Thus smoking is rarely prudent before meals and the phenomenon explains fully the behavior of the stomach when the one who is hungry "reaches for" a cigaret rather than beginning his meal. Appetite actually is augmented temporarily through added gastric movements, but even though the meal is taken it may lie dormant for quite some time before contractility will be resumed.

But the question comes, "Does smoking occasion an increase in the proportion of acid?" In recent experiments by Rosenblum, with 15 of 19 patients suffering from duodenal ulcer, a single cigaret brought about a considerable rise in the free acid in the gastric juice. This was noted within twenty minutes. But the effect was not uniform because in six patients there was a decrease in the total quantity produced.

Twenty-three normal persons then were tested and in no one of the group did the acid fail to appear in larger measure. After eating, the oversupply is rather promptly absorbed—that is, it is combined with the food particles. Of the influence upon the empty stomach there seems to be no doubt but that this practice may aggravate an ulcer—all of which will make the management of the problem more difficult.

We may explain the situation as a nervous reflex as it has been shown that nicotine—in and of itself—in the small degree found in a single cigaret cannot irritate the mucous lining of the structure directly. It can, however, affect the sympathetic nervous system, which in turn will stimulate the secreting cells in the gastric pouch. We know, too, that capillaries will contract as a result of a nervous impulse initiated by nicotine to such an extent that the lessening of the caliber can be measured. All of the patients in Rosenblum's series were heavy cigaret users.

At one time tobacco was numbered among the common causes, particularly of ulcer of the duodenum. While it is true that many who develop these lesions have indulged immoderately for years nevertheless chronic addicts to the weed may never be bothered. There probably is a tendency, however, toward ulcer formation due to the fact that acidity is raised—at least temporarily.

It is unsafe to draw hard and fast conclusions. There are so many factors having to do with the origin and persistence of the malady that we may look upon the rôle of nicotine as not causative but interfering somewhat with recovery once a lesion has become manifest.

TREATING PROSTATE GLAND.

E. K. writes:

1. What causes a soft prostate in a man under 40?
2. What are the symptoms?
3. What is the cure?

REPLY.

1. The normal gland is soft and not unduly tender. If it is sensitive to pressure, infection may be the cause.
2. Symptoms of prostate trouble include a feeling of weight in the perineum, not particularly painful; a desire to empty the bladder more frequently than is the usual custom; blood in the urine; excessive fatigue; backache.
3. For the inflamed prostate, hot sitz baths, massage of the structure, and hot rectal irrigations are advised. Massage is useful in expressing pus and bacteria. Removal in part or in toto is recommended when obstruction interferes with the normal emptying of the bladder.

SALT AND ULCERS.

J. K. S. writes: If salt is used in huge amounts for seasoning food, will that practice cause stomach ulcers?

REPLY.

Probably not, although large quantities tend to hold a substantial amount of water in the system. This may lead to the swelling of certain tissues, hence loss of resistance.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

HIS PLACE IN HISTORY.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 12.—A hundred years hence, when our descendants are still being taxed to pay for his reckless borrowing and squandering, Franklin D. Roosevelt will be remembered as the President who bonded the unborn to buy the votes of the unfit. FRANK PUTNAM.

KEEPING AMERICA AMERICAN.

Winona Lake, Ind., Oct. 12.—Your editorials regarding the constitution and the government are vital, stimulating, important, timely. The one on "The Three Pillars of the New Deal" is worthy of high appreciation. Many readers rejoice because you are doing so much to keep America American—and doing it so well.

PARLEY E. ZARTMANN,
National Evangelistic Bureau.

Chicago, Oct. 11.—I want to commend you for Mr. Orr's cartoon on the "Pillars of the New Deal" in the issue of yesterday. It is one of the most accurate and graphic portrayals of present conditions and influences at Washington that THE TRIBUNE has thus far produced. I should put it at the top or Mr. Orr's many excellent cartoons. I can make essentially the same statement relative to the editorial under the same heading.

E. J. DAVIS,
Better Government Association.

A VOICE FROM THE SOUTH SIDE.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Looking at the map in this morning's paper, it seems to me we are getting a subway for the north shore suburbanites rather than for Chicagoans. SOUTH SIDER.

NIGHT LIFE IN NEW ALBANY.

Murphysboro, Ill., Oct. 10.—Having read THE TRIBUNE for more than thirty years, I feel that I might consistently be called a member of the family. I therefore take this opportunity of congratulating you upon the cartoon on the first page, and the editorial in connection with the same [Pillars of the New Deal].

For years I have been attending the "Kentucky Derby" and made my stopping place in New Albany. Naturally the opportunity was offered to take in the night life in that vicinity and the places mentioned all had the earmarks of protection.

This letter is written to suggest that the Indiana Republican committee make a campaign document of your cartoon and editorial, and distribute it to the voters of the state. It undoubtedly would be the strongest argument that could be conceived for the purpose.

CHARLES L. RITTER.

HE'S FOR TOWNSEND PLAN.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—Both political parties may as well face the fact that sooner or later the Townsend plan will sweep the country. If the Republicans want to win they better climb on board and adopt it. With every state now advocating impractical plans which cannot work, reasonable persons are giving consideration to the only feasible plan.

It will support itself and not strain government finances. It will absolutely do away with depressions, put all the unemployed to work, and both big and small businesses will thrive.

N. W. HELM.

IN THE RED: BLACK LATER?

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Why don't you print daily at the top of the front page in large red letters a line stating the amount of the debt of your government, and beneath it another line in red color, stating the amount of the deficit of the present year?

Think of the effect upon the nation should a day arrive when you publishers would point with pride to the change of color of those two lines.

A CONSTANT READER.

THEY DISAPPROVE.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—Schizophrenia—Jekyll-Hyde psychosis—can only explain the Orr Monday's pollution and THE TRIBUNE'S inane diatribe versus an aroused American people's New Deal.

Not only do these scandalous contortions smirch even an armored, sophisticated soul but physically their putridity was disgusting, ad nauseam.

THE TRIBUNE and the writer, long pals, have come to a final parting of the ways. Sorry! F. E. F.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—Allow me to voice my opinion of the cartoons in your paper by Orr. They are disgusting in every way to the thinking American citizen. Do you still believe that the worker of today will fall for your bunk cartoons and editorials? Wake up; the worker and farmer have. T. HARTMAN.

ANYTHING WRONG HERE?

Chicago, Oct. 11.—I am a taxpayer. When my wife broke her leg I did not have the money to send her to a pay hospital; so off to the County hospital she had to go.

Now here is a man and wife, on charity since 1930, first on United Charities, second on the county, third on general relief. They sent his wife to a pay hospital for an operation. Now the husband is in a pay hospital for an operation, and they even went so far as to get them both a new set of teeth. Now this man won't work—not even on WPA. Just at odd jobs now and then. He has been living in a man's house since '32 and hasn't paid a cent of rent. The owner is trying to get him out of his home for over a month and he says the state tells him not to move. Is there something wrong here or is it just a political pull? MR. AND MRS. H.

TELLS THE REAL STORY.

Park Ridge, Oct. 10.—Your cartoon today is a masterpiece of Orr's and tells the real story. You should repeat this cartoon at least one a week and your comment, like your editorial today, should be immediately below the cartoon. Keep up the good work.

A. L. COLEMAN.

ESTATE PROPERTY.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My mother died leaving a small estate to heirs, A and B [B is myself], also C and D. D was made administrator. A wished to buy out the shares of B, C, and D. B and C agreed to sell for $700 each. Then D was killed in an accident and [1] left minor heir E. A has herself made administratrix with consent of B and C and guardian of D.

Then [2] instead of settling out of court as planned A and the guardian of E [3] cause the property to be put up at [4] public sale and sold [5] without the knowledge of B.

6. A buys the property for $4,075 and, after wrangling around court, gives A deed for the property and A just pays B the $700 as promised, when it was to be settled out of court.

7. Was it legal to sell the property without first notifying B?

8. If B shares court expenses with the others shouldn't B share in selling price of $4,400, instead of deducting the $108 from the $700 [9] that B agreed to sell for with the understanding that there would be no expense to pay? C. W.

1. This would prevent settling without court proceedings.
2. See 1.
3. Where owners of undivided interests in real estate cannot agree, any one of them is entitled to force a division or a public sale by partition proceedings. The cost of such proceedings, including the complainant's solicitor's fees, are chargeable against the proceeds of sale.
4. and 5. These statements seem inconsistent with one another. Do you mean that the statutory notice was not given?
6. You do not make clear whether the sale was under statutory proceedings in the probate court to pay debts, or was a partition sale. In general, an administrator is not permitted to purchase at his own sale.
7. Clearly partition proceedings would be legally authorized. The propriety of proceedings to pay debts would depend on facts as to the debts.
8. Yes.
9. We agree that the settlement either should be on the basis of the agreement, or it should completely ignore the agreement.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PROBATE.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father died recently without having made a will. My mother survives and five children, all unmarried. We [the children] make no claim on the estate, and I am told all we need do is to get together and put this statement in writing and sign same, in order to give everything to mother. Is that right? If so what is done with such a statement and where is it filed? F. C. D.

The necessity for probate would depend largely on the nature and extent of the assets. If there is no real estate and if your mother can reduce the personal property to possession without probate, then, in general, we see no necessity for probate.

JAPS CAPTURE TOWN; PUSH ON TOWARD CANTON

Nippon Bombs Kill 200 on Chinese Boat.

HONGKONG, Oct. 14 [Friday].—(AP)—Japan's newest war machine struck sharply into the South China interior today to occupy Tamshui, 12 miles from Bias bay, where the expeditionary force of 40,000 men landed Wednesday. Canton reports included Chinese admissions of loss of the town.

The Japanese forces continued their drive toward Waichow as preparations were made in Canton to evacuate the city's women and children. The Canton municipal and provincial governments were ready to leave Canton for the interior, probably for Yungyuen, 90 miles to the north.

Japanese warplanes meanwhile, taking off from aircraft carriers in Bias bay and from Sancho Island near Macao, continued devastating raids throughout Kwangtung province.

In the vicinity of Waichow and Tamshui they concentrated on wrecking bridges and ferreting out military reinforcements of the Chinese.

Bombs Hit Cargo Boats.

Chinese reports from Canton said the bombardments took a heavy toll and that more than 200 were killed or wounded when bombs hit a cluster of cargo boats on the Tsing river in Kukong.

The Chinese said their troops established new positions north of Tamshui after heavy fighting, in which they were beaten back principally by the pressure of airplane attacks.

One segment of the Japanese force was nearing Pingshan on the highway to Waichow, which connects by water with Canton. Another column struck due west from Tamshui in a 20 mile drive to cut the railway at a point about 20 miles from Hongkong frontiers.

Hankow Sends Rescue Troops.

The central Chinese government was reported to have decided on energetic assistance of Kwangtung provincial troops against Japan's invasion of South China and to have dispatched several new central army divisions to the new war zone.

Some reports said ten divisions in all were en route from the Hankow front to Canton.

Meanwhile the Kwangtung army, recruited from the rice fields and drawn from regular training grounds, was hastily arraying itself to confront the Japanese.

Landing Not Finished.

Military observers here believed the Japanese were not yet finished with their landing operations.

From Tamshui the invaders would be in position for a thrust west to cut the Kowloon-Canton railway. The railway is an artery for military supplies bound for the Chinese interior and for food and other supplies out of Kwangtung to sustain Hongkong, the British crown colony. Tamshui is about 15 miles from the boundary of the British colony and 75 air miles southeast of Canton.

Estimates of the number of men under arms in the Kwangtung army ranged from 500,000 to 1,000,000.

The Japanese yesterday relied largely on aviation to eliminate resistance from the hills along Bias bay. These positions were bombed relentlessly and there were heavy bombardments elsewhere in Kwangtung, concentrated particularly on transport facilities. One observer counted 123 planes passing over Canton.

Japanese navy bombers caused 2,000 casualties among Chinese troops on Wednesday, and destroyed 60 truckloads of munitions and supplies in raids to cut Canton railways, a Japanese naval spokesman said.

The United States gunboat Mindanao returned to Canton yesterday after a trip to Hongkong for provisions.

The Pearl [Canton] river was ordered closed to trafic last evening and it was expected barriers would be sunk in the stream by today. A number of foreign refugees already have reached Hongkong.

Yangtze Navy Advances.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 14.—[Friday.]—A Japanese spokesman said victory was approaching rapidly in the Yangtze river campaign toward Hankow, the military capital of the Chinese central government.

Land and naval forces opened a fierce attack yesterday on Sihchaishan fort, just 60 miles air line southeast of Hankow, while a force on the Peking-Hankow railway continued its onslaught to open the way for a 100 mile southward advance along the railroad to Hankow.

COLLIE ADAMS.

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The romance of the son of a wealthy art dealer and a pretty taxi dancer was disclosed today when his family revealed that H. Russell Goode, 20 year old son of Henry A. Goode, and Collie Ives Adams eloped and were married June 24 at Elkton, Md.

The romance began at the Orpheum ballroom, where young Goode appeared nightly, dancing only with Miss Adams. The son is now working as a bank clerk. He had attended St. George's school, Newport, R. I., and had planned to enter college.

Assistant Street Chief Slugged by Two Robbers

William J. Galligan, assistant superintendent of the city bureau of streets, was roughly handled by two strongarm bandits last night as he was walking near his home at 6858 Crandon avenue. They threw him to the ground and robbed him of $50, a watch worth $70, a $50 check, and a gold star presented to him by fellow employés several years ago. Galligan is 60 years old. He was taken to his home suffering from bruises and shock. He has been a city employé thirty years.

JAPS THREATEN TO SEIZE FOREIGN AREAS IN CHINA

Warn Powers to Cease Aid Given Gen. Chiang.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 14.—[Friday.]—(AP)—High officers of the Japanese army declared today Japan was prepared to take extreme measures to end what they termed assistance to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek by third powers.

Speaking informally but forcefully, these officers pointed their remarks at foreign controlled areas along the China coast, especially the international settlements in Shanghai and Tientsin.

They said anti-Japanese and pro-Chinese activities were carried on with the "sufferance of foreign administrations."

Acts Must Be Stopped.

Bluntly the army men said that the powers concerned should be warned these activities must be stopped and if the warning went unheeded they should be told the Japanese army was considering seizure of foreign concessions where there were movements displeasing Japan.

These sources said Britain and France "have been consistently unfriendly in this regard," but "the United States has remained neutral, which Japan appreciates."

The army men said they hoped third powers concerned in South China would "coöperate" with the Japanese army.

Blame French and British.

TOKIO, Oct. 13.—(AP)—There is a popular belief here, supported to some extent by press comment, that British and French aid to China through Canton necessitated the South China offensive begun in Kwangtung province on Wednesday.

The newspaper Nichi Nichi said:

"Both British and French should recognize their shortsighted view is responsible for expansion of the fighting."

The newspaper Kokumin said:

"The British purpose in holding far eastern fleet maneuvers off Hongkong [last summer] was quite evident to Japan. . . . The mere existence of operations in South China is sufficient warning to those powers who are extending assistance to China."

Double Load on a Bicycle Called a Menace to Trafic

Two persons on one bicycle constitute a trafic menace, Chief of Police Theodore L. Svoboda of Cicero said yesterday. He will present a recommendation to the town council Monday evening for an ordinance to prohibit more than one person on a bicycle within the town limits.

COUPLE IN CAR KIDNAPED AND ROBBED OF $92

Le Roy J. Kenevel, vice president of the Frederick H. Bartlett real estate concern, and a companion, Miss Marie Mangum, were kidnaped and robbed by four jittery bandits early yesterday. Kenevel lives at 1642 East 56th street. He had just driven Miss Mangum to her home at 7000 South Shore drive when the bandits drove up.

Two of them got in Kenevel's car and drove to 70th street and Oglesby avenue. They took $92—$80 from Kenevel and $12 from Miss Mangum. The bandits then fled in their car, dropping a pair of glasses as they left.

Dillinger's Ex-Prison Mate Freed as Robbery Suspect

William Donohue, a former prison mate of John Dillinger, was released in Felony court yesterday. He had been held on a fugitive warant for return to Waukesha, Wis., as the robber wounded there last fall by a railroad detective. But ballistic tests showed that the bullet lodged in his arm was not fired by the detective. Donohue lives at 1941 Warren avenue.

MUNICIPAL JOB SWINDLER GETS ONE YEAR TERM

Nate Kurtzman used to tell the boys he was from the mayor's office and could get them jobs. Two years ago he got $60 from John Theron, 1334 Van Buren street, on his promise to find Theron work in the "Municipal hospital." Then Kurtzman disappeared. Last Friday Theron recognized Kurtzman in the loop and had him arrested. In South State street court yesterday Kurtzman pleaded guilty to obtaining money under false pretenses. He was sentenced to a year in the Bridewell.

'BLACK OUT' 66 CAROLINA TOWNS IN MOCK AIR RAID

Civilians Warn as Enemy Bombers Are Heard.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Bragg, N. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—A North Carolina area of 15,000 square miles was plunged into darkness for 45 minutes tonight in the largest simulated air raid defense test ever conducted in this country.

Lights were turned out or shielded in 66 cities and villages as radios, telephones, sirens, and church bells spread the blackout alarm. The alarm signalized the approach of six Black enemy bombing planes, roaring in from seaward.

2,000 Civilians Take Part.

A warning net of 307 stations manned by 2,000 civilians had maintained an eight hour vigil each day for four days in preparation for the test. When the enemy planes passed over Cape Hatteras and headed inland, ground sections in that area reported the ships to Blue defense headquarters at Fort Bragg, the objective of the raid. The blackout orders then were relayed to telephone operators in towns and villages.

The warning net gave defense headquarters more than an hour's warning of the raid, and under similar conditions in real war the attacking bombers probably would have been routed.

A Brilliant Spectacle.

The invaders curtailed their attack over the fort to enable a concentrated exhibition of the defenders' search lights. The 27 giant lights, each with 800,000 candle power, made a brilliant spectacle, and the sky was a checkerboard of illumination.

Civilians throughout the area coöperated eagerly, in the main, although lights were visible in some farmhouses and on some automobiles. Lights in villages and factories were extinguished quickly.

The raiding planes were from Langley Field, Va.

U. S. WIRE BOARD FIRES ITS LAWYER BY VOTE OF 4 TO 2

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The communications commission, by a vote of 4 to 2, removed Hampson Gary as its general counsel today.

Chairman Frank R. McNinch, who has been shaking up the commission to reduce what he described as internal friction, voted with the majority. He previously had asked Gary to resign. Commissioners T. A. M. Craven and George Henry Payne voted against removing Gary.

Gary, 65 years old, was a veteran in the diplomatic service before joining the communications commission several years ago, and McNinch has been represented as eager to place a younger man in the position. William J. Dempsey, who is in his 30s, was named acting general counsel to succeed Gary.

FLAMES MENACE MINNESOTA AND ONTARIO TOWNS

International Falls, Minn., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Forest fires fanned by a brisk wind today endangered three communities on the Minnesota-Ontario boundary. More than 2,000 men fought the flames.

Wind carried the fire within eight blocks of the residential section of International Falls. All fire fighting equipment in the city was brought to the area, and high school students were excused from classes to join the work.

The villages of La Vallee and Devlin, Ont., also were endangered, and residents stood ready to move out. The fire disabled wire communications with the villages.

Restaurant Blast Jolts Diners, Smashes Windows

Diners and employés in Thompson's restaurant at 1030 Wilson avenue were severely jarred early today by the explosion of a boiler in the basement. Windows were smashed and many glasses, cups, and plates were broken. Windows in several cars outside were also broken. A small fire followed the explosion, but was quickly put out by the fire department. Police said the damage probably amounted to several hundred dollars, confined mostly to glass.

NEW STEP TAKEN TO PUT MEDICINE UNDER U. S. RULE

Set Up Medical Loan Fund for Dakotas.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Another step toward the administration's ambition to socialize medicine in the United States was taken today. The Farm Security administration announced that arrangements have been made to lend $2 a month for medical attention to needy farm families in the Dakotas.

The FSA insisted that the medical profession would not be hurt by the plan, arguing that the state medical associations of North and South Dakota are coöperating in the program. However, it was pointed out by observers familiar with the New Deal medical program that the setup provided for distribution of the funds paves the way for government control of medicine. The New Deal is unofficially committed to socialized medicine, the first move having been made several months ago when monopoly proceedings were started against the American Medical association.

77,000 Families Affected.

Seventy-seven thousand farm families will participate in the FSA program, according to Dr. W. W. Alexander, administrator. About 37,000 families in North Dakota and 40,000 in South Dakota will be affected.

Those to be benefited must come from families who already have received aid from the FSA. Each family which signs will receive a loan of $16, the equivalent of $2 a month for the remainder of the fiscal year. The signers will not receive the money personally. It will be credited to them through a so-called special corporation to be set up in each state. The corporations will be composed of federal officials and officials of state medical associations.

Applicants for medical attention may choose their own physician, dentist, or nurse, but the bills submitted for medical services must be approved by the corporation.

Fund Allocation Arranged.

Each corporation will allocate a part of the fund each month among the physicians, dentists, hospitals, pharmacists, and nurses.

Participating associations in North Dakota have agreed that 51 per cent of the funds shall go to the physicians, 37 per cent to the hospitals, 8 per cent to dentists, and 4 per cent for medicines and nursing.

In South Dakota 51 per cent will go to physicians, 30 per cent to hospitals, 15 per cent to dentists, 3 per cent for medicine, and 1 per cent for home nursing.

"The plan preserves the patient's right to a free choice of his physician," said Dr. R. C. Williams, medical director of the FSA.

E. C. SEGAR, WHO CREATED 'POPEYE, THE SAILOR,' DIES

Santa Monica, Cal., Oct. 13.—(AP)—E. C. Segar, 44 years old, artist and creator of the comic strip character, Popeye the Sailor, died at his home here tonight after an illness of six months. He recently had undergone an operation for removal of his spleen, but had grown steadily worse, lapsing into a coma last night.

Born in Camptown, Ill., in 1894, Segar got his artistic start there as a house painter, assisting his father. Then he became a sign painter.

Hearing of fabulous salaries paid to cartoonists, he drew a cartoon and sent it to a St. Louis newspaper. It was returned. Not discouraged, he paid $20 for a correspondence course. With the mail order diploma he set out for Chicago.

There R. F. Outcault, creator of comic strips, obtained a position for him on the Chicago Herald. Later he was employed by a New York syndicate. There he created several comic strips.

"Popeye, the Sailor," was born in 1929, nine years after Segar moved to California.

Surviving Segar, besides his widow, are a son and daughter, Tommy, 12, and Marie, 15.

OFFERS BUSINESS TO HIS WIFE TO AVOID JAIL TERM

Another husband offered to give his business to his wife yesterday if she'd promise not to send him to alimony row. It didn't work for two reasons: His business is a barber shop that she felt she couldn't manage, and he was already behind the bars when he thought about it.

The husband is Joseph Spektor, 1301 South Spaulding avenue. His wife, Mollie, of 1307 South Kedzie avenue, is suing for separate maintenance. Her attorney, Irving Eisenman, told Judge Robert C. O'Connell that Spektor had reduced his $10 a week temporary alimony payments to $6, although twice forbidden by the court to do so.

The judge sent Spektor to jail. When the doors had clanged behind him Spektor tried to bargain.

OPEN 3 WAY QUIZ IN TRAIN BLAST; 3 DIE, 2 INJURED

Low Water Is Blamed in Tragedy.

Low water in the boiler of a locomotive pulling ninety-nine empty freight cars, was blamed by Milwaukee railroad officials yesterday for an explosion which killed three trainmen and injured two others. The accident occurred earlier in the day three miles northwest of Elgin.

The men killed were George Nelson, 60 years old, 5435 Thomas street, the engineer; John P. Mangan, 45, of 1712 Natchez avenue, the fireman, and George Hachtel, 47, of 202 North State street, Elgin, a brakeman. Those injured were Ambrose Grady, 2329 North Newland avenue, the conductor, and Walter Darr, of Bensenville, a brakeman.

Railroad and interstate commerce commission officials are conducting an investigation. Preliminary survey showed that there was an adequate water supply in the tender tank. Water from this tank is fed into the boiler by means of an injector. Coroner L. V. Peterson of Kane county ordered an inquest to be held this morning in Elgin.

FRANCE ORDERS CENSORSHIP ON NEWS BROADCAST

PARIS, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Premier Daladier's government today established virtual censorship over news broadcasts from eleven of France's largest privately owned radio stations.

An order published in the official journal, without explanation, brought not only news broadcasts of political affairs but those on economic and financial matters under the government broadcasting service.

The measure applies to four large Paris stations and seven key regional stations. Radio in France is a combination of private and state ownership, with the government communications ministry operating a network in competition with private stations.

Under the new setup stations affected are required to submit to the government daily the "full text" of "anything concerning news broadcasts or presenting a political, economic, or financial character."

ELECTION BOARD FORESTALLS GARY DEMOCRAT SPLIT

A split in the ranks of Gary Democrats at the Nov. 8 election was forestalled yesterday when a third party's petition for a place on the ballot was thrown out by the Lake county board of election commissioners.

The third, or Citizens' party slate, was headed by Attorney Kenneth E. Parmelee as candidate for mayor. Parmelee, a Democrat, said his name was used without his consent and asked that it be withdrawn.

The board's ruling said the party petition carried an insufficient number of signatures and that it was illegally and fraudulently filed.

He lived with his wife, Blanche, and an infant son, Thomas Jr., at 7945 Blackstone avenue.

COURTNEY TO ASK REHEARING IN TAX APPROVAL CASE

A petition for rehearing of the case in which the Illinois Supreme court invalidated the tax preadjudication act will be filed in Springfield tomorrow by State's Attorney Courtney. The act provided for court approval of tax levies of the local governments in Chicago before tax bills are sent out. It was designed to assure uniform treatment of all taxpayers and remove discrimination against small property owners who have no way to avoid paying illegal taxes.

The court threw out the act last month on the grounds that it did not provide adequate notice to taxpayers. The rehearing petition is being prepared by Assistant State's Attorneys William J. Tuohy and Jacob Shamberg. It asserts the court erred in its finding and that recent suits under the provisions of the act proved that taxpayers had adequate notice.

COMPANY LAYS WOES TO LABOR LAW CONFUSION

Alderman Assail C. I. O. at Hearing.

A corporation with a Chicago business of more than $1,000,000 a year blamed confusion caused by the Wagner labor act yesterday for conditions which may force the institution out of the city.

The corporation is the Illinois District Telegraph company, which supplies burglary and fire watch service to business houses. The electrical workers' union, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, demands that no new franchise be granted the company unless its employés are unionized.

Referring to this demand, John L. Campbell, the company's attorney, told a city council subcommittee:

"We do not know under the Wagner act what rights of our employés are involved. We do not want to intimidate our men."

Can't Assure A. F. of L. Union.

For that reason, Campbell said, the company could give no assurance that the men would choose the American Federation of Labor as their bargaining agent.

The subcommittee therefore voted to recommend that the new franchise asked by the company be given to the Potter Electric company of St. Louis. The Potter company employs A. F. of L. workers and offered to pay the city 6 per cent of its gross income, one per cent more than the I D. T. pays. The subcommittee, headed by Ald. H. L. Brody [39th], is a part of the committee on utilities.

The I. D. T. company' franchise has expired, but it has continued paying the franchise fee of approximately $55,000 a year. The franchise is required because the company's communication lines are laid beneath the city streets in city tunnels.

Contracts in Other Cities.

Michael J. Boyle, boss of the electrical workers' union, reminded Campbell that the I. D. T. has contracts with A. F. of L. unions in other cities. Campbell replied that his company also deals with the Committee for Industrial Organization. This brought Ald. Thomas J. Terrell [29th] to his feet.

"Evidently the company is using the C. I. O. suggestion as a veiled threat," he said. "I have always regarded the C. I. O. as a Red communist organization. Rather than have a city contract with a company involving the C. I. O. I would see these men unorganized for the next 100 years."

Campbell denied he was using the C. I. O. as a threat.

PROTEST AGAINST MEETING OF BUND AS UN-AMERICAN

Telegrams objecting to a meeting of the German-American Bund scheduled for Sunday in the Lincoln Turnverein hall, 1019 Diversey parkway, were sent last night to Mayor Kelly and Gov. Horner by the Nonsectarian League for Americanism. John V. Clinnin, as president of the league, signed the telegram. It called the meeting a "display of un-Americanism and alien uniforms, and the spreading of pernicious doctrins of Naziism, race hatred, and religious intolerance," and said it would tend to create disturbances and breach of the peace by an appeal to race hatred and religious intolerance.

Edward Keith-Roach, British district governor of Jerusalem, who was target in assassins' plot. Bombs were thrown at his auto.

JERUSALEM, Oct. 13.—(AP)—British authorities today ordered all inhabitants of Palestine to provide themselves with identification cards to be issued by district officials—the latest move facilitating military efforts to suppress what British call the Arab revolt. Only residents able to prove their peaceful intentions will be given cards.

The step was taken as troops established control of the Bethlehem-Hebron district, which had been the seat of operations for one of the largest Arab bands.

The British-American tobacco company's plant at Jaffa burned with a loss estimated at $120,000. Officials believed the blaze was of incendiary origin. A prominent Moslem lawyer, Hassan Sidky El Dajany, who had refused to take part in a campaign against British authorities and Jews, was shot to death. The severed heads of two Moroccan Moslems were found in a sack near Jerusalem's Damascus gate.

ALDERMEN ORDER SPEED ON MOVING AIRPORT TRACKS

The city council airport subcommittee acted yesterday to end delays in moving the railroad tracks which now prevent expansion of the Chicago airport. Joseph F. Grossman, assistant corporation counsel, was instructed to make another attempt to settle disputed points with the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad. If an agreement cannot be reached, he was told to bring in his own draft of the track removal ordinance next Wednesday.

The subcommittee tried vainly to iron out two points on which it and the railroad are not in accord. One is the question of liability after the tracks are removed. The other is the railroad's refusal to begin removing the tracks until a detailed appropriation for the work is made by the city. The appropriation cannot be made before the 1939 budget is drawn.

A. F. L. RE-ELECTS WILLIAM GREEN; TALKS OF PEACE

4 C. I. O. Unions Invited Back Into Fold.

BY JOSEPH ATOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Houston, Tex., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—William Green, elected today to his fifteenth term as president of the American Federation of Labor, extended a thorny wreath of peace to the C. I. O.

Green's language was most pacific. He made no mention of his enemy, John L. Lewis. The thorns were deftly masked in a specific invitation to four C. I. O. unions to return to the A. F. of L.—the four unions A. F. of L. leaders believe most likely to split away from the C. I. O. because of dissatisfaction with Lewis' leadership.

These are the Ladies' Garment Workers, the Textile Workers, the Auto Workers, and the Oil Field Workers.

Labor peace and world peace held the spotlight in the day's sessions, the final ones of the convention. In the morning the delegates listened without comment to another peace plea from one of President Roosevelt's appointees, Elmer F. Andrews, recently named administrator of the federal wage-hour laws.

Stands for Neutrality.

Shortly afterward they turned thumbs down on the quarantine of aggressor nations proposed by the President last year in Chicago. The federation is already on record for strict neutrality and against American participation in any foreign war.

The only reference to Lewis in the reëlection of President Green came in the nominating speech of stocky, white thatched Frank Duffy, first vice president of the A. F. of L. Duffy spoke in sentimental terms of his close friendship for Green and their 25 years of association on the executive council. He called on the convention to name Green by acclamation and then in a growl said:

"Let that be an answer to John L. Lewis, who says he will resign if Bill Green resigns from the A. F. of L. What has John Lewis to resign from? A self-appointed position as the chairman of the C. I. O."

Sounds Note of Peace.

After a seconding speech by Reuben G. Soderstrom, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, and his unanimous election amid cheers from the floor, Green arose. He spoke of the strength of the A. F. of L., at its high peak of membership, and said it has sold itself to the nation.

"I want at this time," he said, "to sound a high note of peace—peace in the labor movement and throughout the nations of the world. I will make every move in my power to make peace in the labor movement.

"This is my appeal to those who left us: Come home to the house of labor. Your quarters are as you left them. The door is open and the key has been thrown away.

"We ask the great union of Ladies Garment workers, the United Textile workers, whom we chartered, the oil workers, and the automobile workers to come back home. Peace can be restored. There are no barriers in the way."

Turns Down Lewis' Plan.

David Dubinsky, a member with Lewis and Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Garment workers of the original "Big Three" in the C. I. O. has said the Ladies Garment workers, whom he leads, will refuse to join the permanent rival national labor organization that Lewis intends to organize at Pittsburgh on Nov. 14.

The other three unions mentioned all have serious internal differences. Hillman, through the textile workers' organizing committee, has been accused of usurping control of the textile workers, whose president, Francis J. Gorman, has resigned. Lewis' aids had to step in to settle the fight over communism in the auto workers union, and there is a split among the oil field workers.

Daniel J. Tobin, head of the teamsters union, who led the peace fight in the present convention, refused to see any reservations in Green's speech. He said afterward that he expects the executive council to take steps toward renewing negotiations with the C. I. O.

Frank Morrison, venerable secretary of the federation, was reëlected for his forty-third consecutive term. He was a Chicago printer before his first election in 1896. All of the fifteen vice presidents who make up the remainder of the executive council were reëlected.

San Francisco was chosen the 1939 convention city. Chicago delegates withdrew the name of their city, announcing they would seek the 1940 meeting.

Quarantine of Nations.

The resolution on quarantine of aggressor nations was presented by the hotel and restaurant employés, and made specific reference to President Roosevelt's Chicago bridge speech a year ago. The committee on international labor relations, reporting on the resolution, declared it was "unaware that the President had ever urged united action by democracies or a quarantine." It then said:

"United action, to have real meaning, would seem to imply military action, as well as political and economic action. It is the opinion of your committee that we cannot form a judgment that would apply in all cases.

"In the recent crisis in Europe united action went almost to the point of war, and would have gone to actual war, had not a last minute compromise averted the onrush of the armies. Would the United States have joined other democracies in such a war? Your committee cannot feel sure, and if we cannot feel sure about a past incident, how much more doubtful must we be about a future incident the facts of which are as yet unformed?"

Fewkes Explains Stand.

John M. Fewkes, president of the Chicago Teachers' union, told the convention bluntly today that he was tired of having delegates look askance at him as soon as they found he was representing the American Federation of Teachers in the convention. The Chicago union has received valuable coöperation from A. F. of L. officials in the city and in Illinois in its activities in the school system, and both it and its parent federation are loyal supporters of all A. F. of L. policies, he said.

Fewkes' remarks were taken as a thinly veiled slap at Jerome Davis, former Yale divinity professor and president of the A. F. of T. The Chicago delegates defeated the attempt of Davis, at their Madison convention in 1937, to kidnap the teacher group for the C. I. O.

CHRYSLER FACTORIES PUT 8,000 ADDITIONAL EMPLOYES TO WORK

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The United Automobile Workers of America today announced an agreement with the Chrysler Motor corporation under which 8,000 additional men will be put to work in the company's plants here next week.

Members of the union, a C. I. O. affiliate, refused to work more than 32 hours last week. As a result, 15,000 employés were idle last Friday. They returned to work Monday, however.

With announcement of the agreement the union said that the 32 hour week was not an important issue. "What we wanted," said leaders, "was to get as many men back to work as possible."

Open Strike Negotiations.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Secret negotiations were under way here today between officials of the Chrysler Motor corporation and the United Automobile Workers of America on a strike which tied up two auto plants and threw 2,400 employés out of work.

HURT IN MINE; DIES.

Petersburg, Ind., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Mose Dossett, 54 years old, an employé of the Rosebud Coal mine, was dragged seventy feet down a mine shaft by a runaway coal car yesterday. He died today.

MRS. RASMUSSEN TELLS HUSBAND'S AVOWAL OF GUILT

Parents Back Her Up at Divorce Hearing.

Mrs. Ritchey Cheek Farrell Rasmussen and her parents testified yesterday that her husband, Robert V. Rasmussen, admitted to them that he had been guilty of misconduct with another woman. She is suing Rasmussen, who is vice president of the National Tea company, for divorce.

The hearing yesterday was before Master in Chancery Louis Behan in his office at 10 South La Salle street. The case was referred to the master by Judge John J. Lupe to determine how much temporary alimony Rasmussen should pay his wife while her suit is pending. She is also asking custody of their daughter, Ritchey, 6 months old.

Takes in More Territory.

The hearing, however, was not confined to the subject of alimony. Master Behan allowed Mrs. Rasmussen to go into the merits of the case. At a previous session two private detectives had told of trailing Rasmussen in Minneapolis and Duluth, Minn., last April and seeing him in company of a young woman.

Mrs. Rasmussen, 21 years old, took the stand late in the afternoon. Toying unconcernedly with her muff, she told of her marriage May 12, 1937. Then she testified that she and her husband had lived at 1430 Lake Shore drive until last February, when he went to Minneapolis on business and she joined her parents in Nashville, Tenn.

Recalls Flight to Her.

"My baby was born last April 20," she said. "The day before, my father informed my husband by long distance telephone to Minneapolis that I was going to the hospital. He came to Nashville by airplane. Later we learned that he had been with a woman in Minneapolis the day before the baby was born.

"He left Nashville after the baby was born, but returned in a few days. On April 30, after my parents had told him they knew of his misbehavior, he came into my bedroom and told of his repentance."

Earlier in the day Mrs. Rasmussen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Farrell, were witnesses on her behalf. Her father, a silver haired, distinguished looking man, said that on April 20, the day the baby was born, he talked to Rasmussen.

Testified to Repentance.

"I told him I had had detectives following him in Minneapolis and Duluth," Farrell said, "and that I knew that on April 8 he had been with a young woman in a Duluth hotel. My son-in-law said he had misbehaved only once. He said he must have been crazy, that he had always looked forward to having a child, but now that it was born it was a terrible day for him because of what he had done."

Mrs. Farrell, a blonde, fluffy-haired woman, followed her husband to the stand.

"I told Mr. Rasmussen," she said, "that we had heard things about him which shocked us very much. He said he had done things for which he was very sorry."

Rasmussen was not present yesterday. He is still in Minneapolis.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

Cider Making Time.

October 13, 1938.

INDIAN summer on the Du Page county farm is a disappointment this year in one respect. Each autumn the farm workers and wives start thinking about homemade cider, not to mention fresh apple pie and delicious apple sauce.

But this season no cider is being made and few apple pies are decorating the tables. For the apple crop on the farm is the smallest in many years. Apple trees near the home of the farm manager have practically no fruit. Last year they were heavily laden.

Few Pears on Trees.

Most of the pear trees are bare, too, because of the April snowstorm, which caught the apple and pear trees when they were in blossom and ruined their chances for bearing a good crop. In one of the farm kitchens pears were purchased from another farm which had late blooming pear trees and had not been nipped by the snowstorm.

When walking over the Du Page county farm the other day we noticed there were more hawks than usual flying overhead. Apparently they were red-tailed hawks which have come down from the north to join others which have spent the summer in Chicagoland. The red-tail may be found almost anywhere in North America during the warm months, but when autumn temperatures get too low for them in Canada and the northern states they start south. They spend the winter months in the western and southern states. During cold weather they may be seen in the southern half of Illinois, but will soon leave the northern counties of the state.

Proud Cock Pheasant.

There is one cock pheasant on the farm which is proud of its bright plumage. A group of visitors were driving along one of the farm roads recently when this arrogant pheasant flew in front of their car. They stopped, expecting to see the bird fly over the fence and into a nearby field, but instead he strutted back and forth, his brilliant red and bronze feathers reflecting the rays of the sun. He was the center of attraction for several minutes.

The visitors watched him strut, then drove down the road. But the pheasant didn't think that was a signal for the show to end, because he continued his parading even though his audience was gone.

RAVAGES OF COLDS

Amazing Results Reported In Medically-Supervised Clinical Tests—Sickness from Colds Actually Cut More Than Half!

A SIMPLE GUIDE ANY MOTHER CAN EASILY FOLLOW

Wouldn't it be wonderful to know about a way that helped thousands of people to escape many colds with all their discomforts and dangers? A way that sharply reduced the number and length of colds, that cut sickness from colds 50.88%, that reduced children's school absences due to colds even more—57.86%!

These are actual figures—not taken from just a few experiences—but from a great series of clinical tests in which more than 17,000 men, women and children took part. 37 doctors were on the supervisory staff. More than 500 supervisors and nurses assisted them. This great clinic, by sharply reducing the number and length of colds and the distress that comes with them, proved the worth of Vicks Plan.

Vicks Plan is a simple guide which emphasizes the importance of proper personal care and the use of two specialized medications for relief of symptoms in different types and stages of colds—Vicks Va-tro-nol and Vicks VapoRub. When colds threatened—at the first sniffle or sneeze—Va-tro-nol was used to help prevent many a cold from developing. When a cold got by all precautions, VapoRub was used to relieve its discomforts.

The results speak for themselves. Vicks Plan may do less for you—or it may do even more. But with such a record it certainly is worth a trial. It is easy to follow in your own home. You get full directions in every package of Va-tro-nol or VapoRub.

To Help PREVENT Many Colds

Va-tro-nol is specialized medication—expressly designed for use in the nose and upper throat, where 3 out of 4 colds start. You can feel its tingling, stimulating medication go right to work to aid Nature's own defenses against colds. Used at the very first warning nasal irritation, sniffle, or sneeze—a few drops up each nostril—Va-tro-nol helps to prevent many colds from developing. So keep it handy and use it early.

VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

To EASE Discomfort of Colds

VapoRub is the standby of most mothers the country over for relieving misery of colds. Massaged on throat, chest, and back, VapoRub works two ways at once: (1) Direct through the skin like a poultice; (2) Its medicated vapors are inhaled direct to irritated air-passages. This double action loosens phlegm—clears air-passages—checks tendency to cough—relieves local congestion—and you soon feel comfortable again.

JUDGE WILSON'S WRIT FOR KARATZ IS RULED ERROR

The Illinois Supreme court ruled yesterday that Circuit Judge Edwin L. Wilson of Joliet erred seriously last January in issuing a writ of habeas corpus for Abraham Karatz, former St. Paul lawyer. Karatz was convicted in 1935 of conspiracy to embezzle $55,000 from the Amalgamated Trust and Savings bank.

As he was being taken to the Joliet penitentiary to start serving a one to five year prison term, Judge Wilson intervened and issued the writ allowing Karatz his freedom on bond. This was ignored by Cook county authorities who rearrested Karatz and took him to Joliet.

In their ruling yesterday on the appeal of the state's attorney's office to take the matter out of Judge Wilson's hands, the Supreme court held that Judge Wilson had disregarded a well settled principle of law in as much as Karatz' conviction already had been upheld by the Supreme court justices.

RIDE 'EM COWBOY! AND THEY DO AT STADIUM SHOW

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

City folks call it ro-day-o. Fans call it ro-dee-o. Cowboys just call it ridin'.

Ridin' is what they did last night at the Chicago Stadium where 200 of them were entered in the World's championship rodeo, which will continue through Oct. 30. There were wild steers, wild calves and wild horses, and none of them seemed any tamer after they came out of the chutes with a man on their back and spurs in their necks.

The audience roared and whooped and hollered. The cowboys just rode.

They Don't Say Yip, Yip.

"That's always the way" commented Joe McMackin, world's champion bulldogger from Mooridge, S. D. "Cowboys don't play Indian when they're working. And did you ever hear a range hand say 'Yip-Yip?'

"Here's some other things you folks don't know about roundups," he pushed back his sombrero thoughtfully, and displayed a button pinned to its band. "Cowboys have a union. It's called the Cowboys Turtle association. We hire the judge. We decide who's qualified to ride."

McMackin, who portrayed Teddy Roosevelt in the opening act of the show, wore a blue serge suit, tan high heeled boots, and a white shirt. He's been riding since he was 4 years old and for thirteen years has picked up extra money riding for rodeos.

Make $4,000 a Year.

"Cowboys — a good cowboy—can make $4,000 a year going from show to show," he said. "The best make around $7,000. It's a business. We always get our prize money, and if we don't get prize money we're out of luck. Nobody pays us. We pay the rodeo association a fee, usually $20 for each show."

"Most of the boys bring their own horses in a trailer, but the wild stock is furnished by two men. A horse is all through after one year, usually. A steer may not last that long."

"Listen, this is one game you can't fix. You can't stop a bucking horse or start one. You can't kid a mean steer, either. You just get on and ride like hell."

In fact, there is only one thing the public's got right about cowboys, Joe believes.

SWINDLER, 80, HIS GIRL AND 2 PALS GET 2 TO 14 YEARS

T. Jefferson Sharun, 80 years old, who admitted he had been a confidence man for more than fifty years, was sentenced to two to fourteen years in prison yesterday in the Lake county Criminal court at Crown Point. Three associates, including Sharun's sweetheart, Mrs. Edna Lane, 44, received similar terms.

The gang was convicted of defrauding Ben I. Schultz of Gary of $6,000 with a horse race betting scheme. Witnesses from Detroit, Auburn, Mass.; Belleville and Bensenville, Ill., also testified to the swindlers' methods.

Defense attorneys said they would appeal because testimony not directly concerned with the Schultz case was introduced. One defense attorney is Robert G. Estil, former Lake county prosecutor who was photographed in a friendly pose with John Dillinger.

WELL PLANNED AFTERNOON TEA PLEASANT TASK

Housewife Can Be at Ease When Guests Arrive.

BY RUTH COOK.

Afternoon tea with its plates of intriguing little sandwiches and dainty cakes, a steaming, fragrant pot of tea, and a gracious, unhurried hostess is pleasantest of all forms of entertainment at this season of the year.

It requires so little last minute trouble to prepare tea fixings that even the most harried homemaker can be at ease and ready for her guests when they arrive.

Make Lunch in Advance.

Sandwiches can be made in the morning, wrapped in a towel, and kept in the refrigerator until ready to use. Little cakes can be made as early as the night before, ready to be iced the day of the event.

Ingenuity is the chief ingredient of dainty sandwiches. These suggestions will be a starter for the woman looking for something different.

TEA SANDWICHES.

1. Thin rounds of whole wheat bread, spread with cream cheese to which a little finely chopped candied or preserved ginger has been added. Garnish with leaf of parsley.
2. Thin rounds of white bread, spread with butter and a thin slice of fluted cucumber.
3. Whole wheat bread, spread with cream cheese, then with apricot jam or other tart jelly and garnished with half an almond.
4. Whole wheat or white bread, spread with thin slices of banana dipped in orange juice and sprinkled with finely chopped nutmeats.

Try a Mashed Avocado.

5. Whole wheat bread spread with mashed avocado moistened with lemon juice. Sprinkle with finely chopped watercress or parsley.
6. White bread spread with a mixture of equal quantities of chopped figs, dates, and raisins, moistened with lemon juice.
7. White bread spread with chopped dates mixed with a little butter and peanut butter.
8. White bread spread with cream cheese and garnished with a dab of bar-le-duc or currant jelly.

The pretty little cakes which are a part of every tea are really fun to make. Your favorite everyday cake cut in fancy shapes and artfully dressed up will do nicely. The cakes can be coated with fondant icing and adorned with tiny candies, or try one of the following:

TEA CAKES.

1. Cut angel food or sponge cake in very thin slices. Spread with fudge frosting and roll up into miniature jelly roll. Wrap in cloth and tie until set.
2. Bake baby cream puffs, dropping batter onto greased baking sheet with a teaspoon. When cool, make a slit in the side of each puff with a sharp knife and fill with almond flavored whipped cream. Ice with chocolate frosting.
3. Bake plain cake in a thin layer, using orange juice for the liquid, adding a little grated orange rind and substituting a half teaspoon soda for one teaspoon baking powder. Spread top of batter with pie meringue and grated coconut before baking. When cool cut into strips.

Lady Finger Sandwich.

4. Split lady fingers and fill with jelly, sandwich fashion.
5. Spread thin slices of fruit cake with hard sauce and garnish with sliced maraschino cherries.
6. Cut sponge or plain cake into small oblongs, coat with boiled frosting, and roll in finely chopped nuts, orange tinted coconut, or shaved unsweetened chocolate.
7. Make a sandwich of thin strips of chocolate cake, using green tinted and mint flavored whipped cream for filling. Cover with chocolate icing.

The tea, too, gets a few extra attentions. Besides the usual lemon and cream, one of the following garnishes might be added: Candied orange or lemon peel, a spray of mint, whole cloves, a piece of stick cinnamon, sliced lime, crystalized ginger, or rose geranium leaves.

ORANGE, LEMON IN GINGERBREAD HELP THE FLAVOR

There are gingerbreads and gingerbreads, but if it's variety you're after, there's nothing like orange gingerbread. Orange juice takes the place of other liquid in the batter and there's a bit of grated orange and lemon rind thrown in to heighten the flavor. Topped with an orange-lemon frosting, this makes an unusual dessert.

ORANGE GINGERBREAD.

1 cup shortening
1 cup medium brown sugar
1 cup molasses
2 teaspoons cinnamon
3 teaspoons ginger
1 teaspoon nutmeg
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup strained orange juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
½ teaspoon grated lemond rind
1 teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
4 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt

Combine shortening, sugar, molasses, and spices. Warm them together over hot water. Stir in eggs, orange juice, and grated orange and lemon rind. Sift together soda, baking powder, flour, and salt, and add gradually to first mixture, stirring constantly. When well mixed turn into a greased and floured pan and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees] for 30 minutes or until done. When cool ice with orange-lemon frosting.

ORANGE-LEMON FROSTING.

3 tablespoons butter
2 cups confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons strained lemon juice
2 tablespoons strained orange juice
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
Dash of salt

Cream the butter until soft. Add the sugar gradually and cream until fluffy. Add fruit juices and rind, beating until of spreading consistency.

CHANGE SAUCES AND ICE CREAM IS ALWAYS NEW

As far as most people are concerned ice cream is one dessert that's always new and different even if it's served six days out of seven. The few who don't agree may be won over with variations in the ice cream sauce or garnish.

Fresh fruits turn plain vanilla ice cream into delicious sundaes. For these most people like to have the berries, crushed slightly and sweetened to taste ahead of time so that the sugar draws the juice from the fruit. Other fruits, such as peaches, may be used either sliced fresh or cooked with sugar and a small amount of water.

Chocolate lovers will be pleased with vanilla ice cream garnished generously with shaved sweet or bitter chocolate. Crushed peanut brittle is another good garnish, and then there's the old standby, toasted and crushed nuts. Almond flavored whipped cream is a food for the gods topping for chocolate ice cream.

Milk chocolate nut candy bars may be melted in the top of a double boiler over hot, not boiling, water to make a delicious sundae topping. For a chocolate mint sauce melt 10 large chocolate covered peppermint creams over hot water and stir in 3 tablespoons of heavy cream.

If This Dog Bit You, Go to City Hall for Treatment

If you were bitten by a black and white fox terrier Wednesday in the vicinity of the Knickerbocker hotel, 163 East Walton place, the board of health wants you to come to its offices in the city hall for anti-rabic serum. The dog had rabies, an examination showed yesterday.

ILLINOIS GROCER, OPEN ON SUNDAY, WINS ON APPEAL

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Illinois Supreme court held today cities have no authority to permit some businesses to operate on Sunday and prohibit the same privilege to others where public health, safety, morals, and welfare are not involved.

The decision, one of twenty-one handed down by the high tribunal, reversed the Jefferson county Circuit court's affirmation of a $5 fine assessed against Harry Julian for operating his grocery store in Mount Vernon on Sunday.

"We do not see where the public welfare is served by closing the grocery store and allowing a confectionary store to remain open, nor the closing of a notions store while a drug store next door which sells notions is permitted to operate," the court said.

A Door Closed Softly

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright, 1938, By Alice Ormond Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

David Beddoes, young American, accompanies his cousin, Alison, to a party at Lady Wibbe's. By mistake they go to the house next door. While they are talking to the spinsterish woman who receives them they hear a woman scream and a body fall. The spinster explains it is a parrot. But young Penelope Wibbe says their strange neighbors have no parrot. While in the house David had seen a favorite book of his former love, Betsy Greentree, with her initials in it. Betsy's father died after losing his money. While traveling in Europe with her aunt, Fanny Rush, Betsy met and married an Englishman, Geoffrey Scarpath. David breakfasts next morning with Alison and her friend, Dr. Colin Ladbroke. Penelope calls to tell them their neighbors have acquired a parrot. David learns the Scarpaths live in the mysterious house and sends a letter there to Betsy, which is unanswered. David confronts Scarpath, who explains that Betsy is suffering from a chronic nervous condition and can have no visitors, that she is being taken care of by his sister. In the guise of a telephone repair man David gains a secret interview with Betsy and learns she did not receive his letter. She tells David her husband is not in love with her and she doesn't know why he married her. David arranges a scheme whereby they may communicate, with Penelope Wibbe's aid. Then Betsy's writing materials disappear. Dr. Broderick, the specialist hired by her husband, visits Betsy. She always feels worse after taking his medicine. Colin's niece, Angela, takes him to a party where Scarpath is host and learns the guests are secretly indulging in drugs.

INSTALMENT XXIII.
THE INVALID'S ESCAPE.

Profoundly dissatisfied, Alison prodded Colin again. What had Angela said? And was it the prevailing impression that Geoffrey Scarpath was a bachelor?

"My niece," stated her informant, knew he was married! I'd say most of the intimates know, but that the general belief is: [a] he got trapped by some impossible outsider; [b] has been living in hell ever since, and [c] he's too decent to speak openly of his wife's deplorable mental condition."

"If he says nothing, how do they think these things?" Alison asked bluntly.

"Ask me another." Colin shrugged. "Dignified reticence—he's plenty of that—can go a long way towards constructing a romantic fiction, which I can assure you does definitely exist. Quite twenty times I heard him referred to as poor, darling Geoffrey. You see?"

"Just the same," she said stubbornly, "he must have loved Elizabeth—a sweet little thing, and awfully pretty—simply because he couldn't have had any other reason for marrying her."

"Her case interests me," remarked Colin, waiving the question. "Should you call her at all hysterical?"

"Colin," she said slowly, "I just don't know. I lost sight of her completely when she grew up. Of course, her aunt's sort of loony. O, I don't mean she really is!" she answered his alert eye. "Only so eccentric that we did occasionally wonder. . . . Look at the way she's taken absolutely no notice of that cable! She must have got it by now. It seems to me as though she'd washed her hands of Elizabeth and there just might be a reason."

Diligently she sewed, letting her remarks sink in. The lamp made a little glow round her head, burnishing its boyish waves. Absently Colin gazed, admiring the peachy bloom of her cheek, the straight tilt of her nose, the capable play of hands strong, almost, as his own. A sound mind, a ready wit—home-loving in spite of the formidable pile of manuscript always put down at his arrival . . . and to gild all this a fresh air of health, priceless tonic after so many pale invalids! Guiltily he caught himself up. What good basking in these fancies with a practice two-thirds unpaid for?

"I like your conventional viewpoint," he commented, idly unscrewing his pipe stem and squinting through it. "Quite a change these days."

"Why?" she bristled, the tips of her ears vivid coral. "O, I get it! Because I don't shout for joy at the idea of interfering between husband and wife. Funny your calling me conventional, though," she mused lightly. "Till now I'd have said David had me beat a mile in that respect. O, not that he's a Puritan. It's just a certain strictness where women folk are concerned. Another thing: in all this I don't for a moment imagine David's thinking of what he personally may get. It's just pure knight-errantry. Can she get better?"

"I doubt it."

Alison shuddered and for a brief space sat brooding. Suddenly she tore off her spectacles. "O, what's the use?" she cried. "We can't help matters. I'm going to make tea."

Midway the room she stopped. The bell from the street door had given a long peal.

"Damn and blast! Whoever's that at this hour of night? Just see, will you? And if it's some bore, administer a push. No, wait," as Colin rose to obey. "Maybe they'll think I'm out."

He smiled, as little inclined as she to have their privacy invaded. Close together they stood, conspirators, eyeing one another as they listened for a repetition of the ring. It did not occur. Colin had laid his hand on her shoulder and left it there. Its warm pressure sent a thrill right down to her toes.

She fled, strangely breathless, and in the safety of the kitchen took stock of some bald home truths.

"He can't think of marrying. I know that as well as he does. I hate messing up friendship, which can last, for the sake of something that's gone tomorrow. Anyhow, from now on I've got to be careful. . . ."

Presently she went into the living room.

Colin took the tray from her and set it on a stool.

She poured his tea. Two lumps, as he liked it.

Those brief, dangerous moments had brought to the atmosphere not strain exactly, but softening, as of a thaw in March. Alison, as she puffed the cigaret just lit for her, wondered if one ever did go really back . . . and in her secret heart prayed one didn't.

"It's a bitter night," she said when her guest sought his overcoat. "Better bundle up that muffler."

Colin tramped stodgily down the stairs. "Hello!" he called from some point out of sight. "Something here—like a bundle of old clothes. Hold on . . ." A pause, then in a curious tone, "I say—does your charwoman imbibe?"

"What?" Amazed, she pressed the light button on the landing, and hurried down. "I don't have her on Sundays. You know that. O!" She drew up. "It is some one! Drunk? Colin!" she whispered, "I believe this is who rang my bell—and she got only this far."

. . . .

A dark, huddled shape—and now the doctor had lifted it, seemingly of little weight. All clothes—and what an odd assortment, rich, incongruously mixed. Limp, too—hand dangling like a doll's—and of all things, bare feet, with rose varnished nails! Under, on the stair, lay one blue satin mule.

A horrible thought assailed Alison.

"Dead?" she gasped. "O, Colin!"

"Fainted," he muttered, striding swiftly up and into the flat. "Pour some whisky. No, wait! Ever seen her before?"

He had lowered the strange object onto the sofa. The face showed dead white, the more ghastly against the darkness of the hair, which seemed scarcely disarranged. It had faint, even waves, and a central parting. Alison shook her head, then suddenly clutched Colin's arm.

"Good God!" she whispered. "It's Elizabeth Greentree!"

She heard Colin raging. "Forty minutes in this cold! Look lively, I want her head up."

Alison bent over—and drew back, shocked.

"O, Colin, she's been drinking already. Brandy. Can't you smell it?"

A queer look tightened his set face. "On second thought it ought to be coffee. Get some—quick!"

She flew to the kitchen, found coffee over from lunch, and set it to heat, feeling stunned and nauseated. Elizabeth drunk . . . but O, supposing she died, here, in this flat? That would be a finish. . . .

At top speed, angrily, Colin had hauled the divan close to the fire, snatched Alison's gold eiderdown from the bedroom and tucked it well in around the unconscious, heavily breathing form. Now, kneeling down, he began feeling the death cold arm up to the shoulder. As he had thought, no underpinnings except a wisp of chiffon. These weird outer garments, though—some outsize woman's skirt, scarf, and rather exotic cloak—had thickness. Those and the brandy. . . .

"Damned good thing I was here," he muttered, starting in to chafe the small, naked feet under the quilt. "If I hadn't been—what?"

MEAT BARGAINS ARE OFFERED TO WEEK-END BUYER

Pork Cuts Lead the Price Trend Downward.

BY HOMER NEISZ.

Food shoppers in Chicago and suburbs will find many retail cuts of meat being offered at lower prices today and tomorrow. This is the second consecutive week-end that meats have shown a downward tendency.

Some heavy reductions have been made in pork cuts, including loin roasts, sausage, and spareribs. Bacon is 2 cents a pound less in some places.

Fish Prices Vary.

Both rib and pot roasts of beef are 2 cents a pound lower in many shops. Some are selling rib lamb chops 4 cents below last week's prices. Frying and stewing chickens are down 1 cent a pound in a few shops. Several are quoting round, sirloin, and porterhouse steaks at substantial reductions. Fish prices vary. In many shops halibut, herring, and perch are lower and trout and whitefish higher.

Most of the price changes in staples and fresh vegetables have been upward. Butter and the cheaper brands of coffee are 2 cents a pound higher in stores that featured them in sales last week-end. The more expensive grades of fresh eggs are up 2 cents a dozen in many places.

Green beans are 1 to 5 cents a pound higher, with prices varying according to quality. Fresh peas are up 1 to 2 cents a pound. Spinach and fresh tomatoes have been advanced about 1 cent a pound, and head lettuce 1 to 2 cents a head. Lemons are 2 to 4 cents a dozen higher in most stores, and cranberries are up 4 cents a pound in some.

Grapes on Bargain Counters.

Tokay grapes are on many bargain counters at reduced prices. Oranges, dry onions, broccoli, and mushrooms are lower in some places. Lower priced brands of flour are down 2 to 6 cents a 24½ pound sack in some stores, and lard is off 1½ cents a pound in a few.

Fresh rhubarb is available in most stores for the first time in several weeks. There still are a few red raspberries and strawberries, but they are high. Many stores already are stocked with big Halloween pumpkins.

Prices of live hogs and wholesale cuts of pork continue to go lower, according to federal reports from the stockyards. Good and choice butcher hogs dropped 50 to 65 cents a hundred during the week. The top price paid to farmers was $8.35 a hundredweight. The price went down to $8 a hundred yesterday, the lowest so far this year. Pork loins brought $1 to $2 a hundred less than last week on the wholesale market.

Better Beef Unchanged.

The better grades of beef cattle brought about the same as last week with a top of $13.50. Fat lambs sold steady, bringing a top price of $8.50 a hundred. There were no significant changes in wholesale prices of beef and lamb.

Wholesale prices of fresh fruits and vegetables are about equally divided between ups and downs.

POOR CAN OPENER CALLED A MENACE TO BRIDE'S LIFE

The homely, old fashioned can opener was declared to be a menace yesterday before a section meeting of the twenty-fifth annual congress of the National Safety council. The speaker was Miss Zella Patterson, home service director of the Wisconsin Public Service corporation, Green Bay, Wis.

"If the bride with her proverbial can opener has one of the many poor ones on the market her life is in danger," said Miss Patterson. "A good opener is easy to operate and seals sharp edges of a can as it cuts.

"The adage, 'Safe at home,' is a myth, judging from the number of home accidents last year, which was 1,700,000 more than automobile and industrial accidents combined. When as much publicity is given to home safety as is now given to vitamin shortage, rancid hair, halitosis, dishpan hands, and pink tooth brush, then the job of home safety will be solved."

Today the safety council will end its five day convention in the Stevens hotel.

JERSEY BULL IS CHAMPION 4TH STRAIGHT YEAR

Columbus, O., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Another record toppled in the national dairy show today when Foremost Highflyer, owned by the Oaklands of Ann Arbor, Mich., was judged grand champion bull of the Jersey breed for the fourth consecutive year. Jersey breeders said they did not believe a bull of any other breed had attained such an honor in the national exposition. Foremost Highflyer also won senior champion honors.

SQUASH PLAYS VARIED ROLE IN FALL RECIPES

Serves as Vegetable and Fashions Dessert.

It's soon time for witches and black cats to make their annual appearance at parties. There are 15 menus with their accompanying recipes in Mary Meade's "Holidays and Holiday Meals." This booklet, which contains menus and recipes for every important holiday of the year, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 20 cents; by postpaid mail, 23 cents.

BY MARY MEADE.

A summer squash whose rind resists the pressure of the thumbnail is too old to use, but a winter squash must have a hard, firm and resistant rind to be any good at all. The difference between summer and winter squashes is a difference in firmness of rind, for the most part, although most winter squashes have heavier, drier flesh than their warm weather relatives.

There are dozens of varieties of winter squash, most popular of which are the Hubbards. Hubbard squash may be dark green in color or a bright orange. Sizes vary and skin textures may be very different in the degree of wartiness, but these factors have little effect upon flavor. Hubbards keep well, so it usually pays to buy a large one, using it in several different ways. The unused portions may be stored for later use if wrapped carefully in waxed paper and kept cool.

Steaming hot mashed squash, buttery and well seasoned, is delicious, and may be served in place of potatoes with a meat dinner. Of course, it may be served as an additional vegetable when there are potatoes, too.

Squash pie is so similar to pumpkin pie that many persons cannot tell which is which. Any favorite recipe for pumpkin pastry may be used for squash. To prepare squash for pie, steam it until tender, then press the meat through a sieve or potato ricer to remove fibers and make a smooth pulp.

Squash Pie

1½ cups steamed and strained squash
1½ cups cream or top milk
1 cup sugar, brown or white
3 slightly beaten eggs
3 teaspoons pie spice or
1 teaspoon nutmeg,
1 teaspoon cinnamon,
½ teaspoon cloves and
⅛ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon salt
Pastry for single crust

Mix all ingredients together and pour into a pie shell, the bottom of which has been brushed with egg white. Bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees, for 10 minutes, then reduce the heat to moderate, 350 degrees, and continue baking until the filling is firm. When an inserted knife will come out clean, this point has been reached.

Squash Pecan Pie

3 eggs
¼ cup molasses
¾ cup brown sugar
1 cup milk
⅓ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups steamed, strained squash
2 tablespoons melted butter
½ cup chopped, unsalted pecans
Pastry for one crust

Beat together the eggs, molasses, and sugar. Add milk. Add spices and salt to squash. Then combine the two mixtures. Put half the nuts and half the melted butter over the bottom of a pastry lined pie plate and pour in the custard filling. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes, sprinkle remaining nuts and butter over the top then reduce heat to 350 degrees for half an hour longer, or until custard is set.

HERE'S TWO IN ONE BET—CHOCOLATE AND SPICE CAKE

If it's really true that the favorites in the cake world are chocolate and spice, what a reception this cake is going to get. It's both!

CHOCOLATE SPICE CAKE.

1 cup butter
2 cups sugar
4 eggs, separated
3 cups cake flour, sifted
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon shaved citron
1 cup milk
¼ cup fruit juice
3 squares chocolate, melted

Cream butter and sugar together thoroughly. Add well-beaten egg yolks. Sift salt, flour, baking powder and spices together and add citron. Combine milk and fruit juice and add to creamed mixture alternately with dry ingredients, beginning and ending with flour. Stir in the chocolate which has been melted over hot water. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in a greased loaf pan in a moderate [350 degrees] oven, about 45 minutes or until done.

HERE'S A COOKING SECRET EVERY WIFE SHOULD KNOW– ALWAYS USE KITCHEN BOUQUET

HERE'S SPLENDID WAY TO GIVE MINT ACCENT TO LAMB

A bit of mint seems to be the very best possible accent for lamb. A good way to add it to a stuffed shoulder of lamb is to put the mint right into the stuffing. The salt pork in this recipe gives the stuffing extra richness.

CUSHION SHOULDER OF LAMB.

Lamb shoulder
Salt and paprika
4 tablespoons chopped salt pork
3 tablespoons minced onion
2 teaspoons chopped celery leaves
⅓ cup chopped mint leaves
¼ teaspoon salt
2½ cups soft bread crums
2 tablespoons butter, melted
⅛ teaspoon paprika

Have shoulder blade removed from meat and have two sides sewn, leaving one side open for stuffing. Season with salt and paprika. Heat pork, add onions, cooking until tender. Add to remaining ingredients, mixing lightly. Stuff into lamb and sew up opening. Place fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan and roast in a moderately slow oven [325 degrees] until done, allowing 40 to 45 minutes per pound.

GEORGE RECTOR TELLS RECIPES FOR SEA FOODS

Any housewife would consider it treasure trove if she were given access to a collection of the most popular recipes of such a great restaurant as was Rector's in other days. That is possible; it is, indeed, the weekly privilege of readers who follow George Rector's column in the woman's section of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

Among such famous recipes is that for seafood Newburg. Mr. Rector unfolds the exact manner of its making in his column next Sunday. Then being launched on the subject of sea foods, he adds recipes for an unusual oyster omelet and for codfish puffs, a tangy breakfast dish.

THE SECRET OF GOOD BEET SOUP LIES IN ITS SUBTLE BLENDING

Beet soup to be really good must be subtly blended so that the acid of the sour milk does not overbalance the delicate beet flavor. This soup, made with buttermilk and sparingly spiced, is an example of good beet soup.

BEET BUTTERMILK SOUP.

3 large beets
1 large onion, sliced
3 cups water
4 cloves
¼ teaspoon celery seed
Salt and pepper
1 quart buttermilk
Sour cream
Chopped parsley

Boil beets until tender, remove skins, slice and put in large kettle with sliced onion, 3 cups water, spices and salt and pepper. Simmer 2 hours, then put through fine sieve. Add buttermilk and bring to boiling point. Serve garnished with one tablespoon sour cream and sprig of parsley in each bowl.

TAKE NUTS OUT OF SALADS; PUT 'EM IN DRESSING

Next time you serve a fruit salad that calls for nuts, omit the nuts and serve the salad with a peanut butter dressing. Even a simple salad of apples and celery will have a new zip when served with this dressing.

PEANUT BUTTER SALAD DRESSING.
[1⅓ cups.]

1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon dry mustard
Dash of cayenne
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons flour
2 egg yolks or 1 whole egg
1 cup evaporated milk
2 tablespoons peanut butter
¼ cup vinegar

Blend salt, mustard, cayenne, sugar, and flour. Add egg yolks, or beaten egg. Mix well, then add milk. Cook over boiling water until mixture thickens. Stir in the peanut butter, then the vinegar slowly. If salad dressing is too thick, thin with a little cream or evaporated milk.

ONIONS AND CHEESE PROVIDE SUBSTITUTE FOR POTATO SALAD

POTATOES BAKED IN CHEESE SAUCE.
[Serves 4.]

4 medium potatoes, peeled and diced
2 small onions, sliced thinly
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk
⅛ cup grated cheese

Cook the diced potatoes in boiling salted water until barely tender. Drain and turn into buttered dish. Brown onion in butter and add flour, stirring until well blended. Add seasonings and milk and cook until thickened. Add grated cheese and continue cooking until cheese is melted. Pour over potatoes and bake in moderate [350 degrees] oven for 15 minutes.

THE FOLKS WILL MAKE A BEE LINE FOR THIS CAKE

The woman who enjoys treating her family to a new food idea occasionally will gloat over this recipe for honey poppy seed cake. It comes from an Illinois woman who has tested many recipes using honey for the Illinois Beekeepers' association. It's a good one.

HONEY POPPY SEED CAKE.

¾ cup milk
⅓ cup poppy seed
2 cups all-purpose flour, sifted
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter
⅓ cup light honey
1 cup sugar
4 egg whites, beaten stiff

Pour milk over poppy seed and let stand three hours. Sift flour with baking powder and salt four times. Cream butter. Add honey and continue creaming. Add sugar and continue creaming. Add milk and poppy seed, mixing well. Add sifted dry ingredients. Fold in beaten egg whites. Bake in two layers in a moderate [350 degrees] oven until done, about 30 minutes. Spread honey filling between layers and serve with whipped cream.

HONEY FILLING.

1½ cups milk
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ cup light honey
4 egg yolks
Pinch of salt

Cook all together in double boiler, stirring constantly until thick enough to spread. A half cup of nut meats may be added at end of the cooking period if desired.

Posture Is One Yardstick of Chic You Give Clothes

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"Before you begin stocking up on your fall and winter wardrobe, take stock of yourself," suggests Hope Hampton, glamorous blonde star of opera and stage. "You relaxed all summer in comfortable clothes, so perhaps you haven't noticed exactly what has happened to your posture. Well, now is the time to look yourself over."

"To begin," says the lovely diva, "stand in front of a long mirror and make sure your standing posture is fundamentally correct, that is, heels apart, toes straight forward, the sides of the feet forming two side of a square. This attitude gives stability and poise, and insures a proper distribution of the weight of the body upon the structures of the feet."

For a hollow back Miss Hampton advises "tree-swaying." While in the standing position, thrust the arms straight above the head. Then sway from side to side, moving from the hips upward, the arms loosely waving like the branches of trees.

To correct that most troublesome of all foults, pigeon toes, Miss Hampton suggests a routine which is really a variation of that indoor sport of walking a straight line. Draw two parallel chalk lines about three-fourths of the length of one foot apart, and practice walking on them until the habit of toeing straight is acquired.

How to apply rouge to a round, chubby face is only one of many helpful suggestions given in Antoinette Donnelly's booklet, "Makeup Magic." Get a copy for your makeup table. On sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 5 cents. Postpaid, 7 cents.

Front Views and Profiles By June Provines

Thumbnail Descriptions.

A young Chicagoan back from a European holiday was asked how she liked Sweden. "It's just like Wisconsin," she summarized.

Then there was the Japanese who took his holiday at Sun Valley, Idaho. His description of tobogganing, "Swish. Walk a mile."

Story Telling Story.

When you tell a story to an Englishman, you have to tell it three times. First you tell it, then you explain it, then you tell it again so he can laugh. You have to tell a story to a German twice, first you tell it, then you repeat it so he can laugh. But when you tell a story to a Jew, you only tell half a story. First, he's heard it before. Second, you're not telling it right.

Celebrity Notes.

The town is filled with celebrities. Roland Young done up in blue and gray flannels and his sister, Mrs. Tim Thomas of London, were lunching at the Pump room yesterday with Mrs. Howard Ellis. Mrs. Thomas calls him Mike—short for Microbe. He motored her from the west coast as far as Kansas City to show her the country and in Santa Fe they visited the Cyrus McCormicks. His last picture, Topper Takes a Trip. His latest acquisition—he collects walking sticks and penguins—a 17th century fiddle walking stick. Susan Fleming, vivacious, dark eyed, at the Blackstone, spent most of her time in Chicago sending telegrams and trying to locate her husband by means of the long distance telephone. Her husband? Harpo Marx. She sent him twenty-one telegrams between Los Angeles and Chicago. Actress Beulah Bondi was hostess to friends at a private screening of The Sisters yesterday and Pat O'Brien and his wife Eloise were at the Blackstone between trains on their way to a second honeymoon in Bermuda.

Food for Thought.

We were sitting side by side listening to Bertrand Russell the other day in Mandel hall on the University of Chicago campus when she produced a little blue card out of her purse and began to scribble at intervals. I thought she was taking notes on the lecture, and I stole a peek. Here's what I saw:

starch
soap
mushrooms
c. fruit
chicken á la king pickles
crackers

Wouldn't Mr. Russell be surprised? De Madero.

We like Tom Seyster's stories of his father and neighbors downstate, in the vicinity of Oregon, Ill. John Calvin Seyster, retired lawyer and country gentleman, is 84, drives a car (last. year he bought a convertible roadster), likes to give dinner parties, has a passion for buying farms. When he announced a few evenings ago that he was asking the same people to dinner he had entertained the preceding Friday (his zest for parties exceeds the supply of available guests) his son demurred, saying, "You asked them just last week."

"Well, they came, didn't they?" countered his father.

Recently Mr. Seyster came home after a morning's absence and told his son he had bought another farm, adding to the thousands of acres he already owns.

"Father, I'm going to appoint a conservator for you," his son said heatedly. Then, more mildly, "In the remote consideration that you should die before I do, what am I going to do with all those farms?"

"I don't know what to do with them myself," retorted his father.

Spoiled Girl Hurts Herself and Friends

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Mothers and fathers sometimes get a great deal of satisfaction out of overindulging their children. They love them so much [they say] that they give them everything they ask for and exercise no control over their actions.

This is surely loving "not wisely, but too well." Or is it always loving, in the best sense of the word? May it not sometimes be simply the easiest way, taking less trouble at the times? Or may it not be based on a sort of false personal pride?

Well, whatever the motive, and whatever happiness the parents themselves get out of this sort of indulgence, they are storing up trouble for their child; they are being truly unkind to her. Here is an example of what I mean:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: I know you usually write on the subject of young children. But I have a question to ask concerning a 16 year old and trust you may be able to help me.

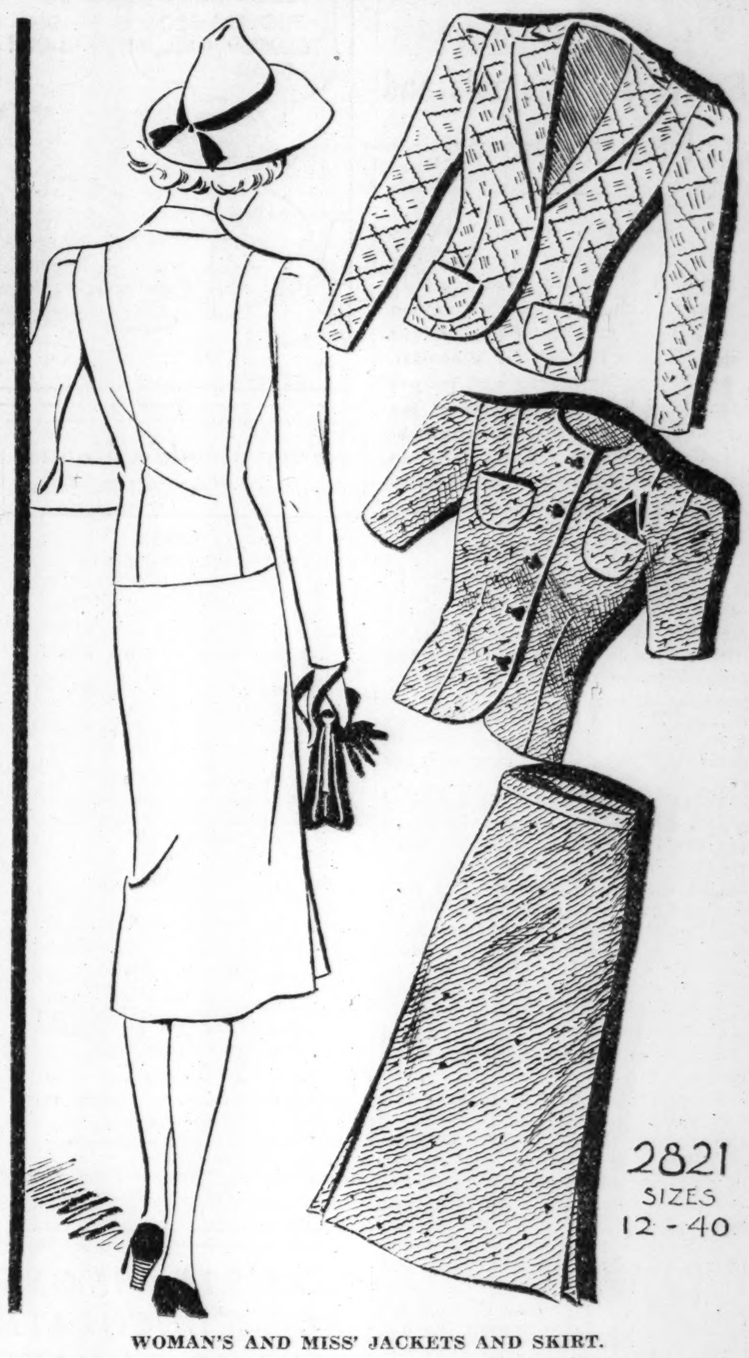
"My sister's daughter gets away with innumerable bad mannered and ill bred actions because her mother labels everything she does as coming from a 'spirited' child. This child is arrogant and rude even to her girl friends. If she isn't the center of attraction she becomes catty. I can't enumerate her rudenesses."

Indeed, being "spirited" has nothing to do with mannerliness nor considerateness. No one's spirit was ever broken by being taught to be courteous and self-disciplined, both at home and abroad.

This mother is making a double-barreled mistake, as you might say. The lack of training and restraint is evidently creating in her daughter not only manners but inner attitudes so unpleasant that the girl is on her way to being disliked and a social misfit.

That's one "barrel." The other is that this mother will find one day to her dismay that her indulgence has turned into a boomerang [to mix the metaphor] and that the ill-temper, selfishness, and lack of courtesy will be turned against her.

"Mix Your Own" Ensemble



WOMAN'S AND MISS' JACKETS AND SKIRT.

One of the most popular styles of the current season, and one of the most practical, are the "mix your own" ensembles of jackets and skirt. If you're on a budget, you may find it a stretch to buy all of the items you need, even if they will last forever and give their money's worth in value and wear. Therefore we're offering a pattern you can use for a wide variety of jackets and skirts, and you can have your budget tailored wardrobe at very little cost by making it yourself.

The pattern suggests two toppers for a plain skirt that is plaited at either side. One jacket is man-tailored, with rever collar line and two pockets just below the nipped-in waistline. The other is girlish and feminine with a high, round, collarless neckline, short and squared sleeves, pockets at the bustline and a prim row of buttons down the front. This is a figure-hugging jacket, and a type that is tremendously popular now.

You can use flecked or plain woolen for two pieces, and alternate with the extra jacket in a plaid or stripe. Woolen is, of course, the best possible material. The exceedingly woolly and rough tweed mixtures are in favor at the present time, and they are available in an exciting array of colors.

Style No. 2821 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material for the skirt and short-sleeved jacket, and 1½ yards of 54 inch material for the long-sleeved topper.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

A family of English beauty aids of topnotch quality and packaged and described with admirable restraint is having a most interesting success in this country. They've been the complexion guardians of smart English and Australian women for decades and, after only two years here, are acquiring an impressive popularity.

Exquisite cleanliness is the theme of the treatment about which this small, fine line is built. There is an excellent cleansing lotion; a bland soap, foundations, and two or three lubricating creams. The most spectacular item of the entire line, however, is a special clarifying lotion to be used about one night a week by the woman with normal skin, oftener if the skin is prone to blackheads.

This unique lotion is painted on with a small soft brush over a thoroughly clean skin. It forms a mask that dries fairly quickly. Over this first coat you paint another. In the morning this mask is removed first with cream then with soap and water.

The lotion bleaches gently; it will serve you well in keeping your skin clear and fair. It is also a mild stimulant. It's rather fun to use, and though it does make you look awfully funny while it's on, you feel next morning, when your skin seems miraculously clearer and smoother, that it was worth the trouble.

If your skin is inclined to get muddy looking and to gather blackheads, a once a week treatment with this lotion will keep it in beautiful shape.

This lotion comes bottled in two sizes, large and small. The large one is economical because it contains such an enormous supply.

First New Way to Wash Fine Fabrics in 1,000 Years!

HEAPS OF ACTIVE SUDS! In hardest water Dreft makes 5 times more suds than any soap you ever used! That means economy. And, just as important, it also means heaps of suds to help you wash stockings and all fine washables without unnecessary, injurious rubbing.

EVEN THE FINEST SOAPS CANNOT OFFER THESE ADVANTAGES

1. SUDS THAT NEVER LEAVE "SCUM"... assuring true color brightness and fabric softness
2. COMPLETELY NON-ALKALINE SUDS... giving you maximum protection against wash-fading
3. RICH SUDS IN HARDEST WATER... 5 times more suds than any soap you ever used

UNTIL you actually wash your fine fabrics this new way—in Dreft—it's hard to believe any suds improvement can really offer such amazing results. But it's true—and here's why:

As you know, it's "scum"—the same thing that makes the "ring around the basin"—that clouds the sheerness of stockings . . . dulls lingerie and print colors . . . coarsens woolen textures.

But the discovery of Dreft brings you—FOR THE FIRST TIME—a washing suds that removes every trace of this ugly "scum"! That assures true color brightness and fabric softness because Dreft can never leave ugly scum! Not even in water hard as nails!

And Dreft is FIRST with another astounding suds improvement. Now you can say good riddance to wash-fading caused by alkali! Dreft offers the first washing suds that are completely non-alkaline! That cannot fade silk and wool colors any more than water will!

What's more—in hard, soft, cold or hot water, Dreft dissolves instantly, completely . . . bursting into piles of energetic suds! In hardest water, Dreft makes 5 times more suds than any soap!

In short, Dreft offers such remarkable advantages, it shouldn't be classed as "soap." We simply say—a new way to wash fine fabrics. And, the first time you use Dreft, you'll say: "A far, far better way!" Procter & Gamble.

BETTER FOR ALL FINE WOOLENS!
Baby's woolens, and yours, too, stay softer because Dreft forms or leaves no scum to coarsen delicate wool fibers and make them harsh. And you always have plenty of suds at just the right water temperature to guard against shrinkage!

HOW YOUR DISHES WILL SPARKLE!
By themselves—without toweling or polishing—Dreft-washed dishes and glasses dry sparkling clean! With never a trace of stubborn, filmy dishpan scum! And Dreft, being a fine fabric suds is, of course, safe for your hands.

dreft is different!

Reveal Details of Feature for St. Luke's Show

BY JUDITH CASS.

"WHAT is the feature going to be?" is the question every woman on the St. Luke's fashion show committee has been parrying for weeks. Until Mrs. Huntington B. Henry had the feature complete in every detail, the committee did not want outsiders to know what it was. Now, just five days before the show, it is announced that during the intermission there will be a dramatization of seven popular songs, entitled "Here, There, and Everywhere."

A professional will sing the songs and illustrating each one will be a young lady in an appropriate costume. Mrs. Nelson L. Barnes Jr., Mrs. Chauncey Hutchins, Miss Jessica Butler, Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson Jr., Miss Carlotta Lagorio, Mrs. John Harris Ward, and Miss Sally Perry will be the models. Each will wear a Chinese, or a Spanish, or a French, or a German, or a Dutch, or an Hawaiian, or an American Negress outfit, but who will wear which is being kept secret. A prettier group of girls it would be hard to find and since the costumes are authentic, and in some cases antiques, it looks as though this year's feature would be colorful and beautiful.

It will be a gay, fast moving one, too, for each song will take just a minute and a half. If the audience joins the singer in the choruses, as Mrs. Henry hopes will be done, it will take a bit longer to reach the finale, but even so, the whole feature will not consume more than fifteen minutes. It is possible that Mr. Henry, noted for his splendid singing voice, may be persuaded to sing some of the songs, but, although he is helping his wife plan and reherse the event, he has not yet promised to sing.

Five Tea Parties to Follow Concert.

Those who are at Orchestra hall this afternoon for the first Friday concert of the Chicago Symphony orchestra season will have a wide choice of places to go for tea after the program. There are at least five tea parties scheduled.

The Cliff Dwellers and the Cordon are resuming their regular after the concert parties; at the Findlay galleries, 424 South Michigan avenue, there will be a tea to open an exhibition of paintings by Buell Mullen; at the Fortnightly club in Bellevue place Mrs. David W. Graham, Mrs. Ernest E. Irons, Mrs. Perkins B. Bass, Mrs. C. Frederick Childs, Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell, and Mrs. Clyde E. Shorey will be giving a party for Miss Helena McMillan, director of the Presbyterian hospital school of nursing; and at Mrs. Arnold Gingrich's home at 1515 State parkway there will be a tea and fashion show for the benefit of the library building fund of the Francis Parker school.

Mrs. Frederic W. Upham and Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne are co-chairmen of the tea committee for the Cliff Dwellers this season. Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson, wife of the new president of the Orchestral association, is to be hostess this afternoon, assisted by Mrs. Clyde M. Carr, Mrs. Elmer A. Forsberg, Mrs. Frederick A. Stock, and Mrs. Chalkley J. Hambleton.

Rose Bampton Will Be Cordon Guest.

Throng Cheers Orchestra as Season Opens

BY EDWARD BARRY.

More than 2,000 persons converged on Orchestra hall last evening from all sections of the city. Crowding the hall, they chirped delightedly at the idea of renewing old acquaintances and at the privilege of being present at this opening concert of the Chicago Symphony orchestra's 48th season.

Another reason for delight lay in the fact that Orchestra hall's air conditioning system is now virtually completed. In the future any one who develops a headache at any event in that auditorium can ascribe it to the stage proceedings and to nothing else.

Alert eyes discovered Frederick Stock the moment he left the wings and started threading his way through the orchestra. Loud and steadily increasing applause accompanied his progress toward the new white podium in the center of the stage. After bowing repeatedly in acknowledgment of the persistent applause, Mr. Stock turned directly to the business of the evening—which was to inaugurate his 34th season as conductor of the orchestra.

First upon the program stood his own transcription of the Bach chorale prelude, "A Mighty Fortress is Our God." This was an initial performance, for the piece was finished at sea only last summer in the course of a voyage from Europe to the United States.

The transcription opens with a simple statement of the noble Luther hymn on which the chorale prelude is based. Brasses and double bassoon preserve the air of deep gravity which surrounds the melody, yet give to the music a subdued richness of texture admirably suited to its character.

Once the chorale prelude itself is reached, Mr. Stock lavishes on it most of the instruments of the modern orchestra, but the brilliance of the transcription stops short of effects which might compromise too noticably the general feeling tone of the music. At the end is another statement of the hymn tune, this time for full orchestra.

Following the chorale prelude came the Rachmaninoff Second symphony. Its complaining and beautifully contoured melodies, its superb richness of instrumentation, its huge drive from first note to last—justice was done last evening to all of these qualities despite the fact that the orchestra was reassembled only last Monday and has had but four days to whip itself into winter form.

Debussy's "Iberia," a musical evocation of the sights and sounds and perfumes of Spain, led to a first American performance of Schönherr's arrangement of a Kreutzer Perpetual Motion. Hardly as intoxicating a tour de force as the Paganini piece of the same name which has won such an important place in the orchestra's répertoire, this unfamiliar Perpetual Motion offers the first violinist, at least, equal opportunities to demonstrate the precision and unanimity of their playing.

The concert closed with Ravel's choreographic poem, "The Waltz," and sent us off still wondering whether this strange out-of-focus presentation of the Viennes waltz is or is not a sly French dig at the sentimentality of the original.

The Friday afternoon subscription series begins today, when last evening's program will be presented.

PRAISE FOR SENDEROWNA

BY CECIL SMITH.

Last night's San Carlo Opera company performance of Wagner's "Lohengrin" in the Auditorium theater was lifted out of the ordinary run of things by Lyuba Senderowna's rich and vivid singing of the contralto rôle. Projected with heroic force, yet controled by keen musical and dramatic penetration, this Ortrud is the best the San Carlo company has presented since Cyrena Van Gordon's guest appearance a few years ago.

Ivan Petroff, undertaking the part of Telramund for the first time here, delineated the malicious character effectively, and sang in a polished style that lacked nothing except sheer tonal power. Dimitri Onofrei's familiar Lohengrin was admirable, except that he sang with a tone rather too lightly poised to cut through some of the more massive portions of the orchestral score.

Bianca Saroya, as Elsa, achieved lovely moments, but for the most part sang ineffectually and even inaudibly. Harold Kravitt as a dignified but vocally strained king and Stefan Kozakevich as the herald completed the cast. Carlo Peroni conducted a swift moving performance, and managed to make his small band of musicians sound like twice their number.

Since Aroldo Lindi is still indisposed, John Pane-Gasser will sing the tenor rôle in "Pagliacci" tonight.

Cone Doilies Are Easy to Crochet

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Regardless of the season, crochet hooks never are idle. A round doily as attractive as this one is one reason why they always are busy. Fine white mercerized crochet cotton No. 50 is used to crochet this dainty doily in a cone pattern created from single and double crochet stitches, with a few trebles forming the lacy edge. Fine white handkerchief linen is used for the centers.

For instructions for crocheting the round doily in the cone pattern, No. X-100, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

They's a diffuns between a hobo and a tramp—though the thought may not have occurred to you. Mister Robin Burns explains it.

A tramp jest naturally doesn't want any sort of work at any time.

A hobo doesn't mind working when he wants to, but he doesn't want to get into the habit of it. And, if he's a hobo like "Traveler" in this movie, the sound of a freight engine whistle makes him so darn unrestful inside that he feels he's got to go movin' again.

Comes a time though, when whistles and unrestfulness put together aren't able to dislodge the "Arkansas Traveler" from the niche where he's wedged himself in the hearts and lives of the citizens of a certain small town. . . . He TRIES hard enough to get away gosh knows . . .!

"The Arkansas Traveler" is a film gently remindful of the pictures in which the late Will Rogers appeared. And the "Traveler" as sympathetically portrayed by Bob Burns is a Rogers character.

Backgrounded by the life, loves, and politics of a small community, the central figure, a shrewd, quiet, human being understanding cuss, moves. He takes over a newspaper which the widow, daughter, and little son of the defunct editor are about to lose, through their inability to cope with the town's wolves in sheep's clothing. . . .

In his working stretches, you see, "Traveler" is a printer and newspaper man of no mean ability. Moreover, though the Allens don't know it, he had been a friend of and under obligations to the late Editor Allen.

Comfortably lodged in the town's empty jail presided over by a chummy constable, "Traveler" pulls strings which foil villains, blankets with rose leaves young love's hard road, and just makes himself such an all 'round necessity to some and such needed rat poison to others that—the picture ends as it does end. . . .

You're bound to get a kick from the work of everybody in the cast and to find "The Arkansas Traveler" as a whole, a downright heartening production.

See you tomorrow.

The Housewife

Are you one of those clever women who knit their own suits and dresses? Or do you like to wash your knit frocks yourself? If so, you'll be interested in a new type of blocker that can be adjusted to fit almost any figure.

It is made in a simple wire form, and just by pressing a lever it adjusts itself to the individual waist measure or skirt length. It will keep your skirts and sweaters in excellent condition. It comes in three parts: skirt, blouse, and sleeve, and the price for all three is most reasonable.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Hollywood Mirror.

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 13.—At the Vendome every booth and table was occupied. The "biggies" of the industry were mixing business with lunch, and the air was full of box-car figures. "I won't take a cent less than $150,000," said a world famous actor to an agent.

In a booth a matinée idol was turning down an offer of $5,000 a week for a radio program: "An hour program takes too much out of you," he explained, "and besides there's the matter of taxes."

Suddenly there was a heavy thud. A youngster who had entered the door, sketchbook under his arm, suddenly had collapsed. The cheap glasses he wore splintered. When we picked him up there was a nasty bruise on his forehead. A shot of brandy brought him to consciousness.

"I'm so hungry," he muttered. "I've been walking and walking, trying to get a job; sleeping up in the hills at night." They fed him. A lady at a nearby table gave him $5. A. C. Blumenthal gave him $20, promised to help him get a job. The actor who had turned down $5,000 a week shuddered, ordered a drink.

The Minneapolis Meteor is on his way to a substantial anchorage in the fleet of stars. The Minneapolis Meteor is Lew Ayres, and you get some idea of how fast he traveled when you realize that at 29 he is engaged in a comeback. . . . Katharine Hepburn's "Holiday" started Ayres on the upgrade, and "Three Loves Has Nancy" and "Young Dr. Kildare" continued the momentum.

It appears from the record that the youngster who reached out and plucked the butterfly from the barbed wire in "All Quiet on the Western Front" is reaching out again to pluck himself some stardust. . . . Opportunity sometimes knocks twice, if you're Lady Luck's type.

Connie Bennett may take up that divorce matter when she goes to Europe. . . . No youngster screens so well as Ruth Hussey, but she must learn to be sincere in her projections. . . . Without sincerity there is nothing. . . . M.-G.-M. has a lusty Clara Bow in Lana Turner, if they'll expend some thought in her handling. . . . She becomes 18 and Mrs. Greg Bautzer on Feb. 8.

Max Steuer will get $25,000 for handling the Peggy Fears-A. C. Blumenthal litigation. . . . Mickey Rooney's paw, Joe Yule, has been signed to play Gable's vaude partner in "Idiot's Delight." . . . Yule has been working as a burlesque comic at the Follies theater downtown. . . . All of Darryl Zanuck's cars are green, and each has "Z" in the license number.

Madeleine Carroll with Howard Hughes. . . . John Garfield and his wife buying a crib, so that Sir Stork will have a landing field. . . . High Finance Note: By breaching June Lang's contract, 20th Century-Fox saved $900 [but it was a small time trick, at that]. . . . Charles Boyer congratulating Bette Davis on her performance in "The Sisters."

Frank Kane, New York press chronicler, will wed Ann Herlehy. . . . She's a nurse at Gouverneur hospital. . . . Jack Haley and Jack Oakie in Haley's dressing room. . . . Haley goes on the air this week. . . . In one spot the cast will work without scripts. . . . Getting ready for television, when scripts will be taboo.

Director Ricardo Cortez, with a cigar this long in his patrician kisser. . . . Irma Wilson, Elizabeth Cook, and other streamlined chasses on the Menjou set, scantily attired as models. . . . At first I thought I was back at the Paradise.

Opinion: No better young actor in this town than Franchot Tone. . . . Ritz brothers get their first real chance in "Three Musketeers," and the rushes look awfully good. . . . Scene in which Jimmy gets drunk accidentally should be a show stopper.

Eddie Buzzell partying the Groucho Marxes, training out for N. Y. . . . Hal Borne, Chicago pianist, pounding out the rehersal rhythms for Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers on stage 1-A. . . . Borne got the job quite by accident when they made "Flying Down to Rio" and has been with them ever since. . . . They'll reherse six hours a day until they start shooting Nov. 1.

Doug Fairbanks Jr. and Victor McLaglen watching Director George Stevens shooting the army attack scenes in "Gunga Din." It winds up Saturday after three months' shooting and looks very good. . . . Young Stevens is Ashton Stevens' nephew.

Item: Kate Smith, year in and year out, is the most satisfactory of radio performers. . . . Barbara Stanwyck loading up her car at R-K-O, to shift her tack to Paramount. . . . Irene Dunne and Charles Boyer emoting on the Warner boat. . . . It costs $1,000 a day for other companies to rent the Warner boat set, and this will set R-K-O back exactly $3,000. . . . They have three days of shooting.

Gail Patrick off for New York Saturday. . . . Mrs. Harry Brand baby showering Mrs. Marc Lachman. . . . The stork is expected at Christmas. . . . Mrs. Bob Hope, Mrs. Jimmy Fidler, Mrs. Harry Ritz, Mrs. Al Melnick, and fifty others in attendance at the shower.

Donald Budge will turn professional at Madison Square Garden on Jan. 9 and his opponent will be Ellsworth Vines!

Smart Jackets Are Made of Angora Rabbit

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Discovering new clothes with breathtaking snap and equally exciting low price tags makes all the fun of fashion sleuthing. For instance . . . some pure white, long fur, chubby jackets. They're really a fur off the angora rabbit, but they look enough like luxurious white fox to fool an expert.

They are yours for a mere fraction of what a similar beauty in fox would cost. Wheedle one out of your doting parents, you college girls, or manage it yourself without a starvation diet if you're a career girl. You'll feel like a movie star.

From nighttime glamor to daytime practicalness is easy. You can also look twice as expensively outfitted if you shop and wear the newest button down the front sweaters. They're knit with a new fuzzy yarn, come in some irresistible colors, dull gold, cornflower blue, aqua, and wine. These finds don't hug the body so you look like a cartoon of a prizefighter.

Ask for the sponge knit sweaters; they come in two styles, a slipover and a blouse affair with flat off-white buttons marching down the front.

Some hug-me-tight toppers are the next lure. Made of a tricky new knitted or lastexed velvety stuff, they live up to their name. Sleeves are short and the colors are exceptionally slick as contrast for all your skirts.

A dull green tone rates tops with most of the shoppers, as it goes with pratically everything. These snug little jackets are made with the prevailing demure lines, no trimming, a modest but fetching high neckline and a row of unobtrusive buttons at the front.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

Do you ever get tired of hearing a partner say, after your side has stopped short of an easy game, "Why, I didn't know we could make a game, partner. You only overcalled."

This strange philosophy [that overcalls don't mean much] is probably a throwback to auction days, when it was the practice of average players to overcall every time the spirit moved them, and almost regardless of their holding.

The fact, is, of course, that overcalls mean a great deal! Not vulnerable, a player shows about four winners when he overcalls at the one level, and five winners at the two level. Vulnerable, he must have one trick more. Thus, as will be seen, an overcall, particularly when it is made at the two level, vulnerable, guarantees more winners than are promised by a player who opens the bidding with a suit bid of one.

Let us analyze the following hand:
West, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH

♥ K Q 10 8 6 3
♦ K 8 5 4

WEST	EAST

SOUTH

♣ K 3

West dealt and passed. North passed also, and East mentioned one club. South overcalled with a spade, and West gave a questionable single raise in clubs. North entered the arena with a bid of two hearts. This was a decided understatement of North's strength. His hand had almost waranted an opening heart bid. Indeed, despite the lack of the orthodox two and one-half honor tricks, a heart opening could not be severely criticized. Under that circumstance, and the further fact that his partner had shown a hand with five winners, North should have taken more determined action on this very round, not leaving it to chance that his partner might make another bid. Game should have appeared a near certainty to North either in hearts, spades or, possibly, diamonds, and he should have conveyed that fact to South by bidding, not two, but three hearts.

Over North's actual bid of two hearts, and East's pass, South was in a very difficult situation. Surely, he could not rebid his anemic five card spade suit. He could not raise a mere two heart bid when holding a singleton. He could not go to two no trump with a single club stopper and such unbalanced distribution. So, in the final analysis, his choice narrowed down to a pass and a bid of three diamonds. Either course would have its merits and its disadvantages. I do not think that South's conservative decision to pass can be severely criticized. As will be seen, however, a laydown game in hearts was missed. Perhaps some players, holding South's hand, would have bid three diamonds and thus opened the way to a heart rebid by North, which then would reassure South into raising with the singleton ace. But the point is that North's failure to make the proper bid over two clubs created a problem where none really existed.

I again call readers' attention to the fact that the second annual National Self-Rating Bridge Examination starts this coming Monday. Full details, including the form the examination will take, and the method of rating one's self, will be found in Monday's column. I heartily invite all bridge players to take advantage of this interesting examination which, of course, will be given completely without charge to the readers of The Tribune.

James B. Herrick, Mrs. George R. Nichols, Mrs. Ernest A. Hamill, Mrs. Robert Ross, Mrs. Robert Stuart, and Mrs. Arthur G. Cable.

Mrs. Graham is honorary president of the woman's board of the hospital, Mrs. Irons is president, and the other four hostesses are past presidents.

Some of the sub-debs who are being schooled at the Francis Parker will have their first taste of fashion modeling at the benefit tea and style show to be given by the library committee this afternoon. Mrs. Arthur F. Albert is chairman of the library committee. Pouring at the tea will be Mrs. Emmons Blaine, Miss Flora J. Cooke, Mrs. Herbert E. Hyde, and Mrs. Herbert W. Smith.

Charles H. Hamill, who preceded Edward L. Ryerson as president of the Orchestral association, and Mrs. Hamill are enjoying an autumn holiday at French Lick Springs. They will return home in about a week.

Those who have luncheon at the Arts club before today's concert will be the first to see the club's new decorations. They have been planned as a surprise by the president, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed.

Give Dinner Tonight for Duchess of Atholl.

The Adlai E. Stevensons are entertaining at dinner tonight at the Lake Shore drive home of her mother, Mrs. John A. Carpenter, for the duchess of Atholl. The duchess is at the Blackstone hotel while she is in Chicago.

Tomorrow the duchess will speak on "Britain and the Crisis" at a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations. The meeting will be held in the grand ballroom of the Palmer house, starting at 12:30 o'clock.

Tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock the English Speaking union is giving a tea for the visitor at the Casino. Tomorrow night at 7:30 there will be a dinner for the duchess at the Drake hotel.

The John Paul Wellings are giving a small dinner tonight in their Astor street home for Miss Nancy Orr, debutante daughter of Mrs. Robert C. Orr. Following dinner the young guests will be taken to see "Susan and God."

There is a round of farewell parties for Mr. and Mrs. Oliver M. Knode Jr., who are moving to Springfield, Mass. His sister and brother-in-law, the Horton Conrads, are entertaining at cocktails this afternoon, and another sister and brother-in-law, the Arlindo S. Cates, are entertaining similarly next Wednesday.

The senior Mr. and Mrs. Knode are giving a supper at their Hubbard Woods home on Sunday night. Mrs. Picher Purcell and her brother, Stanton Picher, are entertaining at their home after dinner tomorrow night. Mr. Knode Jr. will go east next Friday and his wife will follow within a month. She is the former Patricia Nash. One of her sisters, Miss Nancy Nash, is a student at Smith, not far from Springfield. Another sister and and her husband, the Webb Harrisons, now are living in New York.

Edwin F. Gillette to Wed in West.

Edwin F. Gillette and Miss Harriette O'Neil of Pasadena will be married late this month. Mr. Gillette, a former Chicagoan, has been making his home in Pasadena for the last few years.

Only one of his children, Edwin Gillette, who makes his home with his father, will be present at the quiet ceremony. Hyde Gillette and his wife, the former Marie Smith, will not be able to go west at that time, nor will Miss Helen Gillette, who is engaged to John Merryweather. Although Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Will [Marietta Gillette] are traveling in Banff and Lake Louise now, business will bring them back to Chicago before the wedding.

The Robert Tiekens [Dorothie Brentano Meyer] are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter on Monday at the Passavant hospital. The baby probably will be named for her father. She is a granddaughter of Judge Theodore Brentano and the late Mrs. Brentano, and of the late Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Tieken.

I HADN'T SEEN ANYTHING OF YOU, SKEEZIX, BUT I DIDN'T KNOW YOU WERE SORE.
ME SORE? YOU'RE THE ONE THAT'S BEEN SORE, NINA.
BUT THAT'S NEITHER HERE NOR THERE. I'M OFF WOMEN PERMANENTLY.
OH, IF THAT'S THE CASE I'LL BE GOING!
WAIT. I'M WILLIN' TO BE ON SPEAKIN' TERMS WITH 'EM, BUT MY EXPERIENCES HAVE KILLED ALL THE ROMANCE IN MY NATURE.
FINE! NOW WE CAN BE FRIENDLY AND YOU WON'T HAVE TO DODGE ME FOR FEAR I'LL GO SENTIMENTAL.

Enjoys Honest Vision in Karl Steele Painting

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Two exhibitions have just opened, one in the Hoosier Art gallery, 211 West Wacker drive, and the other in the Paul Theobald gallery, 104 South Michigan avenue.

In the Hoosier Art gallery W. Karl Steele is responsible for a striking group of landscapes. Mr. Steele has had an interesting career as a painter. Although he is not yet 30, he has entered his pictures in nine Hoosier salons and each year successfully. He has yet to receive his first rejection slip.

In three of the salons he has been awarded prizes. One year he won the most important money prize of $500 and twice his prize has been $200, one of these last was the Butler prize for the most outstanding landscape.

In the current exhibit his landscapes present many points of interest. He paints in a vivid and forceful manner with, one feels, an honest vision. "Mica Bay," "The Old Channel," "Drifting Sands," and "Rock Cliff" are four canvases not to be overlooked.

John King shares the gallery and his portraits and flower studies make a colorful contrast to the landscapes. Mr. King is fortunate in his color harmonies and a certain foreign atmosphere in his arrangements of flowers is most welcome. Reddish backgrounds have been used with great success. The "Flower Study with Red Background" is charming and so, too, is "Summer Bouquet." Among the portraits note "Mrs. H. H. Williams," "Girl in Red Blouse," and "Kathryn."

Entirely different in key and tempo is the exhibit at the Paul Theobald gallery. Here Fritzi Brod runs away with the show. The slight and sensitive sculpture of her co-exhibitor, Ivy N. Steele, is completely overshadowed by the vigorous, coarse brilliance in color and drawing that she employs.

Kankakee Area to Join Armour Tech Co-op Plan

Plans to include the Kankakee industrial area in a coöperative course in mechanical engineering were announced yesterday by the Armour Institute of Technology. At present the course is offered for Chicago, Waukegan, and the tri-city area, Rock Island, Moline, and Davenport, Ia. Under the plan, half the coöperative students are assigned to work at the institute while their partners, constituting the remainder of the group, are employed in the plants of the coöperating industries. The groups are interchanged every two months. The course is a five year one and leads to the degree of bachelor of science.

German, Frowned on by Nazis, Winner in Carnegie Exhibition

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Karl Hofer, 60, German artist now frowned upon by the Nazi régime, is first prize winner in the 1938 Carnegie international exhibition. The canvas is called "The Wind."

Prize announcements were made before an audience of more than 2,000 Pittsburghers and art authorities in Carnegie Music hall tonight.

First prize carries, in addition to international prestige, a cash award of $1,000.

Second prize of $600 was awarded Maurice de Vlaminck, French artist of Flemish antecedents, for a painting called "Winter." An American was given the third award, $500, for the only work in the prize list which has its roots in the current social struggle. He calls the canvas "People."

Hofer is far enough on the conservative side of the modern movement to be represented in most important permanent collections on both sides of the Atlantic. "The Wind" is beautifully composed and painted, a canvas showing two figures caught in a swirl of wind-blown drapery, seen against a low toned background. It has a symbolic meaning if one wants to look for it, but can be enjoyed just as painting.

OHIO STATE DRILLS FOR N.U. IN CHICAGO TODAY

ILLINOIS LOSES BREWER FOR NOTRE DAME GAME

IRISH CONFETTI HID IN GREETING AWAITING ILLINI

Aim to Avenge Tie of Last Season.

Pezzoli to Fill Gap

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Coach Bob Zuppke announced today that Mel Brewer, Illinois quarter back, would not be able to play Saturday against Notre Dame. He has a leg injury.

Brewer was valuable for his blocking and line backing. He will be replaced by Phil Pezzoli, senior from Chicago Heights, who never has started a game. Ralph Ehni, sophomore, will be Pezzoli's understudy.

Except for Brewer the Illini were in good condition as they went through a spirited practice. Zuppke will hold a brief workout before the squad entrains for Chicago early tomorrow afternoon.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 13.—In all these years a football team from the University of Illinois never has come up here for combat. A spot for an exceptional welcome, therefore, is offered the Notre Dame boys when, come Saturday, Coach Bob Zuppke leads his stalwarts here for the Illini's first contest on the classic acreage hereabouts.

If restrained confidences heard here today can be taken at face value, the welcome will take the form of pinning back the ears of the lads from Champaign. Nothing inhospitable or discourteous, understand, but just a good trimming as a memorial to the 0 to 0 affair in Champaign last year. It is felt that the Irish were a little soggy and blasé in 1937, and that's the reason plans for especially emphatic amends are in the making.

Practice Hour Earlier.

Coach Elmer Layden does not consider that Illinois will be any softer than the very tough outfit of last year. In fact, there are indications he feels that Zuppke has a stronger outfit than he had a year ago. One of these indications was found in the fact that practice was called today an hour earlier than usual. It was Founder's day at Notre Dame, a holiday for everybody except the students who wear football pants, and, of course, Mr. Layden and the other gentlemen who teach the fellows what to do when they are dressed in football pants.

The footballers didn't even get the morning off. They had to look at movies of the Notre Dame-Illinois game of last year and the Notre Dame-Georgia Tech game of last Saturday. Both reels, it is said, inspired the boys to admit they will have to do much better Saturday if they are to make Illinois' No. 1 visit to Notre Dame an experience the Illini will never forget.

More Trapeze Conscious.

Coach Layden at the start of the season was thinking about all those Zuppke dipsey doodles, the flying trapeze, the flea flicker, the NRA, the stingeree, and so Mr. Elmer became more trapeze conscious after ne watched his players in a none too impressive showing against fancy stuff in Atlanta last week. Coach Bill Alexander uncovered some of the trick stuff and even the most motheaten specials perturbed the Irish immeasurably.

With all respect to the razzle-dazzle ball tossers from Champaign, Notre Dame is paying high regard to the Illinois line. The statistics reveal that in the three games played so far Illinois opponents have gained a grand total of eight yards from rushing.

In Illinois' surprise 12 to 2 victory over Indiana last Saturday, some of the statistics are illuminating in so far as Notre Dame's scheming is concerned. Illinois gained 101 yards from rushing; Indiana's total from rushing was nine minus. On the other hand, Indiana gained 188 yards from passing, while Illinois netted only 19 yards from passes. Of course, the Illini might have made many more yards from passing. Maybe they were saving their especially slick stuff for Notre Dame.

High Scoring Game Possible.

It is said that both teams figure the possibility of a high scoring game. In their second game of the season the Illini beat De Paul, 44 to 7, a team with which they played a scoreless tie last year. This was the biggest score run up by an Illinois team since 1929. On the same Saturday Notre Dame beat Kansas, 52 to 0, the biggest Irish score since 1932. These big counts are barometers at least in showing that neither Layden nor Zuppke is sparing the horses, or the feelings of adversaries, in this fall's driving.

If the kind of weather that prevailed here today lasts through Saturday a 56,000 sellout is expected.

Football Visitors from Michigan and Indiana

Tom Harmon, half back from Gary, has won a starting position in his first year of varsity competition at Michigan.

Indiana Heads for Nebraska with New Hope

After a brief workout in Bloomington yesterday the Indiana university football squad arrived in Chicago last night en route to Lincoln, Neb., where Nebraska will be played tomorrow. The Hoosiers are hoping to score their first victory against the Cornhuskers.

Although the squad has been hard hit by injuries in its losing games against Ohio State and Illinois, Coach Bo McMillin said: "The boys have shown a determined attitude this week, and they are capable of winning this game. They are green, but they've got a victory in their system they'd like to get rid of mighty soon."

In the probable starting lineup for Indiana will be John Janzaruk and Archie Harris at ends, Bob Haak and Bill Stevens at tackles, Jim Logan and Frank Mikan, guards, Russ Sloss at center, Eddie Herbert at quarter back, Tim Bringle and Vincent Oliver at half backs, and Capt. Paul Graham at full back. Graham and Haak are the only Hoosiers who started against Nebraska in the last two games, which the Cornhuskers won. Joe Nicholson and Swede Clasen may start in place of Bringle and Oliver, McMillin said.

Players making the trip in addition to those mentioned:

ENDS—Jim Ellenwood, Ralph Huff, Eddie Rucinski, and John Widaman.
TACKLES—Frank Smith, Emil Uremovich, and Al Sabol.
GUARDS—Russ Higginbotham, Mike Buchianeri, Steve Nagy, and Bill Smith.
CENTERS—Dwight Graham, Don Werdine, Mike Naddeo, and Clee Maddox.

Football for the Fan

A Study of Formations Helps Fan Understand the Game.

FORMATIONS.

In the following article we shall attempt to diagram for our associates the popular type of formations, the terms used, and what style of play should be successful from each one.

In figure 1 we have a balanced line, ends playing away from their tackles, and a box back field. Since the box has shifted right, the right side is the strong side and the left the weak. This is a fine type for open play, good for running outside the ends and off tackle, and has strength for middle plays and also deception for weak side plays.

Figure 2 [double wing back formation] is an unbalanced line, ends playing next to tackles and wing backs playing outside of ends. Figure 3 still is unbalanced line, split ends, and wing backs who are now, as coaches may say, "playing in the hole." The strong side in both cases is the right.

In figure 2 the strong plays should be off tackle, reverses either way. It will be weak on end runs because of the defense shift, but strong on plunges behind the four linemen.

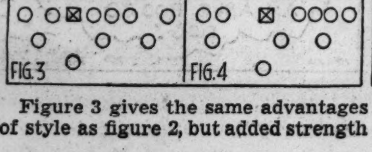

Figure 3 gives the same advantages of style as figure 2, but added strength on plays outside and inside the tackle because of the blocking power of the split end and back in the hole.

Figure 4 is a type of spread play and is shown only as an example of variations possible. Our associates can easily see that its chief strength lies in passing and has untold possibilities if, in addition to above, we drop back some linemen, and vary eligible men along the line.

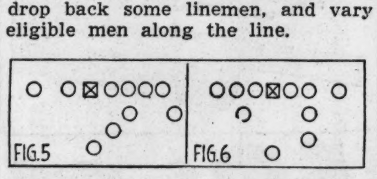

Figure 5 in the so-called "Z" or single wing formation with an unbalanced line, one split end, one tight end [not intoxicated], and a single wing back playing outside tackle. This formation is powerful in plays off and inside tackle and on plunging over the strong side and getting better each year on weak side and reverse plays.

SPEEDY MICHIGAN BACKS THREATEN MINNESOTA HOPE

Battle for Brown Jug Has Coaches Worried.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 13.—"It's all right when they're running at you, but it's not so good when you're chasing them."

This was Bernie Bierman's comment today in reply to the question, "What effect will Michigan's speed have on the outcome of the game Saturday with Minnesota?"

The Gophers admit that Michigan has superior back field speed. At least four of the Wolverine ball carriers, Norm Purucker, Paul Kromer, Wally Hook, and Tom Harmon, are listed in the 10 second class for a sprint the length of the gridiron. Then there's Elmer Gedeon, an end whose speed has made him an outstanding hurdler in the Big Ten.

If These Boys Get Loose.

Minnesota fears this speed will offset its power, which has rolled up victories over Washington, Nebraska, and Purdue. As Bierman said today, however, as long as the Minnesota men keep Michigan's sprinters coming to them, speed will not be a decisive factor. But if Harmon, Kromer, or Purucker break out into the open past the line and its backers up, then the Gophers are vulnerable.

"Our scouts report," Bierman continued, "that Michigan has only average power at the full back position, where one usually seeks plunging strength. In my opinion, this isn't necessary. Michigan doesn't need a great full back for its type of attack, as long as it has a good blocker in the position. The Wolverines will get the same effect by shooting such half backs as Purucker, Kromer, and Harmon into the line and, if they break through, they are more dangerous in the open than a full back would be.

"Michigan's attack is more evenly balanced than Minnesota's. Particularly since we lost Harold Van Every we have had to rely on power. That's no secret, of course, and Michigan's defense probably will be set accordingly."

Coach Bierman didn't say so in as many words, but he unquestionably is worried over the homecoming game.

Van Every Is Doubtful.

It is considered unlikely that Van Every will play Saturday although he threw a few passes with the varsity last night and worked briefly in uniform this afternoon. He suffered an injury to his side in the Washington game, is considerably under playing weight, and cannot play without permission of his physician.

Without Van Every, the Gophers lack a competent passer, which undoubtedly is the reason only five passes were attempted against Nebraska and Purdue. There is an acute shortage of backs, although the starting back field possesses crushing power. Larry Buhler, a full back, is at right half, which sends Marty Christianson to the starting full back job. Wilbur Moore, a right half, is at left half. George Faust, the blocking quarter back, has been used occasionally as a ball carrier.

That Line Will Do.

There's nothing wanting, however, in the Gopher line. Many believe it is the best Minnesota has developed since 1934. John Mariucci and Butch Nash are fine ends. Nash also is an excellent pass receiver if some one could throw to him. The line has weight, experience, and sufficient replacements.

It remains to be seen whether Minnesota's line will outplay the Wolverine forwards. It did last year and won, 39 to 6, and Michigan is sending the same group into this homecoming scrap. Yet, Minnesota's power, unsupported by other scoring threats, frequently has bogged down near the goal line against a tightened defense. This generally is a result

Breaks of the Game.

The poorer team won in the game of baseball,
It was nothing but luck brought it fame;
A flukey hit over the fence, that was all,
It just got the breaks of the game.

A half back alert intercepted a pass,
And swift to the goal line he came;
They had no right to win, they were lacking in class,
They just got the breaks of the game.

He had only a lucky punch struck with a will,
But now he's the champ, just the same;
He shouldn't have won for he hadn't the skill,
He just got a break of the game.

And so in the big game of life it is true,
That the glory, the honor, the fame,
Comes to the alert who, watching, crash through,
To score on the breaks of the game.

—Elk.

My Half Back.

My half back called on me this afternoon
And left our icebox cleaner than a plate;
He said he never used a fork or spoon
Because tools checked his progress when he ate;
The cold meat and the cheese and applesauce
All disappeared like rabbits in a hat;
He downed a jar of jelly at one toss
And even ate a bowl of frying fat.

I don't know where he packs the food away,
He eats as though he had a hollow leg;
If he should visit our house every day
We'd have to go out on the street and beg.
When dad looks through the frigidaire tonight
He's going to use language that ain't right.

Hallelujah, Hallelujah!

"Very touching, Mr. Ward, very, very touching. 'Save for those bubbling over with civic pride nobody conceded them a chance.' I suppose cold, hard figures are the basis for your statement that the American league is superior in every department to the National. A lot of people who know their figures are going to disagree with you. [No, no, that's preposterous.]

"Because Jake Ruppert owns every league in the country save the National and can buy and sell most any one and anything is no reason to say that the other teams in the A. L. are superior to the National teams.

"Without trying to alibi for the Cubs, you must admit Lee pitched one swell game. So did Dean and with any kind of breaks, the Yanks would have been two down going into New York. Then what would the figures say? I'll tell you. 'The Cubs rose to insurmountable heights. . . . They played over their heads. . . . Brains and a tired arm won a game, etc., etc.' —G. A. R."

PURPLE TO PIT SPEED AGAINST BUCKEYE WEIGHT

Big 10 Title Hopes at Stake.

Ohio State's football team, powered by one of the heaviest lines in college football, will arrive at noon today for its encounter with Northwestern in Dyche stadium tomorrow before a Dad's day crowd of 35,000.

The Buckeyes will hold their final workout in Soldiers' field this afternoon. Coach Francis Schmidt will not take his squad to Evanston until tomorrow. A rooting section of nearly 5,000 headed by the 100 piece Scarlet and Gray band will accompany the team.

With one Big Ten victory over Indiana to their credit, the Buckeyes are in the championship running and hope to remain in the race by turning back the Wildcats whose season record to date includes victories over Kansas State and Drake.

N. U. Counts on Team Speed.

Northwestern's hopes rest largely on ability to offset Ohio's superior weight with team speed. The visitors possess a powerful line, the keystone of which is two giant tackles, Carl Kaplanoff and Alex Schoenbaum, who weigh 240 and 220 pounds, respectively. Charles Gales and Bill Nosker, guards, weigh 200 pounds each, while Charles Maag, sophomore center, weighs 210. Lightest members of the forward wall are the ends, Esko Sarkkinen and Keith Bliss, who weigh 196 pounds each.

Against this concentrated power the Wildcats will pit a veteran line which, although untested this year, wound up the 1937 season with fine defensive performances against Minnesota and Notre Dame.

Both teams are offensive minded and are not inclined to resort to defense to decide the issue. Under Coach Schmidt, the Scarlet and Gray elevens have been noted for their razzle-dazzle attack. In their two games to date the Buckeyes have completed fifteen out of thirty-five passes for a total gain of 210 yards.

Ohio Has Ball Carriers.

Ohio also is well fortified with ball carriers led by the veteran Mike Kabealo, quarter back, and Jim Langhurst, 186 pound sophomore full back.

Northwestern's attack functioned smoothly against Kansas State and Drake, largely because its line has improved offensively over last year. If the Purple forwards can open holes through the heavier Buckeye line, they will give such hard running backs as Jack Ryan, Bernie Jefferson, and George McGurn a chance to break loose.

A block of 10,000 unreserved seats will be placed on sale tomorrow. Prices are $1.75 for adults and 40 cents for children.

OHIO FINDS SPEEDY BACK.

Columbus, O., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Plans to utilize the speed of Jimmy Strausbaugh in the Ohio State back field against Northwestern in Evanston Saturday were evident today as Ohio State took its last workout before leaving for Chicago.

Strausbaugh has replaced Don Scott, another sophomore who has started at left half in both the Indiana and Southern California games. Other back field men on the first team were Frank Zadworney at right half, Mike Kabealo at quarter back, and Jim Langhurst at full back. Forrest Fordham and Al Zuchegno, both included in the list of "fastest Buckeyes," also are expected to see action against the Wildcats.

At the start of the practice today the Buckeye regulars were almost helpless against Northwestern passes as demonstrated by a reserve team in which Eddie Blickle, former Ohio Wesleyan star and now a member of the Buckeye coaching staf, was on the throwing end.

Another change was indicated in the starting Buckeye lineup when Esco Sarkkinen went to left end in place of Sam Bartschy. Sarkkinen, despite a knee injury, has shown himself to be the best end on the Buckeye team, both on offense and defense.

The team will leave Columbus tomorrow morning, working out in Chicago in the afternoon. The squad will stay in the Morrison hotel.

TOM VARDON, 64, A BROTHER OF HARRY, IS DEAD

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Tom Vardon, brother of the famous Harry Vardon, six times British open golf champion, died in a hospital today. He was 64 years old and for several years had made his home at White Bear Lake, Minn., near St. Paul.

Vardon's brother, Harry Vardon, died recently in England. The brothers were listed among the greatest of golfers and originated the Vardon grip. Tom, of whom his father said many years ago, "Harry wins the tournaments but Tom plays the golf," was pro at the White Bear Yacht club from 1913 until last summer, when he became ill and retired. For three summers Tom served as visiting professional at Onwentsia club in Chicago.

MAROON GAME IS HOMECOMING FOR TEN HAWKEYES

Iowa to Work Out Today on Stagg Field.

Iowa's football team, scheduled to meet Chicago's Maroons tomorrow for the first time in ten years, will work out on Stagg field late this afternoon. For four members of the first string Hawkeye team and for six reserves, the trip to Chicago will be homecoming, since they are Chicagoans.

The four Chicagoans in Iowa's starting lineup are Bob Allen, right guard, from Austin High; Bruno Andruskus, center, from Leo High; Dick Evans, left end, from De Paul academy, and Ed McLain, right half, from Lake Forest academy. Maroon followers remember another Iowa back named McLain, Mayes McLain, Indian full back for the Hawkeyes ten years ago, who trampled on the Maroons the last time the two teams met.

Try Sophomore at Tackle.

Coach Clark Shaughnessy of the Maroons yesterday sent his squad through scrimmage on both defense and attack, in the final contact preparation. Still worried about the Maroon line, Shaughnessy inserted Don Wilson, 190 pound sophomore from Hinsdale, at right tackle. Thus far he has tried four other sophomores in this spot, Hugh Rendleman, John Vex, John Stearns, and Herb Flack. It appears as though Wilson will stick, at least for this game.

Remy Meyer was at quarter back throughout most of the session, the rest of the back field consisting of Sherman, Hamity, and Valorz. Howard Hawkins may start at right end instead of Joe Howard.

IOWA LEAVES TODAY.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Seeking its first Western conference victory since 1935, a squad of thirty-three University of Iowa football players will leave tomorrow morning for Chicago to meet the Maroons on Saturday.

For the first time in two years, the Hawkeyes will go into a conference game as the favorite, but Coach Irl Tubbs admits he is none too optimistic.

It is believed Iowa will start a new back field combination of Russell Busk at quarter back, Nile Kinnick and Ed McLain at the halves, and Jerry Niles at full back. In the line Mike Enich, former quarter back, will be at center, with Wilbur Nead getting the call over Henry Luebcke at left tackle. Ken Pettit and Jens Norgaard, sophomores, are expected to start at end.

Fast Michigan Backs Menace Gopher Hopes

when there is no climax runner or efficient passer to keep the defense loosened up.

Gophers Are Worried.

Fifty-two thousand tickets have been sold for the Michigan game. Officials today predicted that 59,000, just short of capacity, would attend. Michigan's team will arrive in St. Paul tomorrow afternoon but no word has been received whether or not the Wolverines will work out on the stadium gridiron.

MICHIGAN STOPS OFF

The Michigan football squad, en route to Minneapolis for its game with Minnesota tomorrow, spent last night at the Morrison hotel. The thirty-six players will continue the trip this morning.

One thousand students and the varsity band are accompanying the squad. In Ann Arbor yesterday afternoon, Coach Fritz Crisler conducted only a light practice, with most of the attention placed on kicking. This final at home drill indicated that Michigan's starting back field will be Forest Evashevski at quarter back, Ed Phillips at full back, and Norm Purucker and Tom Harmon at the halves. The squad follows:

Capt. Fred Janke, Dan Smick, John Nicholson, Elmer Gedeon, Vincent Valek, Ed Czak, Ernest Zielinski, Joe Savilla, Bill Smith, Don Siegel, Forrest Jordan, Dennis Kuhn, Ralph Fritz, John Brennan, Fred Olds, Archie Kodros, Horace Tinker, Reuben Kelto, Ralph Heikkinen, Milo Sukup, Paul Kromer, Norman Purucker, Dave Strong, Jack Meyer, Forest Evashevski, Lou Levine, Ed Phillips, Wallie Hook, Howard Mehaffey, Ed Christy, Tom Harmon, Fred Trosko, Walter Kitti, Hercules Renda, and Derwood Laskey.

Sam Snead Shoots 62; It's Course Record—of Course

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Sam Snead putted his 62d stroke of a golf ball into the 18th hole on the Old White course today for a new record, eight strokes under par for the 6,368 yard layout and one under his previous record. Snead played with Col. and Mrs. A. A. Sprague of Chicago.

Marquette, Its Spirit Up, Plays Kansas State

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The Marquette and Kansas State football teams will meet in the Marquette stadium here tomorrow night. The American Legion is sponsoring the game.

A flurry of injuries has handicapped Coach Paddy Driscoll during the practices this week. Most of the regulars are available, but some of them are not in the best of condition. Marquette is encouraged as a result of last week's victory over Southern Methodist and it hopes to turn back the Big Six invaders.

Kansas State's veteran team is led by Elmer Hackney, 210 pound full back. The sophomore star of the Wildcats is Elmer Nieman, left-handed passer and half back. More than 10,000 will see the game.

Villains, Heroes of Roller Derby Near End of Race

Now, where is that gentleman who was bemoaning the fact that good, old fashioned melodrama has vanished from the American stage?

If he still longs for the chance to suffer with the heroine, hiss the villain, and applaud the manly young hero, as he did when East Lynne played the old opera house, let him drop into the Coliseum where Leo Seltzer's roller Derby rapidly is whirling to its final curtain and forever hold his peace.

Here he will find, as some 3,500 found last night and other thousands have found in the weeks the Derby has been in progress, as handsome a hero as any one could want in Wes Aronson, the former Roosevelt High school football star; as dastardly a villain as ever trod the boards in Jack Cummings of Indiana, and as winsome a heroine as ever escaped death in a sawmill in little Peggy O'Neal of Elmhurst.

The cast, there are twenty, also includes a buxom second feminine lead in Hazel Love, villainness in Gertie Scholl, and comic relief supplied by one Fuzzy Pierz, who looks as if he had stepped from the pages of Peck's Bad Boy.

Ask any one of the howling patrons which team is ahead, the Reds or the Whites, and he will respond: "Who cares? Look at that terrible Jack Cummings. See him foul Wes [that's the hero, you know], and those judges don't do a thing about it."

Cummings, who has a wife in the race, but who prefers to team with the hard blocking Gertie Scholl, is never too busy to answer jeer with sneer and speed on about his business of dumping opposing racers at every opportunity.

The race is operated under a complicated system of red lights, white lights, buzzers, bells, and gongs, and its length represents the distance from Los Angeles to Chicago. At latest reports the teams were passing Joliet and expect to have no trouble reaching the loop by midnight Sunday, when the grind will end.

At a late hour last night the Whites, which feature petite Miss O'Neal, were leading the Reds by two points, 327 to 325. Points are scored when a member of one team laps any member of the opposition, and scoring jams are started whenever any one feels like it.

BLUENOSE WINS IN SECOND RACE WITH THEBAUD

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Canada's Bluenose, defender of the International Fishermen's trophy and skippered by Capt. Angus Walters, today won the second race from the American challenger, Capt. Ben Pine's Gertrude L. Thebaud. Bluenose finished the thirty mile triangular course in 4:29:10. The American boat won the first race last Monday.

Harvard Has Another Light Drill for Army

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Coach Dick Harlow again stressed defense against the Army's running attack and passes in Harvard's drill today. He also sought to get more speed and precision in the Crimson's execution of its own attack.

"I know it is a gamble," Harlow said, "not to have any scrimmage between games. But we feel that it is far better to have players back on their toes than to take any chances of injury."

ARMY TEAM LEAVES.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Army's football squad, at its full strength of thirty-seven cadets, left for Cambridge this afternoon. Coaches Bill Wood, Blondy Saunders, and Art Meehan accompanied the team. Before leaving West Point the squad was given short signal drills. The cadets appeared to be in good physical condition.

SIX CHANGES IN YALE LINEUP.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Easing down the Yale varsity with a short scrimmage against the reserves, Coach Ducky Pond today closed drill for the Navy game Saturday. Six shifts from the playing order which started against Pennsylvania will be tried. Johnny Miller has been given the right half back post, instead of Eddie Collins Jr., and Bill Snavely has supplanted Harold Whiteman at full back.

NAVY GIVEN PEP TALK.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—As the Navy squad started its trip to New Haven tonight it was given a pep talk by Al Bergner, big tackle, who was brought over from the hospital for the occasion. Bergner strained his leg in practice yesterday and was ordered to the hospital.

DARTMOUTH HAS LIGHT DRILL.

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Coach Earl Blaik gave his Dartmouth football squad one of the lightest workouts of the season today. There was no contact work, and the varsity watched some of the Brown university plays run off in slow motion by the Jayvees. Coach Eddie Chamberlain stressed the Brown aerial atack almost exclusively and did the passing himself. Both Capt. Bob MacLeod and Bob Gibson were outstanding on defense.

Musto Defeats Brescia for 20th Straight Victory

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Tony Musto, Chicago, mauled his way to his twentieth straight heavyweight ring victory here tonight as he earned a unanimous ten round decision over Jorge Brescia, the giant Argentinian. Musto weighed 200 pounds, ten less than Brescia. The South American, towering 6½ inches above Musto, was almost helpless. Other results:

Freddie Hudson, Ardmore, Okla., beat Bobby Lamonte, Chicago [5]; Evening Thunder, Santan, Ariz., and Carl Faust, Chicago, drew [4]; Henry Majcher, Pittsburgh, and Kid Leva, Dallas, drew [4].

BADGERS MAY LOSE GRADISNIK FOR PITT GAME

Madison, Wis., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The probability that Tony Gradisnik, who has been dividing the Wisconsin varsity left half back job with Billy Schmitz, will not be able to play here Saturday against Pittsburgh forced Coach Harry Stuhldreher to experiment with several new back field combinations in this afternoon's light workout.

With only two left half backs available on the varsity squad, Schmitz and Sophomore John Tennant, Stuhldreher shifted the veteran Roy Bellin from right to left half back in one of the new combinations, with Claude York and Vince Cibik dividing the duties at Bellin's regular position. Gradisnik was injured in the Iowa game.

Wisconsin's starting back field against Pittsburgh is certain to include Vince Gavre at quarter, Bellin and Schmitz at the halves, and Howie Weiss at full back. If Schmitz is taken out of the lineup Bellin probably will go to left half and Cibik will be sent in at right half back.

Jimmy Dean, second ranking right tackle, is definitly out of the Pitt game with a back injury he incurred two weeks ago.

PITT IS WORRIED.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 13.—(AP)—Pittsburgh's Panthers left tonight for Wisconsin a little jittery about getting past the Badgers Saturday.

The squad left in good condition, Al Lezouski, senior left guard whose back was hurt last week, showing in the last drill that he will be able to play.

PURDUE LEAVES.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Purdue's football team this afternoon left for New York, where on Saturday it will play Fordham. Traveling on a special train, the Purdue squad will arrive in New York tomorrow morning.

Fordham rules as a slight favorite, but the Boilermakers are hopeful that the speed of their attack, coupled with the same type of defensive play that was exhibited against Minnesota last Saturday, will enable them to overcame the Rams' superiority in straight power.

Ted Tykocki, one of the best sophomore prospects, who was handicapped by injuries earlier in the season, has been groomed as a replacement for Jack Brown.

WARNING, DUCKS! HUNTERS GO OVER TOP TOMORROW

Hundreds Will Head for River Blinds Today.

BY BOB BECKER.

Tomorrow is the big day for thousands of Illinois duck hunters. At 7 o'clock in the morning the boys can go over the top and fire their first shots at ducks, geese, mudhens, and jacksnipe.

Highways leading into the Illinois valley will handle extra trafic this afternoon, for hundreds of hunters are planning to open the season in the river marshes between Ottawa and Beardstown. The Illinois river shooters will move into the river country today in order to be on the ground for an early start tomorrow.

Summer Delays Flights.

Reports from the lower and upper Illinois river valley indicate a complete sellout for the boys who operate fee hunting places. Every blind has been engaged for tomorrow and Sunday. Fees for blinds around Ottawa, Henry, Lacon, Hennepin, Bath, Shicarte, Havana, Beardstown, and other towns along the Illinois range from $7.50 to $15 per day per person, the fee including decoys and a boat.

The recent unseasonable weather has put a little crimp in the opening day festivities because it has kept a large flight of birds from moving into Illinois lakes and marshes. The ducks still are enjoying summer weather up north and have refused to come south in large numbers. But the hunters in the Illinois river valley will find enough birds to give them some fun.

Inspector Warns Hunters.

In northern Illinois thousands of mudhens, some teal, pintail, and other species of ducks are scattered over the lake country and also on hundreds of small ponds. Wardens expect the usual outpouring of mudhen hunters on Grass lake for the opening bombardment.

Tony Maggio, department of conservation inspector for northern Illinois counties, has asked all hunters who will be on Grass lake to keep an eye on their watches and not beat the gun by shooting before 7 o'clock, the legal opening hour.

De Paul Seeks 3d in Row Over North Dakota

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—North Dakota university will attempt to keep its undefeated record clean and settle old scores when it faces De Paul university of Chicago here tomorrow night.

The Blue Demons beat the Nodaks here the last two seasons, but Coach Jack West of North Dakota has hope of winning this year. De Paul was beaten in its first two games this year.

The De Paul team will arrive tomorrow morning and will work out at the stadium briefly. Coach Ben Connor of the Demons announced in Chicago before departing that John O'Donnell would be at center in place of Bob Immel. Tom O'Brien will fill in at quarter back in place of the injured Bill Corrigan.

BEARS TO BEGIN OPERATING IN UNITS SUNDAY

Three Back Fields, Two Lines to Face Cardinals.

Chicago's second professional football opening Sunday, when the Bears meet the Cardinals in Wrigley field, will mark the introduction of another innovation in National league play. The Bears have gone in for the unit system.

After eight weeks of experimentation, during which they have been able to gain first place in the western division, Coach George Halas has found the most effective combinations among his squad of thirty and henceforth will operate the various combinations as units. They are composed of two lines and three back fields.

No First String Back Field.

The three back field units have been chosen on the basis of all-around ability. Consequently backs heretofore regarded as regulars have been shifted. No quartet will be designated as the first string unit. The starting back field will depend on circumstances surrounding each game, the condition of individuals and the opposition.

Bernie Masterson, Ray Nolting, Joe Maniaci, former Fordham star who was purchased from Brooklyn, and Sam Francis compose one back field. George Corbett, Ray Buivid, Jack Manders, and Bert Johnson are grouped in another. The third unit includes Gene Ronzani, Rookie Ray Johnson, a 200 pound triple threat back from Denver university; Dick Schweidler, the La Grange High school product, and Gary Famiglietti, rookie full back from Boston college.

Have Three Outstanding Full Backs.

Each of these units contains two kickers, two passers, two plunging backs, and two running backs. Their formation was made possible by the presence of three outstanding full backs, Francis, B. Johnson, and Famiglietti.

The two lines, unlike the back fields, are rated as first and second string units. The big line will have Les McDonald at left end, Joe Stydahar left tackle, Danny Fortmann left guard, Frank Bausch center, George Musso right guard, Del Bjork right tackle, and Bill Karr right end.

Eggs Manske, who was repurchased from the Pittsburgh Pirates Monday, and George Wilson are the ends on the other line; Milt Trost and Russ Thompson the tackles, Gus Zarnas, rookie from Ohio State and star of THE TRIBUNE's All-Star game last month, and the veteran Joe Zeller, guards, and Frank Sullivan center.

Odd men in this system, who will be used for relief duty in all combinations, are Red Conkright, center; Dick Bassi, rookie guard from Santa Clara, and Dick Plasman, veteran end, in the line, and Bob Swisher, former Northwestern star, in the back field.

Drill on Defense.

Work for these five groups the last two days has stressed defense against the Cardinal attack which has a percentage of 48 per cent completions of forward passes and piled up 1,080 yards in five games. The Bears remember how fortunate they were to defeat the Cardinals, 16 to 13, in the first game between the two.

The Cardinals returned from Charleston, W. Va., Wednesday night and will begin final drill for the Bears on Wrigley field this afternoon.

BABE RUTH OUT IN COLD, BUT HIS HEART IS WARM

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—Babe Ruth, who lost his coaching job yesterday, today extended his best wishes for a successful 1939 season to Leo Durocher, new manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and his coaches, Chuck Dressen and Bill Killefer.

"Good luck to the Dodgers and my best wishes for a successful season to every member of the team," Ruth said. "No matter what the future holds in store, my heart will always be with the great game of baseball."

Midget Drivers Compete at Raceway Park Sunday

There will be midget auto racing at Raceway park, 129th and Ashland avenue, for the first time Sunday afternoon. The first of the nine principal races will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Franklin and Belanger Meet in Ten Rounds

Lem Franklin, 1937 international Golden Gloves heavyweight winner, will seek his seventh knockout in ten starts in a ten round contest against Charley Belanger in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue, tonight.

The veteran Belanger can be stopped as was demonstrated when he was knocked out by Eric Seelig in New York Nov. 11, 1935. However, the former Canadian light heavyweight champion retains much of his cleverness.

In the three matches he failed to win Franklin lost two and the other was declared no contest. His victims are Lou Campbell, Max Zona, Harold Ullmer, Paul Ambers, Sandy McDonald, and Bill Allen. Against Allen, Franklin weighed 203 pounds.

At that rate he will have an advantage of approximately twenty-one pounds. Belanger was at 182½ pounds when he whipped Al Globe May 16.

In the six round semi-final Tom Kenneally, Catholic Youth organization heavyweight, meets Buck Everett of Gary.

Supporting bouts:

Chester Rutecki vs. Jimmy Sheppard, [4], middleweights.

Billy Gillespie vs. Clarence Brown, [4], heavyweights.

Gene Spencer vs. Johnny Balmer, [4], junior lightweights.

Sam McCurry, Cleveland amateur heavyweight, is paired with Bill Cowan of Elgin and Jim Alden, northwest side middleweight, with Joe Marshall of the south side in two contests of five rounds in Madison Athletic club, 4711 Madison street, this evening. Frankie O'Brien, west side lightweight, clashes with Carl Cacioppo of Trafton's gymnasium in one of five other engagements. . . . Board of Trade post, No. 304, American Legion, will sponsor an amateur fight card tonight in C. Y. O. center, 31 East Congress street. . . . Jimmy Buckler, Indianapolis lightweight, who defeated Joe Law in a hard battle last Monday, meets Bob Tinsley of the west side in a five round semi-final to the ten round event involving Billy Celebron and Irish Bob Turner in Marigold Gardens next Monday. LANE WINS AND TAKES LEAD IN PREP SOCCER

Lane Tech again wrested the lead in the Chicago Public High School Soccer league from Tilden, defending champion, yesterday, defeating a stubborn Kelly eleven, 2 to 0, at Gage park.

Crane and Schurz fought to a 2 to 2 draw at Altgeld park, the final goal being scored in the last half minute of play. Crane, as a result, remained in third place and Schurz in fourth.

Hyde Park won its first victory, outscoring Manley, 2 to 1, at Jackson park.

It's Worth Fighting For

Crane Plays Marshall for Division Lead

Crane Tech and Marshall, two teams with ideas of ending Austin's reign as west division football champion of the Chicago Public High School league, will meet tonight in Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue. The winner will gain undisputed possession of first place in the section. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

Wilberforce and Tuskegee Play Tonight

Colored collegiate football goes on display again in Soldiers' field tonight. Two of the nation's leading teams, Tuskegee, Ala., institute and Wilberforce university of Xenia, O., will resume their intersectional series after a lapse of a year in the lake front arena before a crowd of 10,000. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

Both squads ended preparations for the game yesterday afternoon with short drills in Washington park. In the evening they were honored by thousands of south siders in a street parade which started at Du Sable High school and ended in the Savoy open air garden near 49th street and South Parkway.

Chicagoans to Play.

Former Chicago high school stars from Wendell Phillips, Morgan Park, Tilden, and Du Sable are expected to play important rôles in the game. Five Chicagoans are members of the Wilberforce squad and two are on the Alabama team. John Washington, 200 pound tackle formerly of Wendell Phillips, and Preston Carter, 170 pound guard formerly of Morgan Park, will be in Wilberforce's starting lineup.

The two Chicagoans on the Tuskegee eleven, who coaches say will see plenty of action after the game has started, are Bernard Baston, formerly of Tilden Tech, 185 pound tackle, and Elliott Van Zent, 170 pound center, who lived in Chicago but is a graduate of Tuskegee Institute High school.

Phillips Is Represented.

Clarence Yelverton, 180 pound guard from Wendell Phillips; Charles Brown, 190 end, also of Phillips, and James Hart, 184 pound full back from Du Sable, are other Chicago members of the Wilberforce team. Hart is a brother of Jack Hart, former Du Sable and Wilberforce star athlete. Lineups:

Douglas Shoes

LISTEN, CHICAGO—

WE'RE TALKING ABOUT SHOE VALUE!

$4.40

FOR centuries, military men have worn CORDOVAN boots because this super-tough leather takes a high gloss but won't scuff or peel. Douglas presents (above, left) a shoe that combines genuine SHELL CORDOVAN with superb style—at the amazing low price of $4.40!

The smart "wing tip" (above, right) is made of genuine GALLUN'S NORWEGIAN GRAIN LEATHER—vegetable-tanned for softer finish and plus-comfort pliability. You'd expect to pay a whole lot more—but the price is only $4.40!

The Wheel that Walks

We dubbed this weird device (duplicate of a shoe-testing machine used by the U. S. Bureau of Standards) "The Torture Wheel"—because it shows no mercy to shoes. Constant testing on this "wheel" proves the all-leather quality and stamina of Douglas Shoes.

PUBLIC CHOICES FAIL TO PLEASE AT SPORTMAN'S

For the Few There's Daily Double of $174.40.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The sun shone bright over tiny Sportsman's Park yesterday afternoon, but not for those of the citizenry who followed the favorites on the day's program at the little half mile track. One after another of the public choices fell. The first three favorites were granted nary a whiff of the money, and the best the fourth could do was to run second.

Came the fifth and feature number, the Jackson Park purse. Best in the field of five for the five furlong sprint appeared to be Floragina, the little filly which ran a corking second in the inaugural feature at Sportsman's on Monday. Surely Floragina was a good little girl who would not disappoint the form players.

So it was that the Roth horse went to the post with enough of the faithfuls' cash to make her an 8 to 5 favorite. She didn't fail them until the stretch, when Xenomay, under a hard ride by Jocky W. Page, came up on the outside and took the decision by a neck. The winner paid $11.

Daily Double of $174.40.

The daily double rewarded supporters of Scotch Thistle and High Polish with $174.40. Scotch Thistle, 4 year old filly owned by R. W. East, teamed with two other long shots to shut out the two public choices, Fluke and Forced Landing, in the first race. Ogee jumped into a lead which it held to the stretch, when Jocky J. E. Oros on Scotch Thistle brought his mount on to win by a half length. Humble Issue ran in third place from start to finish. The winner paid $27.60. Fluke, the even money favorite, finished seventh, in front of Forced Landing, which had been played down to 2 to 1.

High Polish, owned by Mrs. C. C. Winters and ridden by Jocky T. P. Martin, was in front all the way in taking the five furlong second race, coasting home four lengths in front of Social Error. Sweepogan was third. Dead Ready, favorite at 2 to 1, finished out of the money after twice throwing Jocky C. Calvin at the post, the second time to an extent where it appeared the boy was injured. High Polish, second choice, paid $9.20.

Deep Rock Falters Too.

Another favorite fell when Deep Rock, 7 to 5 leaving the post, couldn't get a piece of the money in the third. Spanit, a 7 to 1 try, came on in the stretch to take it from Formax by a length and a half. The Severson gelding returned $15.20 to his backers. Linkville, a long shot, was third.

Red Hay made the best bid for the favorite public when he ran second to Lyngate, a 39 to 1 chance, in the seven furlong fourth. Goldkin was third. Bobby Conley rode the winner, which paid $81.20.

UNION CARBIDE SELLS AN ISSUE OF 40 MILLIONS

Expansion Plan Rumored; Crane Stock Offered.

Private placement of $40,000,000 of industrial securities and public offering of a block of Crane company common shares featured the security market yesterday.

The industrial placement consisted of $40,000,000 of fifteen year 3 per cent debentures of the Union Carbide and Carbon company. They were sold privately to the Prudential Insurance company, Metropolitan Life Insurance company, and Sun Life Assurance company of Canada. The debentures will mature Sept. 1, 1953.

Of the proceeds $16,000,000 will be used for redemption of 3½ per cent debentures. The remaining $24,000,000 is said to be for general corporate purposes. Of the latter amount it was said a substantial part will be used for plant construction in a general program of expansion.

Subsidiaries May Expand.

Although details of the expansion program were not discussed, a number of possible places where expenditures might be made was suggested. The Electro-Metallurgical company, a subsidiary, has acquired a 300 acre tract at Sheffield, Ala., in the Muscle Shoals district.

The Carbide and Carbon corporation, another subsidiary, has acquired 200 acres near Texas City, Tex., for construction of a chemical plant.

The Crane stock consists of a block of 130,000 common shares held by the late Richard H. Crane, who accidentally killed himself while hunting on his estate near Richmond, Va., on Oct. 3.

Stock Offered Under Will.

The stock is offered by Clark, Dodge & Co. through a group of dealers on behalf of the trustees and executors under Crane's will at $39.50 a share.

The offering was made after the close of the market. Crane stock closed yesterday at $40 a share, a decline of 50 cents from Tuesday's close. The Crane company is a large Chicago plumbing equipment producer. The offering aggregates $5,135,000.

Lambert Company.

Investors' Guide: Please send me a report on the Lambert company. Does the common stock pay regular dividends? How do you rate the stock? —J. L.

Answer: Profits of the Lambert company, 44 year old manufacturer of "Listerine antiseptic," began a steady decline after 1930. Reaching a peak in that year of $7,132,413, or 9.52 a common share, net income had slipped to $3,788,106 in 1932. By 1934 it was down to $2,206,102, and went to $1,272,387 in 1936. Last year the company reported net income of $1,152,187, or $1.54 a share.

Although the depression was a factor in reducing earnings, the chief reason for a continuance of the downward trend in the last few years has been aggressive competition in the field of antiseptics.

To meet this situation the company began to diversify its line. In 1930 it purchased the Pro-phy-lac-tic Brush company, maker of tooth, shaving, hair, and other brushes. Lambert has also added tooth paste, tooth powder, cough drops, shaving cream, and other specialty items to its "Listerine" line.

The mouth wash is still the largest selling product, but its sales have slipped steadily in the face of competition. Although added products have also met stiff competitive resistance, the diversification has helped somewhat to cushion the earnings slump. Sales of all products slipped to $10,811,003 in 1937, from $10,830,866 in 1936, and $11,217,859 in 1935.

Net income in the second quarter of this year amounted to $223,325, an increase of $18,642 over earnings in the June quarter of 1937. This advance in a recession year indicated that Lambert's attempts to start its earnings on the upgrade may be taking hold.

For the first six months of 1938 net income was $613,326, against $652,061 in the 1937 first half.

No preferred stock or bonds have been issued. The company has outstanding 746,371 shares of no par common stock.

A "liberal" dividend policy has been followed. From 1932 through 1937 the company paid out in dividends more than its net income for each year, although the rate was reduced several times. The annual rate was cut from $8 to $6 in 1932, then to $4 in 1933, to $3 in 1934, and to $2 in 1935. This year the rate was reduced once more to $1.50. Earnings in the first half of the year equaled 82 cents a share, enough to cover dividend requirements.

In view of the earnings trend, the stock is speculative.

FOOD DEALERS SEEK ILLINOIS SALE PRICE LAW

Would End Selling Below Costs.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Executives of leading food and grocery trade associations last night made plans to sponsor legislation in Illinois that would make illegal the retailing of foods at less than cost price. The measure is expected to be presented at the next session of the legislature in January.

The proposed law, which would be known as the "unfair sales act," would prohibit the use of loss leader merchandise items by retailers. The practice, it is asserted, is widely used by retailers to attract customers who may buy other goods.

Plan Has Wide Support.

Representatives of about 100 retail, wholesale, and chain store organizations attended the meeting at the Merchants and Manufacturers club, where the movement was launched.

The proposed law, which is patterned after similar measures in effect in several states, is said to have the backing of all groups in the food and grocery distribution in the state. Independent retailers, organized groups of independently owned stores, and chain organizations are solidly behind the measure, sponsors said.

F. H. Massman, president of the National Tea company, large chain organization, and J. Frank Grimes, president of the Independent Grocers' alliance, led the discussion on the legislation at last night's meeting called by the Associated Grocery Industries Council, Inc. Other groups represented were the National Association of Retail Grocers, Illinois Retail Grocers, Chicago-Cook County Retail Grocers, and the Coöperative Food Distributors of America.

Assert Law Is Necessary.

Both Massman and Grimes warned the distributors that unless injurious competitive price practices in the food industry were eliminated the industry as well as consumers would suffer.

Failure to correct existing practices, Grimes asserted, will force distributors to economize further on wages of employés to stay in business. Moreover, he said, it is essential to permit the distributors to pay the higher prices to farmers for foods.

The draft of the law which the legislature will be urged to adopt defines cost to the retailer as the invoice price plus a minimum 6 per cent write-up. The draft was prepared by National Food and Grocery Conference committee which is seeking enactment of the same law in all states.

Wholesalers Seek Margin.

Wholesale grocery representatives at the meeting urged inclusion in the proposed act of a provision providing for a 2 per cent minimum write-up on wholesale prices. This would mean a minimum retail price of 8 per cent over the cost to the wholesaler. Final decision in the question was delayed.

Doubt of the wisdom of the measure was expressed by only one person at the meeting, Martin Sands, president of the National Retailer Owned Grocers. He asserted that it was not a time to be considering legislation that would raise prices when the government is considering distribution of food surpluses through agencies other than the regular trade channels.

Hides to Lether—VIII.

Tanneries have changed only slightly with the passing of time. Tanning is today largely a manual process. The machinery is not complicated and the plant not costly.

The earliest tanneries consisted of vats dug in the ground and filled with juice from the bark of hemlock or chestnut trees. This process of preserving hides and skins from rotting has not changed essentially.

Today most tanneries are low, rambling structures containing storing shelves and sunken vats. The atmosphere is moist and gloomy and the odors are decidedly unpleasant.

Because tanning depends on bark extracts for the tanning chemical, most of the plants in the early days of this country were situated near streams and forests, from which water and the bark were obtained for the process.

The largest tanning states are Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, New York, and Illinois. Chicago and New York are centers for the lether and hide markets.

FRISCO'S TRUSTEES LOSE $10,600,000 STOCK DEAL FIGHT

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—State Supreme Court Justice Louis A. Valente today refused to rescind a $10,600,000 stock transaction which St. Louis, San Francisco railroad bankruptcy trustees attacked as not in the best interests of the line.

Edward N. Brown.

Justice Valente ruled there was no basis in the evidence for the trustees' charge that Edward N. Brown, former chairman of the road, had "dominated and controled" the railroad's board in collaboration with Speyer & Co. and J. and W. Seligman & Co. He ruled that the two banking houses held no fiduciary duty to the railroad and that, even if they did, they had not been guilty of any wrongdoing.

The trustees, John G. Lonsdale and James M. Kurn, had asserted through a long-fought trial, that Brown, with the two banking firms, were fiduciaries for the Frisco; that while holding it under their domination, they conspired and brought about a transaction involving the sale of 183,333 shares of common stock of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific road to the Frisco board solely for their own personal profit.

NEW YORK 'EL' LINE AUCTIONED FOR $12,500,000

New York, Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The Sixth avenue elevated line was sold at foreclosure today for $12,500,000, under the terms of a decree signed by Federal Judge Robert P. Patterson. The purchaser and only bidder was a protective committee representing holders of the 4 per cent first mortgage bonds of the Manhattan Railway company, owner of the property. Manhattan will sell the property to the ctiy for $12,500,000. This will wipe out the city's lien of nearly $9,000,000 against the Manhattan system for unpaid taxes, and leave the way clear for the city to demolish the Sixth avenue structure. The city will pay Manhattan the difference of $3,500,000.

ILLINOIS CRUDE OIL PRICES ARE REDUCED; REFINERY IS CLOSED

Crude oil prices in Illinois fields were reduced yesterday following cuts earlier this week throughout the midcontinent and other producing areas.

Owensboro corporation, one of the chief crude buyers in the Illinois basin, cut its buying price 10 cents to $1.15 a barrel in all areas except Centralia. The price was already $1.15 in the Centralia district and was left unchanged. Illinois Pipeline company, subsidiary of the Ohio Oil company, also announced a reduction to $1.15 from $1.25 in the eastern Illinois fields. Prices in most fields three months ago were $1.35.

Another indication of the unsettled oil market was yesterday's announcement by the Power Oil and Refining company, Centralia, of a temporary suspension of operations. The company, largest refinery in the area, said the shutdown was due to an "inadequate market for fuel oil." It had been taking about 2,000 barrels of crude daily. Fuel oil made up about 40 per cent of its output.

BRITISH, FRENCH CURRENCIES SINK IN DOLLAR VALUE

British currency fell in value in terms of the American dollar yesterday on foreign exchange dealings. The pound closed 2⅜ cents lower at $4.73⅛. French francs fell 0.0125 cent to 2.645 cents.

Spending by European countries in the United States for armament materials is credited with causing the depreciation in foreign currencies in relation to the dollar.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York announced engagement of $3,900,000 in gold in Canada for shipment to the United States. The bank also reported the engagement at an earlier date of $4,800,000 of gold in England for shipment here.

Detroit Reports Further Cut in Auto Steel Prices

Reports from Detroit yesterday stated that there has been another reduction of $2 a ton in the price of cold rolled sheet steel of the type used by automobile companies. Prices were reduced about $4 a ton earlier this week. Officials of Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation and the Inland Steel company in Chicago said they had not heard about any further cuts.

Chicago Wheel Tax Upheld by Illinois Supreme Court

The Illinois Supreme court yesterday upheld the validity of Chicago's wheel tax as it applies to trucks operating as public utilities under regulations of the Illinois commerce commission. The court sustained a $25 fine imposed by the Chicago Municipal court against the Hastings Express company for operating a truck without a city wheel tax payment.

ELECTRIC BOND TO FILE PLAN OF INTEGRATION

Utility Will Comply with SEC Order.

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Electric Bond and Share company will not be a holdout in submitting its plans for integration by Dec. 1, the deadline established by the Securities and Exchange commission. C. E. Groesbeck, chairman of the company, told stock holders of this decision at their annual meeting today. The company, one of the largest utility holding organizations in the country with assets of 556 millions, held out against registration with the SEC until forced to do so by a Supreme court decision.

Groesbeck termed the action of Chairman William O. Douglas of the SEC, in asking companies to submit their integration plans, even though they may be tentative, "a realistic approach to a difficult and highly controversial problem affecting the interests of millions of consumers and investors."

Hopes for Orderly Procedure.

"It would appear to us here," Groesbeck said, "that this matter should now pass from the emotional stage, and it is to be hoped from the political arena as well. It shoud pass into a practical stage where the Securities and Exchange commission, and the affected companies can proceed with an orderly and dispassionate examination of the technical, legal and business phases of the subject."

Groesbeck said that with such an approach he hoped that the problems of integration "will not prove insoluble, and therefore we propose by Dec. 1 to comply with the request of the commission. The subject is an intricate one and the plans as first filed will of necessity be tentative as suggested."

Center of Interest.

In the discussions in utility and financial circles over what course would be followed by some of the widely scattered holding company systems in their plans for integration, the Bond and Share system has probably attracted more attention and held more interest than any of the others. Through substantial interests in six large holding companies, the Bond and Share system extends into 33 states and into 13 foreign countries.

Groesbeck, in response to a question by a stockholder, gave an inkling of the integration line the company may be following. With an expenditure of less than 1 per cent of the combined assets of the affiliated systems—or approximately $20,000,000—Groesbeck said Electric Bond and Share could have three integrated systems, one in the northwest, a second in the south and southwest, a third in the east.

Grosebeck told stockholders that net income in the twelve months ended Sept. 30 was $11,857,001, equal to 27 cents a share of common stock. In the preceding year net income was $12,033,950, or 33 cents a share.

CARGILL-GRAIN BOARD HEARING SET FOR OCT. 26

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—The commodity exchange commission today set a hearing here for Oct. 26 on charges filed against the Chicago Board of Trade by Cargill, Inc., Minneapolis grain firm.

Cargill brought charges that the exchange had violated the commodity exchange act after the expulsion from membership on the exchange of its subsidiary, the Cargill Grain Company of Illinois.

Jack W. Bain, agriculture department attorney, was delegated by the commission as referee in the case. He has authority to transfer the hearing to Chicago.

SEC May Be Lenient with Big Utilities

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—(AP)—The Securities and Exchange commission today dealt gently with a utility holding company that had spread out farther than the SEC deems wise. Thus it gave an indication it will administer the holding company act in a flexible way.

It issued an order approving a simplification of the Republic Electric Power comporation under which the company will operate in both California and Oregon. Further, the company may retain nonutility subsidiaries.

Section 11B of the act—known to some industrials as the "death sentence" clause—calls on holding companies to reorganize themselves into closely knit units and to simplify complex financial relationships.

May Retain Outside Units.

Under today's order Republic Electric Power must dispose of its gas properties in Oklahoma. However, it may run its California and Oregon properties as an operative company, despite the fact the new concern will not constitute a single integrated system as defined in the act.

In the second place the new firm may keep its nonutility subsidiaries—a steam laundry and an ice plant. On this point the commission ruled that these properties were small and "reasonably incidental."

In noting that the new setup will not be a single integrated system the opinion said: "Though the separate operating units are in the same or adjoining states, some of them are separated by long distances."

Regard Attitude Changed.

Earlier comment in high SEC circles had indicated the commission would prefer to see integration of various systems within a radius of only a few hundred miles.

"On the other hand," the opinion said, "there are largely isolated properties and their retention under unified ownership does not appear to stand in the way of plans for integration of any other holding company system. They are quite small; they could not be separately operated without loss of substantial economies."

BROADER VISION IS FEATURE OF PONTIAC MODELS

Increased visibility, more comfortable riding qualities, and an improved remote control gear shift are among the improvements made in the 1939 line of the Pontiac division of the General Motors corporation, the company stated yesterday. A newcomer to the Pontiac line is a low priced six cylinder car. In addition there are the de luxe six cylinder and the de luxe eight cylinder lines.

Increased visibility is obtained by increasing the safety window glass area 25 per cent. The windshield corner posts have been made narrower.

The deluxe six and eight cylinder lines are being equipped with or without running boards.

The remote control gear shift brought out by Pontiac last year is being included as standard equipment on all 1939 Pontiac models. A booster spring supplies up to 50 per cent of the effort required to shift the gears.

The improved ride is attained through new rear springs designed to give one passenger as good a ride as when six are in the car. The new type rear spring consists of a conventional spring to which has been added a second shorter auxiliary spring.

The appearance of the car has been changed through modernization of the hood, radiator, fenders, and body. The radiator is flanked on each side by chromed side grilles set into the front surfaces of the fender "catwalks." The headlamps are mounted on the front fenders.

LABOR SUBMITS PLAN TO "CURE" RAILROAD ILLS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—[Special.]—A "broad scale rehabilitation program" to help solve the financial problems of the railroads was laid before the railway wage fact finding board today by George M. Harrison, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives association. The board is hearing testimony against the 15 per cent wage cut voted by the railroads.

The plan included:

Placing all forms of transportation under the same federal regulations; coördination of all forms; use of lighter, faster equipment; setting of rates permitting roads to accumulate reserves; placing a limit on dividends and bonded debt; reorganizations reducing fixed debt, and consolidations by interchange of capital.

Good Trade Outlook Inspires Buying.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 13.—Vigorous buying lifted the stock market today to the highest level of the year. Gains ranging from 1 to 5 points were registered on a broad front. Several sensitive issues spurted as much as 8 points. A total of 142 stocks made new 1938 highs. Optimism over the business outlook was considered the chief factor in the heavy buying.

A total of 2,360,520 shares changed hands. This compares with 1,534,000 shares on Tuesday. Of 882 issues appearing on the tape, 651 closed higher, 104 lower, and 127 unchanged.

Prices pushed forward on two buying waves. Starting higher because of accumulation of over the holiday orders, prices were rocketed on a buying spurt just before the noon hour.

Report Buying from West.

Judged by the time element, the west was held to be a good buyer in this bulge. The ticker was forced several minutes behind trading as the wave ran its course.

In the early afternoon the market turned quieter. Near the last hour, however, activity again increased and prices reached their best levels. They closed near their tops. The ticker lagged again.

Both the industrial and public utility averages reached new peaks for the year. According to the Dow-Jones index, industrials spurted 3.05 points to 152.93, and the utility group gained 0.77 to 22.57. The rail average, up 1.06 to 31.50, was within striking distance of its best previous mark.

Among the leaders, United States Steel advanced 2⅜ points to 65⅝, a new 1938 high. Other strong steel stocks were Bethlehem, up 2⅜, and Youngstown, up 3 points to a new high. Crucible and Republic Steel worked fractionally higher.

Motors were paced by Chrysler, up 3¾ points to 82⅝, and General Motors, up 2⅜ to 51⅛. Both were at new highs. Greyhound also reached a new high with a jump of 1⅜.

Copper shares were helped by a further boost in the price of the metal to 11 cents a pound. Anaconda, American Smelting, Kennecott, International Nickel, and Phelps Dodge were popular. They gained between 1 and 3 points.

Power and light shares pushed ahead prominently. Consolidated Edison, Columbia Gas and Electric, Electric Power and Light, North American, and American Water Works were among the leaders.

Railway shares followed the other sections higher, also to the accompaniment of improved trading. Gains of more than 1 point were made by Santa Fe, New York Central, Chesapeake and Ohio, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, and Union Pacific.

Douglas was the leader in the aviation division, rising 1⅜ points. Boeing, United Aircraft and Curtiss-Wright also were active and higher.

Standard Oil of New Jersey was a standout in the oils, gaining 1¾ points. Texas corporation, Phillips Petroleum, Pure Oil and Socony-Vacuum trailed.

New York Bonds.

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—The bond market was lifted another notch today. The rise was caused by further broad buying in a long list of issues classed as "speculative."

United States government loans also recorded a number of modes gains. Foreign loans seemed to be affected by recurrence of anxiety over the situations in central Europe and the far east, and several large losses resulted.

Traders continued to show a marked preference for rail loans of the type which had suffered most from liquidation earlier in the year.

Chicago Stocks.

Gains in Chicago stock prices yesterday ranged from fractions to more than a point. Trading increased to 49,000 shares from 31,000 Tuesday. Thirteen stocks touched new tops for the year.

Great Lakes Dredge, with 3,550 shares traded, climbed to a new 1938 peak of 25½. It closed at 25⅜, up 1⅜. Middle West advanced ¼ to 7¾. Zenith Radio was ⅜ higher at 22⅝. Bendix Aviation rose ¾ at 22⅜. Mickelberry's Food Products closed at a new top for the year at 4⅝, up ¼. Houdaille Hershey B also set a new high mark at 17⅜. It closed at 17¼.

Bank Stocks.

Investment houses reported yesterday that trade in leading Chicago bank stocks was heavy. Shares of the First National bank and the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company moved in large volume. First National stock gained $6 to close at $230 bid, $234 asked. Continental Illinois shares closed $4.50 higher at $77 bid, $79 asked. Other gainers included stocks of the City National Bank and Trust company, and Northern Trust company. The only loser of the day among the leading issues was stock of the Chicago Title and Trust company, which closed $1 lower at $150 bid, $154 asked.

Commodities

Producers yesterday boosted the price of domestic copper another ¼ cent a pound to 11 cents. This followed three advances of ⅛ cent since Oct. 1, and carried the metal to its highest price since last November. Domestic consumption was reported increasing and foreign demand heavy.

Zinc also was advanced, with markup of 0.10 cent a pound to 5.05 cents for prime western at East St. Louis. This was the highest quotation since last November and was ½ cent higher than the price in July. These advances led to an upturn in futures contracts for nonferrous metals, but most other commodities tilted slightly lower or closed irregular.

Export copper sold yesterday at 11.20 cents a pound, up 0.10 cent from the preceding day. Scrap copper was advanced ⅛ cent to 9½ cents a pound, and prices of basic fabricated products were hiked accordingly.

Copper futures finished at gains of 0.23 to 0.24 cent a pound. Lead contracts gained 0.04 to 0.07 cent. Zinc closed 0.01 to 0.10 cent higher. Tin futures advanced 0.45 to 0.50 cent a pound in nominal quotations.

Sugar futures edged higher, with domestic contracts closing unchanged to 0.03 cent a pound higher, and world contracts unchanged to 0.00½ cent higher. Hides contracts advanced 0.08 to 0.10 cent a pound at New York and were unchanged to 0.20 cent higher on the Chicago Mercantile exchange.

Rubber futures finished off 0.12 to 0.19 cent a pound lower. Silk contracts lost ½ cent a pound.

MORTGAGE BANK BUSINESS RISES, SAYS FHA CHIEF

Predicts 350,000 Homes Will Be Built in 1938.

Stewart McDonald.

Mortgage bankers will do more business this year under the national housing act than in the three preceding years combined, Stewart McDonald, national administrator of the Federal Housing administration, said yesterday. He predicted that more than 350,000 new homes would be built this year, compared with only 50,000 four years ago.

McDonald spoke on "The FHA Today" at the twenty-fifth annual convention of the Mortgage Bankers' Association of America. The meetings are being held at the Drake hotel.

115 Per Cent Above 1937.

The FHA volume of business is currently running about 115 per cent ahead of last year, McDonald said. He explained that the national housing act intended the FHA to be self-supporting, and revealed that his budget forecast for the next fiscal year indicates an income between 3 and 4 million dollars above outgo. Only 331 properties had been turned over to the FHA up to Oct. 1 out of 275,000 premium paying mortgages, according to McDonald.

The present movement among nations to become self-sustaining will bring a lower standard of living in the long run, Dr. Walter Lichtenstein told the association. He is vice president of the First National Bank of Chicago and secretary of the federal advisory council of the federal reserve system.

Pointed Toward Bankruptcy.

If the decline in international trade continues and armaments expenditures are maintained, all nations finally will approach bankruptcy, Dr. Lichtenstein said.

"To all intents and purposes Germany is bankrupt now," he said. "France is in bad shape, and one may wonder how long Great Britain can go on and not make its taxes so burdensome that the property classes will be wiped out."

Dr. Lichtenstein said that as long as the government needs new financing and refinancing low interest rates will prevail. This condition will continue as long as government spends billions on relief, he said.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

The market for hogs yesterday declined again for the fifth consecutive session as the fall marketing of stock continued unabated. Prices for the day fell to 10 to 25 cents, with the bulk of sales 65 to 75 cents under a week ago. All classes established new four year lows for October, with volume of supplies heaviest for this month since 1933.

Wholesale markets for fresh pork were weak to $1 lower again yesterday, with top light loins at $17.50 and heavy loins at $14 per hundred pounds.

Slaughter lamb prices were cut mostly 15 to 25 cents. Top natives brought $8.35 and westerns $8.25.

Medium to heavy steers as well as cheaper classes were strong, but good light and handyweights weakened slightly. Beef cows of good quality and heifers were weak. Plainer kinds ruled steady to strong.

BUILDING MAKES 13TH STRAIGHT GAIN OVER 1937

Heavy Construction Is Up 7.7 Pct. This Year.

New York, Oct. 13.—(AP)—Engineering construction awards last week totaled $49,086,000, against $34,159,000 a year ago, Engineering News-Record reported today. It was the thirteenth consecutive week of gains over 1937.

The total for the preceding week was $67,954,000, but the latest week was shortened by the Columbus day holiday.

The total for the year to date rose to $2,121,300,000, an increase of 7.7 per cent over $1,968,997,000 in the corresponding 1937 period.

Figures by Groups.

By groups, the figures compared as follows:

	Latest wk.	1937.
Private	$14,345,000	$17,099,000
State and municipal	25,582,000	15,077,000
Federal	9,159,000	1,983,000

Building permits issued during September in 215 cities totaled $101,803,716, compared with August's total of $161,024,415. Normally a seasonal decline of about 10 per cent would be expected, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today. The September total was 17.3 per cent over September, 1937.

Middle Atlantic Gain Leads.

The largest regional gain over the corresponding 1937 total was in the middle Atlantic states—63.1 per cent higher. Other regions with gains were South Atlantic, up 28.3 per cent; mountain, up 18.6 per cent, and south central, up 18.4 per cent.

For the nine months of 1938 the national total was 2.3 per cent higher than that of the corresponding 1937 period. Middle Atlantic led with a 39.3 per cent increase.

WHEAT RALLIES WITH ADVANCE IN SECURITIES

Strength in securities dominated the action of the wheat market yesterday. Speculative interest was light. Closing trades were at the best prices of the day with net gains of ⅞ to 1 cent. Winnipeg prices were ⅛ to ⅝ cent a bushel higher as compared with Tuesday's finish.

Brokers said part of the buying of wheat futures was in anticipation that Secretary of Agriculture Wallace's proposed new farm program might result in higher prices. However, the upturn was held in check by a slow export demand.

Corn futures declined small fractions of a cent a bushel early. December corn sold at 44¼ cents, a new low since May, 1937. The market rallied later with wheat and closed unchanged to ⅛ cent lower.

Chicago elevators loaded 1,125,000 bushels of cash corn into steamers Tuesday and Wednesday for shipment to eastern lake ports. Price changes in oats, rye, and soy beans were confined to small fractions of a cent a bushel.

INSURANCE MEN WARN OF HARM IN FEDERAL POLICY

Companies Large Assets Tempt Politicians.

Government and its effects on business again were the main topics of discussion yesterday at the annual meeting of the American Life convention at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Claris Adams, president of the Ohio State Life Insurance company, Columbus, O., warned that politicians were tempted to get control of the 28 billion dollars of assets held by American insurance companies. A. N. Mitchell, president of the Canada Life Assurance company, Toronto, Canada, discussed the difficulties caused by the efforts of various governments to maintain low interest rates. James S. Kemper, president of Lumbermens Mutual Casualty company, said public spending by governmental agencies is sucking the blood from the veins of private enterprise.

Would Prevent Temptation.

Discussing the threat to insurance in the drift to place it under federal control, Adams said:

"Within legal limits the life insurance institution has remained a free enterprise. There has been no compulsion on the management to consider any other factors but safety of funds and securing the best possible return on them.

"I submit, however, that 28 billion dollars of other peoples' money under the control of a single administrative agency constitutes a temptation to which politics should not be subjected."

Maintenance of interest rates at exceedingly low levels through governmental action may result in the incentive to thrift being destroyed, Mitchell declared. If government forces interest rates down to a point where there is no inducement to invest, money that would otherwise be used to build productive enterprises will go for consumption goods, he said. Consumption goods include luxuries and goods that wear out.

Taxation Causes Spending.

Taxation also impels people to spend on consumption goods instead of saving money, he indicated. This is because taxation takes a heavy slice of money saved and people would rather spend it than have it taken away from them by taxation.

Kemper said that ultimately the public spending program must be paid for by the grinding burden of taxes, and the withdrawal of these additional tax billions from legitimate industry diminishes the ability of business to provide more goods and more jobs. The man who wants to hold his job and the man who wants to get a job are affected more disastrously than any one else by this misguided chase after purchasing power.

IDLE FUNDS RISE 20 MILLION MORE IN LAST WEEK

The federal reserve board yesterday reported a further rise in unused credit resources.

Member banks of the federal reserve system, the board reported, are carrying aggregate reserves that are 3 billion 50 million dollars in excess of the legally required quota. In the week ended Wednesday the surplus reserve funds rose 20 million dollars.

The growth of the idle reserves is being fed by the steady inflow of foreign gold. Gold imports last week totaled 57 million dollars. These raised the total American supply to 13 billion 869 million.

Chicago and New York commercial banks showed some expansion in credit. All forms of bank credit in Chicago increased 19 million dollars. This was caused primarily by bank investment of 11 millions more in government securities. New York banks increased loans to commercial borrowers 8 millions and loans to brokers and dealers 16 millions.

COTTON

American cotton markets yesterday made a moderate response to firmness at Liverpool and the upturn in securities. Buying, however, was not aggressive. Prices held within relatively narrow limits, closing trades being .03 cent higher to .03 cent a pound lower. Foreigners were on the buying side early.

The AAA announced that it will hold a referendum of farmers Dec. 10 on the 1939 cotton marketing quota. The federal body recently stated the acreage for next year's crop will be about 27,500,000 acres.

Spot cotton closed unchanged, with New York 8.55 cents; New Orleans, 8.52 cents, and Galveston and Houston, 8.30 cents a pound. Prices follow:

A Remarkable Business

$10,000 INVESTMENT.

Last week, in one of the great cities of this country, a new monopoly product that has the unusual power of restoring valuable surfaces and property, was demonstrated for the first time to a group of big city business men. Each of these well known buyers placed their orders immediately.

Greater enthusiasm among big or small buyers has to the best of our knowledge never been accorded to any similar product in all the history of selling. The market is unlimited and non-competitive.
